CLOTHING TO ORDER.

In our Order Department we have just to hand a choice Assortment of SUMMER SUITINGS, comprising the newest shades in Myrtle, Olive, Brown, Blue, Black, and Sage Mixtures, &c. These are the latest novelties in French Goods, and deserve special note.

To our stock of Tweeds, of which we are now making SUMMER SUITS TO MEASURE AT 75s, we have added a large parcel of New Patterns, and invite inspection.

FARMER and COMPANY.

READY-MADE CLOTHING.

In this branch we are showing garments which for QUALITY, CUT, FINISH, and STYLE are specially approved by our buyers, and where a fit can be secured, are equal in all respects to any clothing made to order.

TWEED SUITS.—Our name for these goods is fully established. We desire, however, to announce that we have just opened out some 1500 SUITS, commencing at 21s THE SUIT, then on to 25s, 27s 6d, 30s, 35s, and 42s, all sizes. We also desire to note our all-wool blue serge suits, a nice light texture, admirably adapted for summer wear; price only 32s 6d the suit.

FARMER and COMPANY.

COATS.

We are exhibiting a nice 4-button Sac Coat, very suitable for office wear, well and fashionably cut, in nice light textures, good colourings and patterns, at ONLY 10s 6d.

Our Military Duck Coat at 7s 6d; China Silk Coats, hand-sewn, only 15s.

FARMER'S light Summer Overcoats, for evening wear, will be found a useful garment and extremely cheap, at 19s 6d.

N.B.—We have always on hand Gentlemen's Black Cloth Dress Coats at 52s 6d. These coats, if made to order, would be not less than four guineas. We have all sizes in stock.

TROUSERS.

A leading line at this counter—all-wool Tweed Trousers, a hundred patterns to select from, at 7s 6d per pair. Another large parcel at 10s 6d the pair, made from a good West of England tweed; these are without exception the best value we have ever shown at the price.

TROUSERS and VESTS.

Of the same tweed, firstclass patterns at ONLY 16s 6d, all sizes in stock. Every buyer of clothing should see these. There is already UNPRECEDENTED DEMAND.

BOYS' AND YOUTHS' CLOTHING.

Here we are offering to our patrons several special parcels, which eclipse for shape, style, and finish—NOT FORGETTING PRICE—anything hitherto submitted.

KNICKERBOCKER SUITS for boys, trousers lined throughout, 7s 6d the suit, all sizes, positively wonderful value. We then follow on at 10s 6d, 12s 6d, 13s, 16s 6d, 17s 6d, 18s 6d, and 21s. All the foregoing are nicely trimmed, and thoroughly well cut and made.

TWEED SAC SUITS, deserving of our best recommendation, made from superior all-wool tweed, in excellent patterns and most durable colours, 15s 6d, 16s 6d, 18s 6d, 20s, and 25s the suit.

ETON SUITS.—We have devoted particular attention to the making up of these suits, and are producing garments equal to many hand-made suits to order, both gentlemanly in appearance and economical in price. We have obtained a reputation for these, and are of course anxious to retain it. An inspection will, we feel sure, but add to such reputation.

FARMER and COMPANY.

SHIRTS.

A large shipment of WHITE SHIRTS to hand, which, on inspection, will be found of exceptional value. They are cut with all the modern improvements, and proportioned to fit gentlemen of stout or slight build, military fronts, to button behind or in front, with the fashionable Cambridge cuff, and made for studs; the neckband, wristbands, and front of all pure linen, with superior finished calico body. We commence these at 21s THE HALF-DOZEN—SPECIALLY MADE FOR VICTORIA HOUSE. Our next qualities are 27s, 33s, 39s, and 45s the half-dozen. The largest parcel we have ever yet submitted, and well worthy of inspection.

REGATTA SHIRTS.

100 PATTERNS to select from, pure French cambric. We have these to button behind or in front, with or without collars, or with two collars for each shirt, cut to fit gentlemen stout or slender. In price we begin at 3s 6d each. Also numberless patterns in all silk and crape Crimeans, beautifully adapted for summer wear. A really first-class quality in crape, 6s 6d only, and a superior quality in silk at 11s 6d only.

PAJAMAS.

A special line in China Silk of a very superior quality at 17s 6d the SUIT. The usual price would be about 25s.

FARMER and COMPANY.

SCARVES.

Just opened a choice parcel of these. We have made arrangements with our London house to ship a parcel for this department by every mail. We have consequently fresh goods every fortnight. We have a scarf which is just now all the rage in the West End of London. Patterns registered, and secured for our house only.

SILK HANDKERCHIEFS.

Including the favourite Hem-stitched, with self and fancy coloured borders, which have for some time past been scarce in the London trade.

HALF-HOSE.—A choice lot, including Cardinal, Plum, Navy, &c., coloured clox, in both pure and spun silk, superfine qualities, also in Cotton, Thread, and Summer Merino, in self colours and fancy patterns. Well worthy of attention.

FARMER and COMPANY.

CHINA SILK HELMET HATS.

We are now displaying in our windows a Hat which is well nigh indispensable in summer, and as last season's trade was extraordinary we determined to make some effort to produce something astonishing for this. We consider we have been successful, for we are now offering for 3s 6d a hat worth double the money. See the display in our windows.

CARPETS.

The ATTENTION of CARPET-BUYERS is respectfully directed to a shipment we have just landed. Never before have customers had an opportunity of inspecting in Australia such a stock in point of MAGNITUDE, VARIETY, and VALUE. Our recent purchases in England could have only been warranted by an enormous sale. This we fully and confidently anticipate, and have consequently by our consignments been placed PRE-EMINENT FOR THESE GOODS IN THIS CITY. Our invitation to inspect is issued on the assumption that our stock occupies no secondary position.

REFRIGERATORS.

OUR PATENT SELF-VENTILATING REFRIGERATORS. Over 200 to select from, sizes suitable for cottage or mansion. These refrigerators have been long and favourably known in America. Being constructed self-ventilating on scientific principles, a gradual and constant change of air is secured, while the rotation of air equalises the temperature, thus saving from 25 to 50 per cent. of ice.

The refrigerators are mounted on Superior Castors, and consequently are moved with great ease. Our prices are—No. 1 35s; No. 3, 47s 6d; No. 1, Diamond Cupboard, 57s 6d; No. 2, 65s; No. 5, 77s 6d; No. 4, 90s; No. 5, 105s; No. 1, Excelsior Chest, 30s; No. 2, 42s; No. 3, 57s 6d; No. 1, Excelsior Cupboard, 86s; No. 2, 95s; No. 3, 110s; No. 4, 126s.

TO CAPITALISTS OR PUBLIC COMPANIES.
VALUABLE TIMBER STATION, AT THE CANNING, IN THE COLONY OF WESTERN AUSTRALIA, FOR SALE.
TENDERS will be received by the undersigned up to the 12th day of DECEMBER next for the Purchase of one of the best Jarrah Timber Stations in Western Australia, with all the Machinery, Tools, suitable Workmen's Cottages, Buildings, Horse and Bullock Teams, Timber Waggons, Tramway Trucks, Boats, and Working Plant of every description.
The country is ironstone country, in the Darling Range, and the station consists of 100,000 (one hundred thousand) acres of the best timber country in the colony, on which it is estimated that several million loads, of 50 cubic feet, of jarrah may be cut, thus affording work for the present mill, and others which may be erected if desired, for many years beyond the duration of the lease.
The timber is of average long lengths and sizes, and the quality is surpassed by none other in the colony.
There is about 9 (nine) miles of wooden tramway connecting the mill with the landing on the river Canning (distance by road 7 miles from Perth and 10 miles by water), from whence by means of boats the timber is conveyed to ships at Fremantle for export and also to Perth and Fremantle for local trade. In connection with this point a new steam flat is being built, with engine of 20 h.p. nominal.
The machinery on the station is some of it old, but it has been recently put into good order, and is now doing good work; and a new engine of 30 h.p. nom. and other machinery have been ordered and will be on the ground early in the ensuing year.
When this machinery is fixed it is estimated that an average of 15 to 20 loads of timber per day may be converted with ease by the mill, and, in addition, a fair yearly estimate of 700 to 1000 loads of piles and hewn timber may be converted and disposed of.
The cost of production at the mill with the present machinery, including delivery at Fremantle and Perth, and to the ships, and including also wear and tear, is at present 57s 6d to 60s per load; but this cost will be very considerably reduced when the new machinery is on the ground.
There is a great and growing demand for the timber both for export and for home consumption, and the price realised in the market is from £4 to £4 5s per load, thus giving a present clear profit of at least £1 per load on converted timber, and much larger profit on piles and hewn timber, by reason of the smaller cost of production.
The Land is held under Lease from the Crown for a term of 21 years from the 1st of January next, at a fixed rental (including all license fees, &c.), and which rental is calculated and included in the cost of production as above stated.
There is at present 200 acres of freehold land in the hills belonging to the vendor, on which the mill buildings are erected, and the lease gives to the vendor valuable rights of selection of further freeholds and reservations for tramway purposes.
The works at the river landing are also on freehold, and a sufficient quantity of such freehold for the due working of the landing will pass with the station.
The qualities of the Western Australian Jarrah timber are too well known to need remark, and there is a rapidly increasing demand for same outside the colony, while the local trade is still very much increasing.
To large capitalists or to a company, this is an opportunity for investment and realising large profits which is rarely to be met with, and the circumstances of the colony are such that a lapse of a few years only will in all probability very much enhance the value of the property.
The station may be viewed and all further particulars obtained on application to the undersigned.
Liberal terms for payment of purchase money will be made.
The vendor not bound to accept the highest or any tender.
JOS. SHAW,
St. George's-terrace,
Perth, Western Australia.

Parliamentary Elections.

TO THE ELECTORS OF BALMAIN.

A MEETING will be held THIS EVENING, at 8 o'clock, of the friends and supporters of Mr. J. GARRARD, M.L.A., to form a Committee to secure his return to Parliament.

TO THE ELECTORS OF CAMDEN.

Gentlemen,—The dissolution of the Legislative Assembly will, in a day or two, call you to the duty of electing two members to represent you in that body. It is with confidence I again ask you to return me as one of them.

The question upon which the Assembly will be dissolved is this:—Are the Land Laws, as they now stand upon the Statute Book, satisfactory or not? To this question, put to the Assembly in the form of a bill to consolidate those laws, I, by my voice and vote as your representative, replied in the negative; and it is now for you to say, whether by so speaking and voting, I did rightly or wrongly.

I had the honour, 21 years ago, to vote for the present Land Laws. Those laws, for many years, produced the most beneficial results to thousands of individuals, and to the community generally. So long as land could be obtained of such a character, and in such positions as small areas would suffice to enable the conditional purchaser to make a living from, and without coming in contact with the Crown lessee, the laws worked well for all concerned. But so soon as those who desired to obtain land were compelled to make it in positions where it could only be profitably used for pasture and from out of areas already leased for that purpose, then came the causes of failure and strife between classes, of fraud, evasion, and collusion, which has resulted in widespread disappointment, ruinous litigation, and bitter class antagonism. Whilst this is the result latterly of the operation of free selection, the operations of the other portions of the law have been equally unsatisfactory. The Crown lessees have, in too many cases, been enabled to convert the greater portion of their runs into enormous freeholds, whilst for that portion which remains under lease they have paid, and are paying, an entirely inadequate rental.

Briefly stated, these were the reasons which led me to the conclusion that the law, as it now stands, is not satisfactory. To remedy the evils that have grown up under the law I proposed:—

1. To extend the area that might be conditionally purchased, coupled with a reduction of the deposit payment.
2. To divide the colony into three classes of districts, within which the principle of conditional purchase should be applied differently as regards area.
3. To divide the area of each squatting run, giving a lease for a fixed term to the present lessee, over one-half of such area, at a largely-increased rental, leaving the other half open to conditional purchase.
4. To abolish sales by auction, improvement purchases, and pre-leases.
5. That the Crown should in all cases of conditional purchase put the purchaser in indisputable possession of the land he takes up, and protect him therein.

These provisions would, in my opinion, remove the causes for dissatisfaction with the present law, without disturbing its main principles, and would secure a means of obtaining, by persons of all proportions of means, such a quantity of land from the Crown that they could profitably use; and at the same time compel the lessees to pay a much larger, but still only a fair rent, for the use of that portion of the public estate which they would be allowed to retain.

The settlement of the question of education, arrived at so happily two years ago, removes it from the arena of party strife and political contest. Should, however, any attempt be made to disturb that settlement, it shall have my most determined opposition.

The early establishment of a comprehensive system of Local Self-Government, I regard as absolutely essential; as also the adoption of a law to provide for entry in, regulation of, and retiring from the Civil Service.

The extension of Railways along the main lines of communication has always had my warmest support. The time has now arrived, in my opinion, to direct our attention to the construction of branch lines, and this object I will keep steadily in view, if again honoured with your confidence.

Whilst I have not failed to take my part in the discussion of all matters of general interest to the country, your local wants have not been neglected by me; and the same course shall be followed by me if again elected.

In conclusion, I may say that, though I have now been a member of the Assembly for over 21 years, and gone successfully through many electoral contests, I enter upon this one oppressed with the weight of the grave responsibilities that depend upon its result. The principal question to be before you is one of the utmost magnitude and difficulty, to decide which properly in the interests of the country the exercise of the soundest wisdom, the greatest patience, and the purest patriotism is needed from those in whose hands you shall repose this stupendous task. Whether I am qualified by experience, character, and ability, to be one of those, it is for you to say. In seeking that position, I can only say that I have but one object—the promotion of the truest interests of the country; and that, in endeavouring to discharge its duties, I will do the best that in me lies to justify your confidence, if it should please you to again extend it to me.

I am your faithful servant,
THOMAS GARRETT.

ROBERT MOODIE, Acting Secretary.

ELECTORATE OF ST. LEONARDS.

TO THE ELECTORS.

Gentlemen,—The defeat of the present Government on the Land Bill will give you again an opportunity of exercising your franchise, and on this occasion you will be called upon to return two members, instead of one as formerly. At the repeated and urgent request of a large body of the electors, I have the honour to offer myself as a candidate for your suffrages. I beg to state briefly for your consideration my opinions on the principal subjects demanding attention.

With regard to the Land Bill, I am in favour of a modification of the present Act as will tend to settle the difference between the squatters and selectors, securing to both parties peaceful possession of what land they may either buy or lease, and requiring from the lessee a much larger rental than he now pays to the Treasury.

I shall use every endeavour to improve the means of communication throughout the district by urging upon whatever Government may be in office the absolute necessity of extending the railway system to the waters of Port Jackson on the north side. I shall also advocate the construction of tramways, including one to Manly, by a bridge over Middle Harbour, across the spit, and the scheme of connecting St. Leonards and Sydney, by a high-level bridge shall also receive my support. I am in favour of immediate action being taken to obtain a sufficient water supply for St. Leonards, and should opportunity offer, I shall do all in my power for the improvement of the market accommodation for the sale of our fruit and other products.

I am not in favour of any change being made in the Education Act.

I trust shortly to have an opportunity of explaining my views at more length, and for the present will only add, that being a resident of the district our interests are identical, and I shall give all local matters my first and earnest attention.

I have the honor to be, Gentlemen,
Your Obedient Servant,
PHILIP F. RICHARDSON.

Accompanying this memorandum is the original prospectus of the Company, issued in Auckland; but, as the nature of dealing in native lands is not understood here, these few words are offered in explanation of the project.

The lands of the native tribes of New Zealand are held by the tribe, and not by the individual members of the tribe. They use them within their boundaries at will for cultivation or other purposes, but cannot part with them until they have been surveyed by a licensed Government surveyor, and the exact area ascertained. Immense tracts of land are, therefore, at present unused altogether. When the owners of a block of native land decide upon placing it in the Native Land Court, at their request a survey is made and the area ascertained. It is then advertised in the Government Gazette, to be adjudicated upon at a certain time and place, when all natives having claims to the block must attend. The Court, after hearing the claimants, grant a certificate of title to the owners, and allot to them their interest in the block. The Court in all cases reserves an ample area for the use of the tribe, which cannot be sold. The block can then be sold by the natives holding the certificate, and the transfer to the Company is registered under the Land Transfer Act, the Government being responsible for the area and title.

The position of the Company can be illustrated thus:—Negotiations are now on foot for the purchase of two large blocks of land, one of which is at present going through the Court, and Hamira Puke, one of the Provisional Directors, holds a large interest in the same.

The greater field of operations contemplated are several blocks in the King country, between Te Awamutu and Taranaki, estimated to contain over four million acres. The lands to be operated on commence within one hundred miles of Auckland, and are accessible by rail within three miles, trains running daily. The population on this area is not above 4000 souls at the outside, and in this body of natives the title to this land is vested. The natives do not utilise more than 1500 acres of this vast area.

The operation of sale is beneficial to both sides. The natives have wealth in land which they cannot realise, and purchasers of land are waiting for opportunities of settlement they cannot get.

The Company steps in and solves the difficulty. The land in bulk is worth about 8s per acre, and sells, when cut up, for rates varying from £1 10s to £5 per acre, averaging about £2 10s.

A great deal of the land in question is agricultural land, which will yield 40 bushels of wheat, or 60 bushels of oats, to the acre. The larger part is fern land, which, when laid down in English grasses, will carry 4 long-woolled sheep to the acre. There is very little bush or forest land in this block.

The calls to be made on the shares are very small, as the titles take a me time to pass through the Native Court.

The prospectus explains the various ways in which it is proposed to effect the purchases, and pay the native owners.

An extract from the European Mail of 8th September, 1882, is appended, which will show that a large English Company is being formed for the same purpose, and it must be obvious that gentlemen residing on the spot are more likely to work the idea successfully than a management so distant as London. The profit on these purchases and sales is very large, and nothing is required but honourable and intelligent management to realise it. The transaction is profitable to buyer and seller, and the demand for lands thus liberated is greater than the supply.

It need only be added that no promotion-money is paid to any one. The only charge on the Company will be the brokerage and ordinary expenses of floating the scheme.

Application must be made in the annexed form, and accompanied by a cheque for the application-money. No allotment will be made under 100 shares.

MELBOURNE, November, 1882.

I, Kennedy Hill, of Auckland, Provisional Director of the Auckland Native Lands Colonisation Company, limited, do hereby certify the above explanation of the prospectus is a correct account of the objects and prospects of the Company. As a resident in Auckland for 12 years, and acquainted with the district of the King Country to be operated upon, I speak from intimate and personal knowledge.

KENNEDY HILL.

Witness—JAMES SMALLEY.

Extract from the European Mail, of 8th September, 1882.

The following paragraph has gone the round of the London papers, and we believe it has been officially supplied:—"Two important meetings were held at the latter end of the session in the Conference Room of the House of Commons, at which many prominent members of Parliament and others were present, to take into consideration a scheme for the arrest of the decay of the native race in New Zealand, and for the establishment of permanent peace between the native and European races. The effort was suggested by the presence in this country of the three New Zealand chiefs, who will shortly return to their native land, and by whose hands it is proposed to send a letter to the chiefs in New Zealand, suggesting the scheme for their consideration and recommending it for their adoption. The need for some such scheme is said to exist in the fact that, contrary to the policy of the chiefs, the native lands are being rapidly alienated, and the proceeds squandered without any permanent provision for the future maintenance of the race, except in some cases by certain inalienable reserves, and it is anticipated, if this system continues unchecked, the race will before long be thoroughly pauperised and degraded, and rapidly disappear. It is proposed, by means of an agency or association, to be originated in this country, to which all the waste lands may be transferred for the purpose of opening up colonisation, and sale, to invest by way of sinking fund, the prime value, or first cost of the land, as it is gradually sold at enhanced values to settlers, in permanent inalienable annuities, to be granted by the Government of New Zealand in favour of the individual owners of the land and their heirs, as long as they may have any, and the shareholders in the association to share with the native owners in any further profit or improved value of the land. The quantity of land proposed to be dealt with in this plan is 10,000,000 acres, the prime value 8s per acre, the enhanced value 40s per acre, and on the assumption that 200,000 acres would be sold annually it is estimated that within a minimum of 13 years or a maximum of 18 years all the present owners of the waste lands of the colony will have entered into the enjoyment of the interest on the capital value of their land, or £4,000,000, and there will be still left on hand a fund in land for subsequent sale and subdivision of about £16,000,000. Although suggested in the interest of the natives, it is said to be somewhat doubtful if the co-operation of the race can be secured, seeing the inter-tribal jealousies which exist, and the host of enemies which it will arouse, as it is calculated to overturn the existing system of land-sharking, by which unscrupulous men have lived and fattened on the natives, and who will necessarily misconstrue and malign the motives which have suggested the innovation, and who will do their utmost to arouse the suspicions and opposition of the natives. The chiefs at present in this country are said to strongly advocate the plan; but it is doubtful whether their influence is such as to secure perfect accord amongst the tribes whose support it is desirable to obtain, in order to carry out the scheme in its entirety. The movement has received the approval and support of the Earl of Shaftesbury, the Bishops of London, Liverpool, and St. Asaph, Sir Penrose G. Julyan, K.C.M.G.; the Deans of Canterbury and Peterborough, Canon Liddon, the Right Hon. A. J. Mundella, M.P.; Mr. Alderman Fowler, M.P.; Mr. Alderman W. M'Arthur, M.P.; Mr. Alexander M'Arthur, M.P., and several other influential gentlemen."

In criticising the scheme the Daily News remarks:—"This is a mere sketch of a scheme which will have to be worked out in a very careful and elaborate detail. It will, of course, have the violent opposition of the 'land sharks,' and of all the colonists who benefit by the unjust treatment to which the natives are now subject. It will probably be viewed with distrust by many of the Maoris themselves. But it has at least the advantage of suggesting a mode by which the waste lands can be opened up without doing any injustice to their owners. It is a sort of scheme for pensioning off the natives, who would then be quietly provided for. If the Maori race should die out the Colonial Government would be its heir; if it survived, the Maoris would be practically fundholders under the New Zealand Government. If the Maori difficulty can be met in some such way as this it will be fortunate for both races. The three chiefs who are about to return to their countrymen will use their influence to urge it on their acceptance, and they will at the same time be able to assure the Maori people that their complaints have not been unnoticed in England."

The objects of the AUCKLAND NATIVE LANDS COLONISATION COMPANY (LIMITED) are the acquisition and settlement of native lands in the North Island of New Zealand upon terms which will be to the mutual advantage of the native owners, of the shareholders in this company, and of the colony in general.

In order to carry out this object, it is proposed:—

1. To acquire interests in lands in such way as the natives may prefer, either by purchase by lease, or by acting as their agents on such terms as may be agreed upon.
2. To pay for such interests acquired at the option of the native owners, either cash, paid-up shares, or debentures, for the whole or any part thereof, as circumstances and mutual advantage may dictate.
3. To allow the native owners who take paid-up shares interest at the rate of 5 per cent. upon the amount of the paid-up shares in excess of the amount paid up on contributing shares.
4. To issue to any native owner declining to take cash or paid-up shares debentures of stipulated amounts bearing interest at 5 per cent.
5. The capital required to carry on necessary operations of the company to be provided by colonial and European shareholders, and such capital shall be employed in defraying expenses of management, completing titles, effecting surveys and subdivisions into farms and township lots, opening means of access, conducting the sale and leasing of lands, promoting the formation of special settlements, and generally in utilising the lands vested in the company to the best advantage.
6. To set apart and legally secure adequate and inalienable reserves for the benefit of the native owners.
7. To convey to the Government an agreed percentage of land as required for public works and other purposes, at a figure slightly in advance of cost price.
8. To induce native owners to become large shareholders, to settle permanently upon lands the titles to which have been individualised, and to be represented on the directorate.

It is a well-known fact that the profits arising from the purchase and sale of native lands in the North Island are enormous, and it is equally well known that such profits have up to the present time been confined to the capitalist alone, because of the many obstructions arising from the laws relating to native lands, and to the large expenditure of money required for purchasing the same. The Auckland Native Lands Colonisation Company, Limited, presents to small investors advantages identical with, and in excess of those enjoyed at the present only by capitalists, the shares having been fixed so low that men of small means may be placed on the same footing as the capitalist.

No more fitting opportunity than the present could be seized for the purpose of attaining the objects aimed at by this company, because:—

1. The quantity of fertile Crown lands in the North Island at the present time available for settlement is insufficient to meet the demand.
2. The Government have ceased operations in purchasing native lands.
3. The natives owning land in the King Country are almost unanimous in their desire to bring their valuable lands under the operation of the Land Court and dispose of them to Europeans.
4. It is confidently anticipated that the Government will favour the establishment of this Company, which will go far to relieve them from all anxiety about providing for the future wants of the natives.

This company will place all land acquired under "The Lands Transfer Act," so that the title will be indefeasible, and it will then be able to dispose of the same at great advantage. The land will be sold for cash, or on deferred payments, or disposed of in the manner most conducive to the interests of shareholders.

Under these circumstances it is believed that the establishment of the Auckland Native Lands Colonisation Company (Limited) will provide for the natives the readiest and most beneficial method of placing their lands for sale, lease, or settlement. The ever-increasing demand for lands in New Zealand amongst all classes of colonists and intending emigrants from Great Britain, the rich quality of the lands in the King Country, the fact that they are within easy access by rail from Auckland, their suitability for occupation, and their annually-increasing value, are considerations which present to investors a prospect of remuneration unequalled probably by any proposal ever submitted to the public.

Applications for shares will be received by the Secretary, at his Offices, Fort-street, until TUESDAY, the 31st October, 1882.

Auckland, September 29, 1882.

Form of Application for Shares.

LAND is never so CHEAP as at first sale. Buy at first Sale of KOGARAH PARK, next SATURDAY. Torrens' Title. Long terms. Building Society's. WATKIN and WATKIN.

K O G A R A H P A R K fronts the ROCKY POINT-ROAD, right opposite the English Church, close to the Public School, and near the proposed Station on the great Illawarra Railway, now in actual progress.

This fine ESTATE HAS BEEN SUBDIVIDED in the LIBERAL MANNER CHARACTERISTIC of the VENDORS, the Sydney Permanent Freehold Land and Building Society, whose object has always been to provide, while Land is cheap, large allotments with plenty of breathing room, and to make the terms so easy as to bring the Land within the reach of every one, however small his means may be.

The vendors have always BEEN VERY SUCCESSFUL in their SUBDIVISIONS.

Land sold by them in other localities has trebled and quadrupled in value since the day of sale, thus being a source of great profit to those who were the fortunate purchasers.

LAND IS NEVER SO CHEAP as on FIRST DAY OF SALE.

The Title is Torrens'.

Easy transfers. No mortgage. Immediate possession. Those who prefer can pay up, and have their Deeds at once.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO THOSE INTENDING TO BUILD.

The vendors will advance 93½ per cent. of the cost of building, repayable on the very easy terms of 10s 10d per £100 per fortnight.

Plans from WATKIN and WATKIN, Auctioneers, 281, Pitt-street.

KOGARAH PARK, NEXT SATURDAY.

The Public are sometimes apt to overlook the great advantages offered to them of purchasing land upon Building Society's terms.

Ordinary Vendors usually allow three years to pay off the balances; some, indeed, only give 12 or 18 months. The Sydney Permanent Freehold Land and Building Society's scale extends the repayments, if desired, over a term of 10 years.

It will be plainly seen, then, that a man is enabled to purchase Three Times as Much Land from a Society as from an ordinary Vendor, with the same outlay. This naturally gives him the opportunity of making three times as much profit by a Re-sale.

But the question arises: Will Buyers be able to Re-sell at a Profit at KOGARAH?

The reply to this is: The Railway will be open in about 18 months. What is the usual effect upon land of the opening of a Railway? Why, to Double, Treble, and Quadruple its Value.

Plans WATKIN and WATKIN, 281, Pitt-street.

PARIS, Sept. 15.

The subject of weather is undoubtedly "trite," yet is it hardly possible, in presence of the utterly abominable weather which is still plaguing us, after having driven everybody to something like desperation for a year past, to avoid mentioning the sad fact (for wine-drinkers) that scarcely a bottle of genuine wine will be forthcoming this year from French vineyards. Not only the phylloxera and oidium, but incessant wet and frequent hail are working terrible havoc in the regions still devoted to the raising of grapes. Recent statistics show the decrease in the production of grape wine to be even greater than is generally supposed, many of the districts that formerly produced the most, now producing but one-fifth of the average quantity produced in former years. Taking the gross production of the French wine districts, it is computed that fully 15 millions of hectolitres have been deducted from the yield of wine in France. To make up for this enormous deficiency four methods are resorted to:—1st, the making of wine from raisins; 2nd, the admixture of a weak solution of sugar with the refuse of the wine press; 3rd, the manipulation of foreign wines, mainly from Spain and Italy, to suit the vitiated taste of the British public; 4th, the manufacture of stuff having the colour, body, and flavour of genuine wine, from various chemical mixtures, without a drop of grape juice, and usually of a nature very injurious to the health of those who drink it. If the Italian and Spanish wine-growers could emulate the skilful manipulation of the French vigneron, they might turn their wine shops to immensely more account. As it is, the importation of their wines into France, at low prices, has increased 5000 per cent. during the last 10 years. At Bordeaux alone this increase is from 15,000 to 800,000 quintals; and there are ports on the Mediterranean seaboard which show a still higher rate of increase.

If electricity should ever be made available for the ripening of fruit, grain, and vegetables in underground gardens, the unmanageable caprices of the weather office would cease to work the widespread ruin from which mankind now suffers so frequently. And so many patient enthusiasts are working at the various problems involved in the subjection of this terrible element to human uses that it is impossible to foresee the extent of the results which human ingenuity may thus arrive at. Meanwhile Messrs. Jarriant and Grenet have been successfully exhibiting a system of electric lighting by means of the Swan lamps and Siemens' electric arcs, excited by a modification of the bichromate of soda battery, each battery consisting of 48 elements in two sets of 24 each, the two being equivalent to three horse power of electric energy. The attention of the Academy of Sciences has been called to asbestos as an insulator, and M. Geoffray has exhibited to that learned body a specimen of his copper wire, insulated with asbestos, and threaded through a leaden pipe, which claims to prevent fires. According to experiments recently made here by M. Lippmann, engineer to the Faure Electric Accumulator Company, a specimen of the conductor of this wire was entirely volatilised by powerful currents without the leaden pipe being effected. The volatilisation takes place in a mere fraction of a second, and the lead does not even begin to fuse. The asbestos, moreover, is found to act as a good insulator for ordinary currents.

M. Tissandier, the dauntless aeronaut, who so nearly lost his life some ten years ago, in the feat of scientific ballooning in which his friends and fellow-balloonists were killed, is busy constructing a large balloon which he will propel, and hopes to direct, by electricity. His electric machine is to weigh 5cwt., and the secondary batteries 17cwt., representing about five-horse power. These will be carried by an elliptical balloon of a volume of 160,000 cubic feet. The balloon is to be 131 feet long, and its diameter in the centre 60·7 feet. The balloon will have a lifting power of 3½ tons, and will consequently be able to support one ton weight of passengers, ballast, &c., besides the batteries and machinery. With the air calm, its constructor expects it to make from 12 to 15 miles per hour, which speed, however, could only be maintained for a few hours. M. Tissandier intends, when his balloon is ready, to make with it short journeys over and round Paris. Though it is hardly to be hoped that the problem of air-travelling will be solved by this new experiment, it can hardly fail to yield results of value in the field of ballooning, and probably to familiarise the public with the idea of its being possible, some day or other, for human beings to journey in the region of birds.

A recent law of the French Legislature authorised the application of the electric light in no fewer than 42 important lighthouses on the coast of France. The total expense of this change is estimated at about £320,000 sterling; but it appears that it will hardly take less than 10 years to effect. A sum equal to £6000 has already been voted towards the undertaking, and the Minister of Public Works is about to demand a new vote of £28,000 for continuing the work next year. The operations for substituting electricity in place of the lights now in use on the French coast will commence with the lighthouse of Cape Grisnez, and others familiar to travellers in crossing the Channel, of whom no fewer than 82,318 underwent the various miseries of that "chopping sea" between Dover and Calais during last month.

Recent statistics give to London are 3,832,440 inhabitants; to Paris, 2,225,910; to Berlin, 1,222,500; to Vienna, 1,103,110. The population of these four cities (4,283,960 souls) is, therefore, nearly equal to that of the whole of Central Asia (8,519,000). London alone has more inhabitants than Saxony (2,972,800), and than the whole of Switzerland (2,846,000); Paris has a population larger than that of Tunisia (2,100,000), larger than Bulgaria (1,998,980), and than Greece (1,979,420).

The two great Scandinavian kingdoms of Sweden and Norway are also very sparsely peopled, and the latter is beginning to agitate the question of separating from the former and regaining its ancient independence. The last King was very amiable, a good man, much beloved; but his brother, the present King, not liked in Sweden, is detested in Norway, and the Norwegian poet, Bjornstjerne Bjoernson, emulating the republican propaganda of Milton, has undertaken a campaign against the sovereign with the object of overthrowing the Bernadotte dynasty in Norway, procuring the abolition of the union between that country and Sweden, and the foundation of a Norwegian Republic on a federal basis. The struggle began in earnest when the Storthing, as may be remembered, contested the King's claim to an absolute veto over the bills passed by the Parliament of Norway; but even then, the quarrel between the Storthing and the sovereign might have been amicably settled had not the poet, feeling wounded at certain remarks which had fallen from King Oscar, challenged him to a duel. This unprecedented act created a tremendous sensation throughout Scandinavia. The High Court of Justice was called upon to decide the matter, and Bjoernson was sentenced to a term of imprisonment for high treason. He went to Germany, but has returned to his native country to carry on the Republican movement. The King decided, as the general elections are approaching, to meet his adversaries on their own ground, and he has accordingly made a visit to Norway, where he has been well received. But the precaution he took, by insuring his life for a sum of 6000 crowns before leaving Sweden, shows that he was prepared for any fate. His pluck in showing himself in the principal Norwegian towns seems to have gratified their people, and he has been feted and welcomed wherever he has gone. The constitution of Norway is extremely liberal, for the King has only a limited veto, and when a bill has been thrice voted by the representatives of the people it becomes law. The Norwegians have an army of their own, which cannot be ordered out of the country without the consent of the Storthing, and no Swedish soldier is allowed to set his foot on Norwegian soil. The Republican party, with the poet at its head, is working hard to procure the adoption of its programme; but the majority of the people, though favourable to liberal ideas, seem to be loyally attached to the royal family. They detest Germany, however; and it is the supposed leaning of King Oscar to that country (which is hated by Sweden and Norway for its absorption of the Duchies and supposed intention of swallowing the third of the three Scandinavian kingdoms) which has rendered him unpopular in Scandinavia.

The late king was a painter, not of the very highest rank, but a highly successful amateur wielder of the brush, as was sufficiently proved by the excellent painting executed by him which figured with honour in the Scandinavian Art Department at the International Exhibition in this city in 1867. The present King is a poet of no mean order, and has lately published a volume of songs. In our days many other sovereigns and members of reigning families cultivate literature, as well as art, with marked success. The Queen of Servia, under the nom de plume of "Carmen," writes and publishes volume after volume of poems highly esteemed in the semi-civilised new kingdom over which she reigns. Prince Nicholas, of Montenegro, is about to publish a drama, in three acts, and in verse, entitled "The Empress of the Balkans," which its author intends translating into French. The Crown Princess of Germany is an accomplished sculptor; the Duke of Edinburgh is a violinist of more than average talent; the King of Bavaria is a thorough musician, although a worshipper of Wagner; and Queen Victoria is a superior pianiste.

SEPT. 22.

Not only in France, but also in the rest of Central Europe, the prevailing topic of interest, since the arrival of the news of the collapse of the Egyptian rebellion, is the disastrous effect of the extraordinary weather, which is ruining crops, inundating large tracts of country, and threatening an exceptionally early and severe winter. In Austria and Italy, as in France, wintry weather is setting in before the grapes have ripened. Snow has already fallen in the North and in the departments of a hilly character. Wind and rain have been beating the crops to the ground in other departments, and hailstorms of unusual violence and severity have literally cut the vines to pieces in the neighbourhood of Paris, not a bunch of grapes being spared, and in some cases every leaf being torn from the vines, and the vines themselves battered into splinters.

The American vines have stood the bad weather better than the native stocks, and they will doubtless be imported largely next year, although they have not, as a rule, resisted the attacks of the phylloxera, as they were expected to do. The French winemakers are counting on large importations from Spain, where the vintage is abundant, and from Algeria, where the culture of the vine is expanding satisfactorily, especially in the departments of Algiers and Constantine. The unhappy depletion of the wine industry of France ought to furnish a golden opportunity to the wine-growers of Australia and California.

Professor Reclau, of Leipsic, has written an interesting letter to a landowner of Mecklenberg, who has asked him to explain the "reason why" of the horrible weather which has afflicted the greater part of Europe for nearly a twelvemonth, causing stoves to be lighted in August, and winter clothing to be donned in September. He says that the probable reason of the cold from which we are suffering is the unusual quantity of ice at the Poles, the upper warm equatorial current of air which should prevail in summer being chilled by the unusual cold of the lower current due to the mighty masses of ice that are floating southwards. He says that the unwise cutting down of trees, and denuding of mountain forests, is also slowly but surely interfering with the regularity of the seasons; and adds that the covering of the earth's surface with the enormous iron network of the railways will probably be found to be not without its effect in deranging the currents of electricity. "And experience has shown us," continues the professor, "that we cannot change any of the great conditions and features of our physical existence without paying a fine for our interference." The same authority attributes the enormous amount of rain, fog, and cloud, from which Europe is suffering, to the chilling of the warm equatorial current of air, that current being always heavily charged with moisture. But whatever may be the cause of the abnormal weather, which is upsetting all the hopes and expectations of the agriculturist, it is evident that we are entering upon a winter which threatens to be, to too many, a period of great suffering, and probably of unusual mortality.

The gay people who flock to the seaside and the country during the summer are already returning to their winter quarters, crossing the clouds of migratory birds, most of which have already departed in search of the sunshine which seems to have abandoned Paris. The people who live by letting lodgings and keeping hotels at all the popular summer resorts are crestfallen and sorrowful in the extreme; for their customers are quitting the shore and flocking back to Paris six weeks before the usual time for quitting the pleasures of a stay on the shores of the ocean, one of the principal of which appears to have consisted, at the various oyster-raising localities, in betting on the oysters that are the first to open their shells. This new and fashionable diversion, to which the bad weather is putting an untimely end, is practised thus:—A party of people proceed to the edge of an oysterbed and plant themselves alongside of it, provided with canes. Each member of the party inspects the bed, fixes on the oyster he or she will bet on, and remains on the spot to watch the behaviour of the selected bivalve. If the latter opens its shell a twenty-franc gold piece is at once dropped in upon the astonished dainty, and the gold pieces become the property of the winners of the bets. It would seem that people must be somewhat at a loss for amusement to "take" to such a method of passing their time; but it is certain that "oyster betting" has been immensely in vogue this season at all the points of the coast where oysters do congregate, and that large sums have been lost and won in this novel style of gambling. With regard to oyster raising, it may be noticed as a curious fact that the greater the number of oysters raised, the greater is the demand for them, and the dearer they become. At present prices, General Junot might well hesitate to begin his lunch, as he was accustomed to all through the oyster season, by eating 300 of them as a beginning; while Vitellius, had our present prices ruled in his days, would perhaps have been fain to content himself with something less than the 1200 oysters which he made it a point of devouring daily.

The rapid and brilliant success of the English arms in Egypt is beginning to be admitted here, even by those organs of the press most desirous of recording against "Perfidious Albion" the discomfiture they so persistently prophesied. These prophets of mischief, whose wish had been so conspicuously "father to the thought," finding it no longer possible to hope for the overthrow of the British troops at Cairo, Damietta, or elsewhere, and forced to admit that Arabi and his abettors are not quite the heroes and popular idols they have been crying them up as being, are now prophesying diplomatic and international difficulties of all kinds as about to revenge on "the invaders" of Egypt the rapid success which has attended them in the field. The illwill of a certain portion of the community and of the press has, however, had the effect of emphasising the expression of disapproval of the Anglophobist party on the part of the more liberal and intelligent organs of public opinion in France, all of which render full justice to the motives of Great Britain in undertaking the repression of the Egyptian revolt, the skill and bravery of the British generals and troops, and the admirable manner in which victory has been achieved and turned to account by the army of occupation. The principal organs of the French press openly express their admiration of the manner in which the campaign has been conducted, and confidently affirm their conviction that Great Britain, while claiming for herself the advantages she has so fairly won, will be able to conciliate the rights thus acquired by her with a just and generous recognition of the interests of the rest of the world in Egypt.

Oddly enough, just too late for a practical testing of his invention in Egypt, a German chemist has invented a new kind of bullet, which promises to suppress the horrors of war, as far as killing and wounding are concerned. The new bullet is extremely brittle, breaking the moment it touches the object against which it is aimed. It contains a powerful anæsthetic, producing instantly complete insensibility, lasting for 12 hours, which, except that the action of the heart continues, is not to be distinguished from death. A battle-field, where these bullets are used, will in a short time be covered with bodies apparently dead, but, in reality, only in a temporary state of unconsciousness. While in this condition they may, as the German chemist points out, be carefully packed in ambulance waggons and carried off as prisoners. Whole cities, he claims, may be reduced to helplessness by means of shells charged with the same compound. A reverse of the medal, however, is supplied by the fact that burglars would find the anæsthetic bullet very useful, as enabling them to effect their purpose without risk of interference from the householders they may favour with a nocturnal visit, thus enabling them to dispense with the violent methods of putting down opposition to their proceedings, which sometimes lead to an undesired acquaintance with the gallows. What may be the effect of such an anæsthetic on the physical state of those who have been subjected to it is not stated, but the inventor evidently considers his composition to be innocuous, and anticipates its coming speedily into general use. The new bullet might be conveniently used to put a stop to obstructive members of Parliament or other orators not knowing when to stop. Not being, as yet, in possession of this new auxiliary of the president's bell, the leaders of a Socialist gathering, assembled a few nights ago in a gymnasium of this city, were fain to adopt a different expedient for getting rid of an opponent gifted with a sonorous voice and a ready flow of elocution. The more the leaders tried to put an end to the eloquence of this unwelcome declaimer, bent on proving that his opponents were fools and rogues, and himself the only true and sensible patriot, the more steadily and euphoniously did the speaker go on speaking. The meeting became agitated, then uproarious, and a scene of violence was just setting in when a gymnastic belt was neatly slipped, from behind, under the orator's uplifted arms, deftly buckled on him before he knew what was going on, and a strong rope from the ceiling being slipped through the ring, the astonished orator was slung up to the ceiling and found himself, before he had discovered what was going on, dangling from a hook in the ceiling above the chandelier. The tempest of laughter that greeted the spectacle of the hapless orator thus hanging like a great spider from the ceiling, may be better imagined than described, and restored the good humour of the gathering in a trice. The president, as soon as the peals of laughter allowed him to make himself heard, offered to the unfortunate orator to have him let down, on condition that he promised to allow himself to be instantly conducted to the door, and engaged to quit the meeting without speaking and never to come back. The wretched dangler having signified his acceptance of these terms, he was lowered from the dizzy elevation to which he had been so suddenly lifted, and escorted to the door, which was immediately shut and bolted, so as to secure the assembled "patriots" from any surreptitious return on his part.

The dreadful weather does not prevent crowned heads and their next of kin from travelling, and the elegant and luxurious accommodations of the "International Sleeping Carriage Company" have recently been patronised by the Crown Prince of Austria, Crown Prince of Germany, Queen Isabella, King of Servia, and Duke de Montpensier, all of whom have expressed their entire satisfaction with the arrangements of the company.

Prince Bismarck was already the happy possessor of 44 orders; he is now in possession of his 45th decoration, viz.:—the Order of the Chrysanthemum" (Flower of Gold), which has just been sent to him by the Emperor of Japan. The health of the great Chancellor seems to be decidedly failing, while that of the Emperor remains excellent.

THE FRENCH IN AFRICA.

(From the Pall Gazette, October 3.)

French activity for a moment repressed in Egypt is finding a vent in Tunis, on the Congo, in Madagascar. The theory that France has suddenly become indifferent to the extension of her influence abroad finds but little confirmation in the sudden and significant development of an overmastering anxiety for ascendancy on three sides of the African continent. We are not complaining of this, much less protesting against it; but it is worth noting if only because it furnishes what may be useful precedents in the resettlement of Egypt. Especially is this the case in the matter of the capitulations in Tunis. As the Government and the administrative services of Tunis are to be definitely reorganised under French auspices, existing treaty rights are summarily to disappear. As for the international financial commission, the first step, we are told, is to abolish it. The Control, consisting of six delegates elected by the English, Italian, and French creditors of Tunis, is an obstacle to the establishment of French authority. It must cease to exist. Half measures, says the Republique Française, only favour anarchy and encourage intrigue. What is wanted is a resident with extensive powers—a French Governor-General, in short—who will establish the French protectorate on solid and durable basis. England and Germany, it is said, will offer no objection, and as for Italy her opposition does not count. The change will be made, no doubt; but the precedent can hardly be forgotten in the resettlement of Egypt.

Tunis, however, is an old story. The abolition of the capitulations is merely the last leaf, or the last but one, of the artichoke, of which the first was the expedition against the Khroumirs. But, after all that we have heard of the reluctance of France to engage in foreign adventure, it is somewhat odd that immediately after the conquest of Tonquin in further Asia they should be threatening war on both sides of the African continent. The Chamber may possibly apply a douche of cold water to the feverish aspirations of those who are dreaming of the protectorate of Madagascar and the colonisation of the valley of the Congo, but at present the Chauvinists seem to have things all their own way. French activity in the great African island and on the mainland is stimulated by jealousy of their neighbours. Jealousy of Italy dictated the Bardo treaty; jealousy of England is causing them to threaten the independence of Madagascar; jealousy of Belgium and the international African Association is leading them to demand the annexation of a huge tract of Equatorial Africa. In all three cases the hope of commercial advantage lends a potent support to the promptings of national pride. The Congo, although interrupted before it reaches the Atlantic by many cataracts, is one of the greatest waterways of the world. It gives access to a basin of 600,000 square miles, peopled with many millions of natives, each of whom is a potential consumer of European manufactures. To secure the command of this vast market is no doubt a legitimate object of commercial ambition, and it is natural that the French should be proud of the exploits of M. de Brazza, a naturalised French officer of Italian birth, in planting a station on the banks of the Congo at a place which is said to be the key of the two great commercial waterways of Central Africa. But their pretensions go far beyond the establishment of trading stations on the banks of the Congo. M. de Brazza claims to have placed the whole of the extensive region on the right bank of the river from the point at which it becomes navigable under the protectorate of France. The tricolour was hoisted, and left in charge of a black sergeant and two tirailleurs from Senegal. A negro chief named Macoco is said to have ceded to France all his territory, and henceforth no one is to be allowed to trade or even to pass without a French authorisation. The Temps exultingly declares that this ceremony of M. de Brazza's has checkmated the schemes of the International African Association, and, supported by most of the Parisian papers, it demands that the treaty with Macoco shall be ratified, that its energetic negotiator shall be sent back to establish solidly the two posts which he has created at Ogowe and Stanley Pool, and to establish a third upon the Alima, and that he shall be furnished with the means necessary to utilise the prestige he has already acquired among the natives. Mr. Stanley ridiculed the pretensions of M. de Brazza. The natives, he says, valued a flag merely as a piece of cloth, and understood nothing at all of protectorates. That may be, but the eagerness with which the French press is clamouring for the conversion of the shadowy pretensions of M. de Brazza into a solid South African conquest is not very reassuring to those who know by experience that the dominant idea of French colonial policy is not so much to extend "the civilising sovereignty of France" as to secure a monopoly for French manufactures.

We need only turn to the opposite side of the Continent—to the great island of Madagascar—to see how vast are the pretensions which can be built upon such a treaty as M. De Brazza claims to have secured from Macoco. Twenty-one years ago Radama II. ceded to a French company almost sovereign rights of colonisation in the best parts of the island. The treaty was opposed by the chief men in the island, who in 1863 repudiated it by the summary but effectual method of killing the King who had concluded it. Two years later, under pressure, they consented to pay £40,000 as compensation to the dispossessed company, and the formal recognition of his successor as Queen of Madagascar by the Emperor Napoleon was believed to have finally terminated all French pretensions to any part of the island. The steady increase of English trade with the natives, and the predominance of the English missionaries at the Court of the Queen, completed the exclusion of French influence from the island. French consuls, backed by French gunboats, have been pressing French claims upon the Government of Madagascar, and a few months ago they asserted an absolute pretension to a part of Madagascar by the summary process of landing on the coast and hewing down the Queen's standards. The north-west of the island, inhabited by the Sakalavas, they said, was French territory. Yet only last year they had extorted an indemnity from the Government of the Queen for the death of some French Arab slavers, who were killed by the natives of the north-west while attempting illegally to land slaves there. The sovereignty of the Queen over the disputed district was thus recognised in order to hold her responsible for the acts of its inhabitants, and then repudiated in order to assert the sovereignty of France. There are other matters of dispute, but they all spring out of the persistence of the French in pressing claims founded upon more or less mythical treaties of the Macoco-Brazza type which seriously impair the independence and integrity of the kingdom of Madagascar. Africa of late seems to have exercised a fatal fascination for the Western Powers. In the last 15 years England has waged no fewer than six African wars. Our armies have fought in Abyssinia, in Ashantee, in Basutoland, in Zululand, in the Transvaal, and in Egypt. It would almost seem as if France were about to follow the same blood-stained path. Yet a contemplation of the barrenness of all our victories might well dissuade a less cautious nation than the French from adopting a forward policy on the African continent.

OUR NEW ZEALAND LETTER.

AUCKLAND, Nov. 13.

By far the most important event which has occurred in New Zealand since my last letter was the meeting between Mr. Bryce, Native Minister, and Tawhiao, the so-called Maori king. The object of the meeting was to arrange for the opening of the King Country. Having been present at the meeting, which lasted for a week, I may give an outline of the proceedings, and some of the most important speeches. Mr. Bryce and party left Auckland by train for Alexandra on the morning of October 27, and reached there the same afternoon, when a preliminary friendly meeting took place, between the Native Minister and Tawhiao—the latter having come across from his settlement, Whatiwhatihoe, to meet Mr. Bryce. Tawhiao was dressed in ordinary European costume. The next day (Saturday), a meeting was held at Whatiwhatihoe, at which greetings were exchanged. On the following Monday, Mr. Bryce again met Tawhiao, and a discussion ensued between 300 and 400 Maoris and a few Europeans being present. Tawhiao was seated on a flax mat in front of Mr. Bryce, and was surrounded by his people, all squatting on the ground. Tawhiao scanned Mr. Bryce's features, and after the customary pause, he rose and said: "My word will go straight out from my breast, and not from one side or the other. My word is, hearken all of you. This word is about the land—the land of my ancestors. Let me have control of it. Let me administer my own affairs. Consider what I have said. It is good, because I have spoken to you face to face. Therefore, it is that I ask you to leave me the administration of my own land, and also the control of my people. Consider what I have said. Return, for you have been seen. It is a good thing that you have seen us and spoken before us all, and not while we were absent. You have all heard and know what I have said. It is the same as I have always said for generations back. Let Mangatawhiri (a township in Lower Waikato) be the boundary. I would speak with reference to Alexandra, Te Awamutu, Kihikihi, Ngaruawahia, and all the townships down as far as Mangatawhiri. I do not quite approve of those townships. My word about these towns is, that they are all with me. I do not entirely approve of the Europeans occupying these towns. This is my day and your day. It is a day for us to talk, and to consider, but it rests with me. I do not interfere with what is yours (i.e., the land beyond Mangatawhiri). I have the control of what is my own. This is not bad talk. It is good; and it is satisfactory that we see each other. It is now daytime. All the European townships down to Mangatawhiri are with me. I am there. The control of these townships is with me. My word shall stop here. Consider what I have said, and after doing so, speak. This is a good time to talk, because we are face to face to face." Mr. Bryce replied: "We had a day of greeting on Saturday. On that day I declared that I liked plain speaking, and Tawhiao said the same. Therefore it is right that anything that is in his mind should be declared to-day. He thinks that he has a duty to his tribe and to himself, and I presume that he has discharged that duty according to his own lights and in his own way. Nevertheless, I take it that there is not a man present who thinks that his demands could possibly be complied with. He has referred to what Sir D. M'Lean said to him, and what he said to Sir D. M'Lean. He has not referred to what was said to Sir George Grey, and what Sir George Grey said to him. Nevertheless, that too is on record; but why should we go back? Why should we cast our eyes back into the past? Rather let us direct our eyes to the future. Why should we look back to the dark and stormy day, when the sun is shining as it is at present? Rather let us look to the sun which is shining, and work in that light." Mr. Bryce then advised Tawhiao to be moderate in his demands. Tawhiao then said: "Sir D. M'Lean told me I should have the management of my own land. Sir D. M'Lean's words are in writing. I may say now that I don't approve of leases, of sales, of surveys. Consider it! Consider it! Consider it! It was a small matter that prevented Sir George Grey and me from coming to terms. It was only the size of the dirt in the finger-nail. It was caused by a European. I forget his name, but you know who it was. It was either Mr. Sheehan or some one else. Man can be replaced by man, and trees by trees, but the land cannot be replaced. Sir D. M'Lean said the boundary should begin at the mouth of the Waikato, follow up the Waikato and Waipa Rivers to the Manganika stream, but I did not agree to that. Sir George Grey made the same proposal, but I did not agree. I thought that Sir D. M'Lean would live—that he would return. I did not think that through anger the proposals would be withdrawn." Mr. Bryce: "Tawhiao must know I think that the offers of Sir D. M'Lean and Sir George Grey were definitely withdrawn. He says that if Sir D. M'Lean were alive he could repeat and renew that offer. I don't think so. When once time passes in those things it can never be recalled. Ever since that time until now, and it will continue in the future, the flood has been rising. What do I mean by the flood? I mean the flood of civilisation and occupation. There is no use to say that the flood is bitter—roll back its waters. Bitter or sweet, the waters are not waters that will roll back. If anyone here, great or small, thinks that he can stay that tide of civilisation and occupation, I will tell him what to do. Let him go down by the sea-beach, and when the tide is low, tell that tide to stay back. Then, if the great ocean obeys him, let him try to stop the civilisation of the European. That is neither more nor less than the truth. It is not to be stopped." Tawhiao: "Sir D. M'Lean told me that I was to have the control of my land and my people. Now, then, I say, if you will not carry out the proposals that Sir Donald M'Lean and Sir George Grey made, throw them aside, and make proposals to me yourself." Mr. Bryce: "I had thought that Tawhiao would himself make proposals to-day, starting, as it were, from to-day, and not go back into the past. Nevertheless, I am prepared to indicate what the present position is, and what I consider Tawhiao's position to be, and the position of the Government. Perhaps Tawhiao may not agree with some things that I say; perhaps he will agree with others. But it is better that I should tell him what I think, and let him consider my words, rather than that I should tell him what I think pleasant to him, and keep the rest hidden. First of all, as to the question of sovereignty. I stand here to-day as the Minister of the Queen, and I am bound to tell you publicly, and in the presence of you all, that I do not think this land is large enough for two separate independent authorities. Chiefs may have authority in their tribe, and may still remain great chiefs, but the sovereignty of the Queen must prevail over this island from end to end. If I told you anything different from that, I would tell you different from what I know must be, and from what I know it cannot be helped. It is in your interests, as well as in the interests of the Europeans, that this should be so, and when I say the sovereignty of the Queen, I include the sovereignty of the Queen's law. I am perfectly willing to aid and assist the chiefs to deal with their land in a fitting and proper way, and I hope to get Tawhiao's assistance too. If I can get the assistance of Tawhiao and the chiefs of the tribe to do this work, and they get mine, I daresay that the work will conduce to the advantage of both races, and very greatly to the advantage of the Maori race. It is vain to say that all landed transactions, as well as leases, surveys, and so on, must stop. As for Tawhiao, the Government will treat him as a great chief. What I said to Tawhiao was, let us be reasonable; and I say again, let us be reasonable. I would say to Tawhiao, 'Do not strain your position; do not make the strain too tight.'"

On Tuesday, 31st October, Mr. Bryce gave Major Te Wheoro, M.H.R., the following memorandum of offers for communication to Tawhiao:—1. As to land, the Government will return the bulk of the Crown confiscated land west of the Waipa and Waikato to Tawhiao and his people; will give him the section of land he wants at Kaipara; will press Ngatimaniapoto to give Tawhiao and his people a piece of their country. 2. As to special provision for Tawhiao, Government will build him a house and furnish it, and will give him a pension of £400 a year. 3. As to mana, or authority, the Government will make him an assessor of the Resident Magistrates Court, an assessor of the Native Land Court, a Justice of Peace for the colony, and a member of the Legislative Council. After three days' consideration of these offers, Tawhiao declined to accept them, owing to the influence of Wahanui, one of the leading Ngatimaniapoto chiefs, and principal of the landowners. Up to the hour of the meeting, it was confidently anticipated that Tawhiao would accept the liberal offers of the Government, and Mr. Bryce shared in this belief himself. Great disappointment was felt throughout the colony when it became known that the negotiations for the opening of the country had failed, and this feeling was especially strong in Auckland. Notwithstanding the failure referred to above, it is generally expected that the country will be shortly opened up. Mr. Bryce is here, and will probably begin his new plan for opening up the King country during this week.

THE INFLUENCE OF RAILROADS UPON THE TIMBER SUPPLY.

(From the Journal of Forestry, U. S.)

The vast and rapidly increasing extent of the American railroad system, which at the present moment can scarcely be less than 100,000 miles, has a most important bearing upon the question of our forest supplies. This effect is not limited to the vast consumption that they occasion in supplying ties and other timber materials for the new constructions and renewals that are constantly going on. These roads are everywhere penetrating the timber regions of the country, many of them being built for the express purpose of getting out the timber that was before inaccessible by the old methods of floating upon rivers or hauling in winter by teams. It is but a comparatively recent period since this feature in lumbering was introduced, and its direct and speedy effect is to hasten the exhaustion of these supplies, that were going off too fast for the needs of the present and of the future. The obvious effects of this will be to keep up the supply at the mills so long as there are forests from whence it can be obtained. They will distribute the manufactured lumber over a wider area and to greater distances to meet the wants of regions that have already used up their own forest resources, and they will doubtless extend for a little while the time of apparent "abundance" and of "inexhaustible supply." But while they are doing this, they will be every day equalising the ruin that must inevitably follow this vast and rapidly increasing destruction, that will happen to the country in the near future, unless seasonable and adequate measures are taken to meet these future wants by extensive and judicious planting, and by effectual measures for economising our remaining supplies. We shall be soon enough admonished of this necessity by the rapidly gaining prices of our timber; but it is not wise to wait for this extremity until it is directly upon us. We should anticipate these wants; for it takes many years for a seedling sprout to become a tree fit for timber and boards. The duty before us is a most important one, and it presents two principal points for consideration, namely: First, as to how far and in what manner the general Government can withdraw its remaining timber lands from entry under existing laws, and place them under regulations calculated to secure the greatest benefit to the present in the use of timber that is now fully mature, and that shall at the same time have due regard to the requirements of the future; secondly, as to how we may most thoroughly impress upon the owners of land the importance of planting, and as to how far and in what manner it is the duty of Congress to encourage this object. The first of these is a complex question, and one that must be carefully considered in all its bearings before we can adopt a definite policy concerning it. Upon inquiry of the author of this report, I learn that he has given the subject much attention, and that suggestions are made as to the measures that may be adopted. Until the report is before us no opinion can be expressed as to the feasibility of these plans, and they may require a further study before action can be had upon the subject. There can be no doubt but that property of this kind under the care of persons who have an interest in its protection, and the law for their support, would be better cared for than if exposed, as it now is, to the plunder of everybody. The second point is of greater importance, because it affects the whole country and appears everywhere alike to the owners of the land. We find in our country conditions of ownership that are in general very different from those that prevail in Europe. We have no lands belonging to the Government that are scattered here and there all over the country, to be reserved for timber growth, and cared for by skilled foresters. Our towns, cities, and villages own no lands for common usage; our public institutions have no landed estates that need the special care of Government; we have no great hereditary domains belonging to titled owners, and we have no privileged classes. Almost the whole of our lands, excepting what remain under the care of the General Land Office, belong to farmers in actual possession, under absolute titles that assure perpetual ownership. We cannot require them to plant trees nor prevent them from cutting off their woodlands—at least, not under the present state of public opinion; and nothing but dire necessity alone could ever hereafter so change this opinion as to justify and support restrictive legislation upon this subject. We cannot dictate in this matter. We certainly can never plant woodlands upon private property at the public expense, unless in the exceptional and local instances where this become a public necessity for the protection of some other interest. It has been shown by long experience in Europe that timber can be grown with profit upon lands suitable for no other kind of use, and that by careful and intelligent management a permanent supply may be maintained. It has long since been found that nothing will so effectually restore fertility to worn out lands as a crop of trees, with the accumulation of organic materials that is constantly forming under them from the air and the soil. It is also proved by the experience of every careful observer that groves of woodland afford protection to the surrounding fields in the cooling and equalising influence in mitigating the extremes of heat and cold, and by a perceptible and often decided effect in preventing injuries from drought. They afford resting-places for insectivorous birds, and thus promote the destruction of insects to the profit of our grains and fruits. They screen us against the hot and dry winds of summer and the sweeping and piercing storms of winter, that are sometimes so severely felt, especially in the prairie regions of the West. There can be no doubt but that timber can be grown within the United States sufficient for all the wants of its own inhabitants, but we must learn to regulate these wants and to guard against waste. We must diligently study the methods of cultivation that lead to most profitable results, and the kinds of trees that produce the most thrifty growth and the most valuable products. In short, our first and greatest duty is to impress upon the owners of the land that is to their interest to devote a portion of their land to the planting of groves of trees. We should establish experiment stations for the careful study of the requirements and capabilities of soils and of different kinds of trees, and we should publish the results of these observations in a form particularly calculated to impress the importance of these measures and to teach the plainest and simplest rules for securing their success. If we rightly read the signs of the times, public attention is already awakening upon this subject, and we should lead this question, and not wait to be driven by it, in whatever measures may appear necessary for the promotion of this object.

THE LATE DR. CHARLES MOREHEAD, C.I.E.—This distinguished member of the medical service of India died at Wilton Castle, Redcar, Yorkshire, on August 24, in the 75th year of his age. Dr. Morehead was the second son of the late Rev. Robert Morehead, D.D., Rector of Easington, Yorkshire, who for many years before had been the incumbent of one of the largest episcopal churches in Edinburgh, where the subject of this notice was born and educated. Charles Morehead was from boyhood an earnest student. After receiving an excellent general education, he began his medical studies in the University of Edinburgh, where he soon distinguished himself in every branch of science. From an early period of his career he attracted the attention of Professor Alison by his zeal in the prosecution of clinical medicine, and to the end of his university career was a favourite pupil of that much-loved physician, whose clinical clerk he became. Having taken his degree, Dr. Morehead proceeded to Paris, and for more than a year pursued his clinical studies under Louis, keeping up intimate intercourse with that great physician until his death. In 1829 he entered the Bombay medical service, and after the usual probationary course served on the personal staff of Sir Robert Grant, Governor of Bombay. From an early part of his career Dr. Morehead was a contributor to the Transactions of the Medical and Physical Society of Bombay, of which he became president in 1837—a position he retained until the year 1859. On the death of Sir Robert Grant in 1838 Dr. Morehead was appointed to the European and native general hospitals of Bombay, and in 1845 became the first principal in the Grant Medical College, and Professor of Medicine in that institution. On the establishment of the Board of Native Education in 1840, he was appointed secretary to the board, an office he held for five years. Dr. Morehead continued to hold his position as principal of the Grant Medical College and physician to the Jamsetjee Jejeebhoy Hospital until 1859, when he returned to Europe, and finally retired from the service in June, 1862. He was appointed honorary surgeon to the Queen in 1861, and, somewhat late in the day, his eminent services to the State were recognised by his being created a Companion of the Indian Empire. The work by which Dr. Morehead was best known in Europe was his "Researches on the Diseases of India," a work of rare merit, built on the sure foundation of careful clinical experience. From his youth upwards he was a painstaking case-taker. Trained, as we have seen, in clinical studies by such great diagnostic physicians as Alison and Louis, he was facile princeps in this difficult part of the physician's art, and not in tropical disease only, but also in cardiac and pulmonary affections; he could always in this particular hold his own in consultation with physicians in any part of the world. As a teacher Dr. Morehead will long be remembered in the school he may be said to have founded in Bombay. In the hospitals fortunate enough to have had him as leading physician, the diagnostic faculty of which we have spoken had an ample field for its exercise, of which his pupils had the benefit; to the service he gave his time, his great abilities, and his vast experience without stint or measure, and we cannot wonder that the native and Eurasian community of Bombay, to whose service he devoted his life, held him in high esteem, and will, now that he rests from his labours, cherish his memory as that of a friend to the best interests of their respective races. Whatever may be the future of the Medical Service of India, it has a past of which its surviving members may well be proud. In the long list of those who in India did honour to our profession, there are few names more deserving of fame than that of Charles Morehead.—Lancet, September 16.

OUR FIJI LETTER.

SUVA, Nov 2.

On the 1st of September the Planters' Association addressed the Governor, respectfully urging that the Imperial Government be asked to reconsider its refusal to sanction a loan in aid of labour immigration to Fiji, and on the 26th his Excellency wrote a minute in reply. He is of opinion that for many reasons Indian coolies are preferable to the so-called Polynesians, and therefore "such recommendations as he may have to make must be restricted to this kind of immigration;" in other words, if he recommend a loan, it must be for the introduction of coolies, and not for that of Polynesians. He is also of opinion that the small planters will not be successful, and consequently that "to aid the smaller plantations in obtaining Polynesians would only in very exceptional cases advance their prosperity, and would almost certainly involve the colony in serious loss." But, in the first place, practical business men hold a different opinion, asserting on the authority of their experience that if moderately cheap labour can be provided, the small planter may do excellently well; and in the second place, the Government is amply secured against loss on advances by the fact that all sums due on labour account are a first charge on the planter's estate. This consideration, however, has not much weight with Mr. Des Vœux, for he is not very hopeful as to our prospects, and he fears that landed estate here may not continue to be a valuable asset in the coming years. In short, he takes a pessimist's view of our affairs in general, and warns us that "losses will almost inevitably be incurred in a new colony where land is of uncertain value, and much of the agricultural enterprise is only in an experimental stage." Had these words been addressed to us some 12 or 14 years ago, they would have carried weight; but during those years we passed through the stage in which he supposes us now to be, and the sad experience of our mistakes, with their consequent losses, has taught us what sort of land and what kind of produce we can cultivate to advantage. His Excellency's dismal view of our prospects is founded not only on what he supposes to be our own disqualifications, but also, and perhaps chiefly, on his low estimate of Australia and New Zealand as markets for our wares. Like the majority of our countrymen at home, he has but a very inadequate notion of your magnificent resources, and of the energy and rapidity with which they are being developed. It would not be a bad training for a Governor of Fiji, fresh out from the old country, to give him a preliminary canter through Australia to show him what you have already accomplished and the progress you are making, and to point out to him that your markets cannot be overstocked by any possible increase in the most important articles of Fijian produce (such as sugar, coffee, &c.) until the increasing consumption, owing to the wonderful growth of your communities, be outstripped, and not even then until other less advantageously placed suppliers be driven from the field.

With regard to our planters, it is indeed true, as I pointed out in my last letter, that the apparent tendency is to the swallowing up of the small fry by the great fishes; but this is caused by the insufficient supply of the cheaper kind of labour, that is, of Polynesians or Fijians: most certainly it is not because planting on a small scale will not pay if such labour can be obtained. With such a supply there are several articles of produce which can be grown to advantage by men of small means; and these men are far more profitable, both to the revenue and to the local merchant, than the great companies, whose staff consists of a few white men with an army of coloured workmen under them. His Excellency's fear as to the future value of land on which advances made by the Government in the form of assisted labour supply would be secured, is a just one only where lands have been taken up which are unfit for cultivation, too difficult of access, or objectionable for other valid reasons. It used to be supposed that the entire group was of exceptional fertility, and that land anywhere within its limits would be a profitable acquisition; but those errors have long since been exploded, and all that is now required to make the Government safe in this matter is ordinary care in the selection of security for advances such as would be exercised by any business man who lends money on mortgage.

The outcome of the Governor's minute is in effect that large employers of labour are to be assisted by the Government, while the small planters are to be left to shift for themselves, because his Excellency thinks they will not be able to pay their way. It is comforting, however, to find one of our most substantial firms (Messrs. Henry Cave and Co.) backing the contrary opinion to the extent of offering to charter vessels for the introduction of Polynesians on terms by which "the small employer is placed on the same footing as the larger one," and to "afford every financial assistance to those requiring it." Business men, as a rule, don't do this sort of thing out of sheer philanthropy. They generally see their way to at least a moderate profit; and no one can blame us in this matter if we attach more weight to the merchant's practice than to the Governor's theory.

The Planters' Association has at length forwarded to the Colonial Secretary its reply to the Governor's minute on the treatment of plantation labourers noted in my last two letters, and it has done well in thus delaying its reply, for the minute was too important to be hastily dealt with. The association printed it in August, and sent copies with an accompanying circular to every planter in Fiji. The replies, which came in from all quarters, were laid before a general meeting of the association: a sub-committee was appointed to draw up an answer to the minute based on those communications, and the reply so framed was approved by a subsequent meeting of the general committee. Hence it may be taken as expressing the general consensus of the planters, and it is a document of which they have no cause to be ashamed. It appears in the Fiji Times of October 18. The association disavows most emphatically all sympathy with wrongdoing, acknowledges the necessity of strict supervision on the part of the Government, pledges itself to cordial co-operation with the inspectors, and respectfully asks for information as to the reports on which the allegations of the minute as to the "very general neglect of some of the most obviously required measures for the health and comfort of the immigrants" were based. But, since his Excellency has left the group in H.M.S. Diamond on a voyage to Samoa and the Ellice Islands in his capacity as Assistant High Commissioner, we may as well defer any further remarks upon the document until we hear what he says about it on his return.

The Land Claimants' Protection Association, formed for the purpose of bringing before the Home Government the manner in which land claims have been dealt with in Fiji, have written a letter to Sir Henry Holland, thanking him for calling attention in the House of Commons to their petition for further investigation of disallowed claims, and citing cases in support of their views. They have also forwarded a memorial to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, praying that they may be allowed an opportunity of replying to any denial by Sir Arthur Gordon of the statements contained in the petition. 'Tis a consummation devoutly to be wished, but it is not very likely that their request will be granted.

Notice is given by advertisement in our newspapers of an application by the Brush Electric Light and Power Company of Australasia for letters patent for improvements in electrical apparatus. What the company have in view here, or whether they have anything in view, we cannot tell; but if they are ready to give us the benefit of their improvements, there are ready for them here in Levuka two never-failing mountain streams with fall enough to turn any number of overshot wheels, and to grind out electricity sufficient, besides lighting the town, to work ten times the number of cotton gins, sawmills, &c., which now annoy us with their smoke and the abominable smell of their cotton-seed fuel.

In support of my statement in a former letter that there is a fair opening for a steamer running direct between Sydney and Levuka, take the fact that the Gunga carried away from this port on her last departure, in addition to her Suva loading, the following cargo:—3784 bunches bananas, 588 cases pineapples, 1065 mats sugar, 368 bags cocoanuts, 194 bales fibre, 166 bags peanuts, 97 bags copra, 76 bales cotton, 14 bags trepang, 10 bags coffee, and 19 cases sundries. Not only was she full to overflowing, but she could not take all we had ready for her, and was obliged to shut out some of the fruit which had been brought in for shipment. And this is only the beginning of things, for the fruit trade is capable of indefinite expansion, limited only by the bounds of your consumption; the sugar traffic is in its infancy; that of coffee can hardly be said to be yet begun; and, if Levuka have fair play, her central position will make her the depot for the most valuable parts of the group.

The announcement that Sir John Gorrie is to leave us by the next trip of the Gunga, to take the higher station of Chief Justice in the Leeward Islands, produces in us, somewhat to our astonishment, a frame of mind similar to that in which the elder Mr. Weller was found by the immortal Sam after the sharp-tongued landlady of the "Markis o' Granby" had been taken from him. "I was thinking, Sammy, that on the whole I was sorry she's gone," said the pensive widower as he smoked his pipe of consolation. He had suffered many things from her queer temper in the days gone by; and yet, when he came to think about it, there were good points in the departed Susan after all.

The Government has published in its Fijian newspaper "Na Mata" (The Herald), whose appearances are nearly as rare and as irregular as are those of our comets, a most interesting report on the vital statistics of the native race. It was compiled by the late Chief Native Commissioner, and it is a striking example at once of his painstaking industry and of his utterly unpractical turn of mind. The information he conveys is valuable in the highest degree, but his elaborate tables, with their rates per thousand to two places of decimals, are unintelligible to the natives for whose instruction, and in whose language, the report is printed. He might as well have inflicted upon them a treatise on the differential calculus. But I need say no more about it here, as an article upon it has already been sent to you for publication.

As a set-off against the terrible account run up by the South Sea massacres, we may be thankful to set the hospitable treatment of the crew and passengers of our labour vessel Rose by the natives of Apemana, who entertained them for 65 days after their being wrecked on that island, and then sent them to Fiji in the schooner Coronet, which had been bought by the Apemana people from Messrs. Henderson and M'Farlane. Sad to say, the Coronet, after leaving Suva for Levuka, ran on the Astrolabe reef during the night, and had to be immediately abandoned, as the sea was making a clean breach over her.

The old tale of gold discovery in Fiji is being heard again, and this time it seems to be taking form and substance. It is said that a ton of stone is now ready for shipment to Melbourne from a reef whence a sample was sent about six months ago for testing there, which yielded gold (so said Captain Garson, of the s.s. Suva) at the rate of 2oz. to the ton.

RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION in PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Some months ago we Presbyterians were informed through the press that the Rev. Henry Macready had obtained permission, by petitioning the presbytery of Sydney, to give religious instruction to the Presbyterian children attending the Crown-street Public school. I felt somewhat curious to know why a minister of full status in our Church should require to approach his presbytery for such permission, and sought information on the subject as I considered it an act of voluntary humiliation, but no reply has been given. However, in looking through the code (a little book of rules purporting to be a guide to the ministers of our Church in every department of duty), at page 24 I find rule 50 reads as follows:—

"Ministers do not, as a matter of professional ethics, preach or perform any other ministerial function within the limits (where such limits exist) of any other minister's charge without the consent of such minister. Ministers may not baptize the children of parents residing in another charge without a certificate from the session of that charge."

I think I discover in the above rule the reason why the cautious law-abiding minister of the Pitt-street church, wisely sought by petition permission to visit the Crown-street Public School.

Will the presbytery kindly define the limits of its settled charges so far as Public school visitation is concerned? They were asked some time ago to make a division of the schools among the ministers of settled charges. If they cannot agree on this simple matter, why not call in arbitrators. Many of our ministers appear to think they have far-extending territorial limits to their charges. We cannot indicate any site for a church in any suburb that will meet with general acceptance by the presbytery, simply because the interests of some settled charge are in danger. To my own knowledge the claims of Manly, Waverley, Randwick, and other places have been before the presbytery for years, and nothing has been done for them.

It is noteworthy that one of these suburbs had a site where a Denominational school was kept for a time, and the presbytery kindly made a present of it to one of its settled charges to square its limits.

I feel heartily glad the presbytery has given up all pretensions to Church extension work. Their convenor fought long and well, but almost alone. He did succeed in extending the Church, but only at the fag-end of the presbytery's bounds, where concentrated opposition was not to be expected.

I have no faith in presbyteries extending the Church in either cities or country.

A committee such as now exists (representing all the presbyteries of the Church) with power to receive and settle all ministers, should be quite competent for all Church extension work.

I know fears are entertained that a general agent at the head of powerful committees is dangerous to Presbyterianism; I have no fears on this score, our agent has done nobly for the past in raising settled charges to the common platform of equal dividends. He is worthy of all honour for what he has done; let him settle the men he has been instrumental in bringing out, and see that they do the work of evangelists, especially in Public schools, and all will go well.

I am, &c., DAVID BROWN.

HIGH SCHOOLS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—As one who has resided in an up-country town and felt how the shoe has pinched, I ask permission to say that I cannot consider "Orbilius" objections well grounded to the suggestions made by the Rev. F. B. Boyce. He has given no fair reason why High Schools should only be established in Goulburn, Bathurst, and Maitland, nor why the broader and more liberal principle of giving all towns equal rights is not preferable.

"Orbilius" objects to a minimum of 30 scholars instead of 50. The smaller number, however, would permit many important towns to have High Schools which could not at first get the larger number. We must be content with small beginnings. Small schools often grow into large ones. The minimum for a Public school is 20, and for a provisional school only 12, but who would argue that they should not be established, and that we should wait for them until the population had increased. The expense of a small grammar school would not be great to the Government, as the fees alone, if the same as in Sydney, of 30 boys at £3 3s. a quarter, would be £378 per annum. A small supplement to the master's salary and cost of rent would therefore only be required. Most of the masters in the Sydney Grammar School are University graduates. Omitting that of the head master, the salaries do not average £300 per annum, and it is therefore clear that good men can be obtained at such a figure as not to unduly burden the State. I would remark, further, that there is not a word in the Act implying that High Schools must be large schools.

The difficulty raised by "Orbilius," that one master could not properly conduct a school of 30 scholars is a purely imaginary one. Surely the graduate of any university would be competent to teach boys so far as to enable them to matriculate, and much further. I can admit that it would be better to have large well-graded classes; but fewer and smaller ones often produce capital results. Some of the best of the high class schools in England are those consisting of a small number of boys under a single master. Merely because large classes cannot be obtained is the State to neglect the tuition of smaller ones? Your correspondent also objects to boys of 10 years being admitted; but is it not a fact that some scholars of 10 and 11 years at the Sydney Grammar School are further advanced in some subjects than boys in the fifth classes of most Public schools? Have all boys the same ability? Why keep back clever boys? Or why impose a disability in the country not existing in Sydney?

Your correspondent asks how is it that in other towns besides those named private grammar schools have not already been established? I answer because of the impossibility of supporting them in most other centres without some Government assistance. The three new schools will not help hundreds of parents in important towns who cannot afford to send their children away as boarders. It is evident that to form the schools referred to the standard of the regulations will have to be materially reduced, and why, to say the least, should not other centres be allowed a similar concession? The clauses of the Act are comprehensive, but the administration has been a failure, and it will be unfortunate if any reform is not of a more liberal and progressive character than that proposed by the Department.

Next to Golden Grove and Underwood Estate the best land for money-making will be Goodsell's Estate, on the main Newtown-road, to be sold next Saturday. The Newtown Station of the Illawarra line is on the property, and the line is now being constructed right through the estate. Capital building land in a dense neighbourhood. Easier terms than Underwood Estate or Golden Grove, viz., 10 per cent. deposit, balance by nine quarterly payments at 6 per cent. Call for a plan and tram tickets. Hardie and Gorman.—[Advt.]

MAURITIUS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

PORT LOUIS, Oct. 3.

The Messageries Maritimes steamer Godavery, Captain Delpech, anchored in our harbour on the 17th ultimo, one day later than her regulation time, with telegraphic intelligence to the 6th September.

The weather during the last month has been satisfactory, especially as regards the young canes, which have profited by late copious showers. On the other hand crushing has been checked to an extent, but the last few days have been followed by genial weather, thus allowing the mails to have a fair start again.

I regret to have to report the wreck of the fine new Clyde built steamer Clan Campbell, of 3000 tons register and 1250 h.p., commanded by Captain A. H. Brown. This unfortunate occurrence took place on the night of the 21st to the 22nd ultimo, during heavy rain and foggy weather. She ran ashore on the reefs off Bel Ombre Estate, on the S.E. side of the island, where she now lies hopelessly stranded. Every effort has been made to float her off, but without success. On the news being telegraphed to Port Louis the two powerful port steamers were immediately despatched with life saving apparatus and salvage gear to the scene of the disaster, where they worked for two days endeavouring to get her off. Her bows are in 8 feet of water, and her stern is in 19 feet. No particulars have come to hand of how the vessel ran on shore, as the captain is very reticent. No doubt all will come out when the official enquiry will be held. In the meantime the captain and crew have abandoned the vessel, and have been taken to Flat Island, where they are in strict quarantine owing to there being a case of smallpox on board the Clan Campbell. This latter circumstance has considerably complicated matters, as all those who have given assistance have been placed in quarantine. It has now been decided to tranship the cargo to coasters, which will be in strict quarantine.

Great anxiety is therefore felt at the present moment here for fear of the introduction of smallpox into the colony, for assuredly such a dire disease would spread rapidly with a population like ours. Since their arrival at Flat Island, a second man of the crew has been attacked with smallpox. The chief carpenter of the port department, who was sent to the wreck to render assistance, was drowned on the 27th ultimo; his body was recovered and buried at once.

On the 19th ultimo the boiler of the Bras Sejour (Raffray) Estate burst, killing 10 men and wounding many others. It was fortunate the accident took place at a time when there were not many present, otherwise the loss of life might have been very great. Up till now the number of victims amounts to 11 killed, but there are still some whose chances of recovery are small. It appears that the plates round the manhole had become so corroded as to be only 1-16th of an inch thick. The miracle was only how it had kept together so long.

Sir George Bowen, our Governor, is still absent enjoying himself at the German baths, where he has gone, he says, by the advice of his doctors. It is now quite evident that he will not return here, and that he will be replaced at the end of the year. Rumour—always rife on such occasions—says that the Governorship lies between Sir Anthony Musgrave, of Jamaica, and Sir William Jervois, of South Australia.

I am sorry to say that, through ill-health, Lady Barker, the amiable wife of our Lieutenant-Governor, leaves by this mail for England, via the Cape. This talented lady is too well known and appreciated here to leave without her loss in society being much felt.

An extensive fire broke out in Tron Fanfaron, Port Louis, on the 7th ultimo, and was not got under before six large houses were completely burnt. The properties were insured, but the inmates, all poor people, lost heavily—so much so that a subscription was at once set on foot by the Mayor, and a good sum realised.

The annual report of the Government Savings Bank, which was presented to the Council of Government at its last meeting, is a very satisfactory document in more ways than one. The following figures speak for themselves:—Year 1877, 11,741 depositors, 811,769rs. deposited; 1878, 12,400 depositors, 939,170rs. deposited; 1879, 12,784 depositors, 1011,554rs. deposited; 1880, 13,621 depositors, 967,471rs. deposited; 1881, 11,548 depositors, 1,063,288rs. deposited. If we are to judge of the state of the colony by the figures of last year, we must come to the conclusion that the colony is more prosperous than it has been for the last four years. The cost to Government of this bank amounted last year to 27,582rs. 89c.; but this must be looked upon as being very little, as such an institution should not be self-supporting. The object of a savings bank is to bring about an amelioration in the condition of the working classes by inculcating habits of thrift and order, and by inducing them to put by for a rainy day. Should, therefore, this desirable end be attained, the few thousands of rupees spent in such a useful institution can well be borne by the community. It is pleasing to note that children are nearly the largest class of depositors in the bank, having to their credit half a million of rupees, or within a few thousand rupees of the whole sum standing in the names of the agricultural class.

For the last fortnight we have had the most beautiful comet in the eastern sky that has been seen for many years. It is only visible for about an hour daily, from 4.15 to 5.20 a.m., as it is so near the sun.

THE ELECTION OF A BISHOP OF SYDNEY.

The following is the joint opinion of Mr. Gordon, Q.C., and Mr. Knox, upon the subject of the election of a Bishop of Sydney, given with particular reference to the joint opinion of Mr. Salomons, Mr. Owen, and Mr. Walker, published in the Herald recently. The opinion was obtained by the Standing Committee of the Diocese of Sydney:—

"We have carefully considered the various important questions to which our attention has been directed, and raised in the joint opinion of Mr. Salomons, Mr. Owen, and Mr. Walker, laid before us; and the following conclusions, at which we have arrived, will be found to embrace the result of that consideration, by way of answer to the questions raised:—1. That the practice of the Crown to appoint Bishops to colonial sees by letters patent must be taken to have ceased, and that it will be useless to make any application to the Crown to resume it in the case of the Diocese of Sydney. 2. That the Synod of the Diocese of Sydney, in passing the ordinance accepting and adopting the Determination No. 1 of the General Synod of 1881, and the ordinance to provide for the appointment of bishops 1882, has not done anything contrary to the Royal prerogative, or otherwise illegal; and that the passing of such Determination and Ordinance, and the action taken under them, will not work a disconnection of the Church in this colony from the Church at home. 3. That, for various reasons, it is highly desirable, if not absolutely necessary, that the person elected under the ordinance should be consecrated in England, by the Archbishop of Canterbury, under mandate from the Crown, as has been the recent practice with regard to colonial bishops, and that if such a course be adopted it is impossible that any objection can ever be raised on the ground of infringement of the Royal prerogative. 4. That a person so consecrated, coming to the colony, will be a bishop of the Church of England, with its full power to confer holy orders, consecrate churches, administer the right of confirmation, and discharge all other Episcopal functions of a like character in the diocese of Sydney, as if he had become Bishop of that diocese by letters patent. 5. That the acceptance by the clergy of licenses from such bishop, as Bishop of Sydney, will amount to a submission to and recognition of his episcopal status and diocesan authority; and that, with regard to the lay members of the Church, the bishop will be in precisely the same position as if he had been appointed by letters patent. 6. That no legislation further than to provide for the vesting or devolution of property and statutory rights and powers, similar in principle to what has already been applied to other dioceses, is necessary; and that such legislation should be carefully confined to the one matter of giving full effect as regards such property and rights to the past and future action of the Synod, taken under its ordinances with reference to the appointment of bishops. 7. Having regard to the nature of the subject with which we are called upon to deal, and the wide range of investigation involved in a due consideration of it, we have deemed it well to unite in stating the foregoing conclusions at which we have arrived, and also to append the accompanying separate statements, in which we have been able with greater freedom to show the grounds on which our joint opinion is based; and also to comment, so far as to each has seemed desirable, having regard to the work of the other upon the opinion laid before us for examination and remark."

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—Tuesday, November 21.

SITTINGS FOR CAUSES.

Banco Court.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice FAUCETT and a jury of four.)

HARVEY V. PRINCE.

Mr. Rogers, by Mr. Williamson, for plaintiff; Mr. Pilcher and Mr. Cohen, by Messrs. Jones and Jones, for defendant.

The hearing of this action, commenced yesterday, was resumed and concluded.

The plaintiff brought this action to recover damages for a breach of contract to accept and pay for 81 bales of hay, which the defendant on 16th November, 1880, authorised him to procure from Melbourne at the price of £5 per ton, with freight added. The plaintiff said that the hay ordered by the defendant was "oaten hay" simply. The plaintiff said that he ordered "prime oaten hay." The action had been previously tried on 21st June before Sir G. Innes, when the jury, disagreeing, were discharged.

The jury now, by a majority, returned a verdict for the plaintiff for the amount claimed, £74 15s. 1d.

M'DONALD V. WARREN.

Mr. Pilcher and Mr. Cohen, by Mr. Jones and Jones, appeared for the plaintiff. Mr. Armstrong and Mr. Rogers by Messrs. Want, Johnson, and Scarvell, for the defendant.

This was an action for trespass to plaintiff's run.

The hearing had not concluded when the Court rose.

Jury Court.—(Before his Honor Sir GEORGE INNES and a jury of four.)

STEPHEN V. DOYLE.

This was an action by the official assignee of one Sheehy against Doyle.

Mr. Stephen, Q.C., and Mr. C. B. Stephen, by Messrs. Gannon and M'Laughlin, for plaintiff; Mr. Manning, by Messrs. Jones and Jones, for defendant.

The hearing had not concluded when the Court rose.

INSOLVENCY COURT.—Tuesday.

(Before the CHIEF COMMISSIONER.)

CERTIFICATE APPLICATIONS.

His Honor directed that a certificate of conformity should be issued to Frank James Bouffier on payment of Court charges and expenses.

In the matter of William Gallant. This application was adjourned until March next, and insolvent was directed to comply with the order previously made by the 21st January next.

In the matter of Thomas Matthews. This application was also adjourned until March next, and insolvent was directed to comply with the order previously made by the 28th February.

In the matter of Michael Lucy. Insolvent was directed to verify and file better particulars of disbursements, and also to state when bill of sale or mortgage was executed, what the consideration was, and whether the creditors named in the schedule were then his creditors. The meeting was then adjourned to the third Tuesday in February.

The following applications were also adjourned: viz., James M'Gregor and John Kirkpatrick (28th instant), William Church (fourth Tuesday in March), Joseph Fogg (5th December), Patrick M'Mahon (third Tuesday in February), and Thomas Woolley (fourth Tuesday in March.

The respective applications of Hugh Dobbin and David A. Munro were struck out, the notices being insufficient.

SURRENDER.

Joseph Carter, of Goulburn, engineer. Liabilities, £148 1s. 5d. Assets, £20. Mr. Stephen, official assignee.

SCHEDULE FILED.

Charles Tozer Smith, of Greer's Flat, Queanbeyan. Liabilities, £54 4s. 4d. Assets, £5.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT.—Tuesday.

(Before Mr. District Court Judge DOWLING.)

JOSEPH V. BUER.

In this case Joseph and Co. sued J. B. Buer and Co. for £15 for half commission on the sale of the Patent Slip Hotel, and obtained a verdict for the amount claimed.

CLARKE V. TIGHE.

In this case Thomas Clarke sued Margaret Tighe for £15 12s. 10d. for a balance on a butcher's account, and obtained a verdict for the amount claimed.

TATE V. DEACON.

In this case John Tate sued C. J. Deacon for £19 1s. 4d. for goods and labour in connection with a building contract, and obtained a verdict for £5, with costs.

DRUMMOND V. WHITTLE.

In this case Peter Drummond sued Thomas Whittle for breach of agreement, the plaintiff being, as he said, engaged by defendant as an architect. The case was heard on a previous day, and his Honor now gave a verdict for defendant.

DOWNING V. TIBBETT.

In this case Jane M. Downing and William T. A. Shorter sued Walter H. Tibbett for £25 for damage done by defendant to a house he rented from them. Plaintiffs obtained a verdict for £4 10s., in addition to 10s. paid into Court.

COHEN V. WALSH.

In this case Isaiah R. Cohen sued Alice Walsh for £10 10s. for the detention of household furniture, which he claimed as his property under a lease. He obtained a verdict for £4 10s., with costs

POLICE.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

Mr. Dillon, S.M., presided on the bench in the Charge Court yesterday.

Nineteen cases of drunkenness were dealt with.

Kate Freeman, on a charge of having been drunk, was fined 20s., or in default imprisonment for seven days, and on a charge of having used obscene language in Pitt-street was fined 40s., or in default imprisonment for 14 days, in addition to the previous term.

Bridget Halstead, charged with having no visible lawful means of support, was sent to gaol for three months.

Sarah M'Anally, on a charge of having been drunk in Sussex-street, was fined 20s., or in default imprisonment for 7 days, and on a second charge of having used indecent language in Kent-street was fined 40s., or in default imprisonment for 14 days, in addition to previous sentence.

Eliza Simmons, on a charge of having been drunk in Castlereagh-street, was fined 20s., or in default imprisonment for seven days, and on a second charge of having used obscene language in Park-street was fined 40s., or in default imprisonment for 14 days, in addition to previous sentence.

Mary M'Dermott pleaded guilty to a charge of having used obscene language, and was fined 60s., or in default was ordered to be imprisoned for one month.

LICENSING COURT.

Messrs. Dillon (chairman), Crane, and Clarke presided on the Bench yesterday.

The following transfers were granted:—From Ellen Clery, Lord Clyde Hotel, Pyrmont, to James E. Cowling; from William Davis, Queen's Arms Hotel, to Joseph A. Flower; from R. M'Donnell, Garden Palace Hotel, Marrickville, to George C. Dickson; from Catherine Cullen, executrix, Hit or Miss Hotel, Denham-street, to Catherine Cullen; from James Pitts, Cross Keys Hotel, East-street, to Anne Dunn; from Simeon Gazzaro, Royal Oak Hotel, Rookwood, to J. O'Connell.

Music permits were granted to Mary Beatson, Commercial Hotel, Penrith, for the evening of the 4th December; and to Alfred Goodwin, Highbury Hotel, Botany, for the evening of November 21.

Further extensions of time for building purposes were granted to Thomas Swadling, Friendship Inn, Sussex-street; John Davis, Eveleigh Hotel, Abercrombie-street; William Moore, Native Rose, Botany-road; Samuel Ryall, Darling Point Hotel; Peter Esqueson, Old Australian Hotel; Rebecca Foss, Oxford Hotel.

James Brady pleaded guilty to a charge of having partaken of liquor in a licensed house at a prohibited hour. He said he had been unaware of the time. A fine of 10s., with costs 5s. 6d., was inflicted, or in default imprisonment for 48 hours.

Edmond Port pleaded guilty to a charge of having permitted liquor to be sold in his licensed house to others than travellers and lodgers. He was fined £3, with costs 5s. 6d., or in default imprisonment for one month.

Francis M'Carthy was charged with having, at his licensed premises, the Millwrights' Arms, on the 15th October, Sunday, permitted two men, not lodgers nor bona-fide travellers, to be supplied with drink. From the evidence of the police it appeared that on the day in question two men were seen going into the defendant's premises by the back entrance. Two constables presented themselves, and asked to be admitted, and the defendant, not recognising them as such, let them in. In the hotel they found two men drinking beer. Mr. Coonan appeared on behalf of the defendant. Mrs. M'Carthy deposed that the two constables, Barnes and Roach, had gone to her hotel and had begged her to give them two drinks; they were disguised in workmen's clothes; two men came in afterwards, and having served the policemen with drink, she could not refuse to also serve them. The policemen then made themselves known. Mr. Dillon said that a prosecution for perjury should be brought by either one side or the other. False swearing in these cases was becoming scandalously common. Sub-inspector Mackay said he would prosecute if the false evidence had been material to the issue. A fine of £3, with costs, was inflicted.

J. J. Brooker was charged with having, at his hotel, the Sir William Wallace, on 29th October, at Newtown, unreasonably delayed to admit the police upon their application for admission. Mr. Slattery appeared on behalf of the defendant. Sergeant Macnamara deposed that on the day in question—a Sunday—he saw several men come out of the hotel and go into it, and on making, in company with Constable Farley, application to be admitted, he was delayed about two minutes before he was admitted. The defence was that no unreasonable delay was made. The defendant was fined £2 with costs.

WATER POLICE COURT.

Messrs. Marsh and Buchanan, S.Ms., sat at the Water Police Court yesterday. A number of minor cases were dealt with.

Charles Anderson, charged with stealing two foxhound puppies, of the value of £5, the property of George Waterhouse, was ordered to forfeit £5, and was fined £10, or in default one month's imprisonment. The dogs were taken from Mr. Waterhouse's yard, but were recovered before they had grown so much as to be unrecognizable.

John Edmonds was fined £2, with £1 6s. 10d. costs, or in default 14 days' imprisonment, for assaulting Richard Kipper, and James Salmon was similarly fined for assaulting Henry Pitt, the latter offence being committed at Hawkes's livery stable.

MURDER.

Thomas Smith, a slight, dark sailor, was charged on remand, at the Water Police Court, before Mr. Marsh, S.M., yesterday afternoon, with having wilfully murdered one Philip Rolls, master of the British ship Annie C. Lynn, at Blanche Bay, New Britain, on or about the 27th February, 1882. It is now 24 weeks since the prisoner was first charged, numerous remands having been rendered necessary by the difficulty of securing the attendance of important witnesses. Mr. Williams, the Crown Solicitor, conducted the case for the prosecution, the prisoner being undefended. John Crossley, chief officer of the Annie C. Lynn, stated that prisoner had been cook and steward on board the schooner; about 8 o'clock on the evening of the 27th February the captain came on board, either from shore or from the vessel Dancing Wave, which was lying not far away; he came into the cabin and told the witness to call the prisoner at once to clear away certain tea things; the prisoner was lying on top of the cabin, and when the order was communicated to him said, "All right, I will be there in a minute;" he told the captain this, and the latter said, "I will go and ask him myself;" the captain went to him, and the witness heard the prisoner say, "You can go to ——," whereupon the two men closed and struggled, and the witness parted them; the captain took him by the arm and told him not to interfere, for though he was an old man of 50, he was able to thrash the prisoner; they then closed and again fell, and the captain kicked the steward and told him to get up and clear the things away; the captain then ordered the witness to put the prisoner in irons, and he did this, and left him handcuffed on top of the cabin; at 10 minutes past 10 the captain told the witness to go below and he would take the watch; as he went below he heard the captain say to the prisoner "I will punish you for this when we get to Sydney;" the witness went to make an entry in the log-book of what had transpired, and the captain was then standing almost directly in the scuttle; he heard a shot fired, which appeared to come from the cabin, and saw the captain turn round, put his hands to his head, and stagger; the witness caught him, and then a second shot was fired, which came down the scuttle and struck the witness on the third toe of his right foot; he looked up and saw the prisoner standing on the front of the scuttle with a revolver in his two hands, he being still handcuffed; the witness called to the boatswain to get his revolver, and then went to his bunk for his own, whereupon the prisoner called out, "I am satisfied; I am finished;" the witness said, "Give up your revolver," and he answered, "Come and take it;" he then gave it up; two chambers had been fired, and three were still loaded; the witness sent for Captain Lemon, of the Dancing Wave, which vessel was lying-to, about half a mile away; Captain Rolls was then dead, he having never spoken after the first shot; the prisoner asked if he had shot the witness, and when the latter said "Yes," answered that he was sorry for that, as he did not intend to shoot the witness; the prisoner was sober at the time, but he had been drinking; he was handed over to Captain Lemon, to be taken to Sydney. Donald Dow, able seaman, stated that he had been acting as boatswain on the Annie C. Lynn, and that on the 27th of February, when he came on board, he found the prisoner in irons; he was on top of the cabin, and asked the witness for a drink of water; the captain was then on deck; the first water the witness gave the prisoner he threw in the captain's face, and then by the captain's order the witness gave the prisoner another pannikin of water; the prisoner called the captain an offensive name, and the witness and the captain then went into the cabin and had a glass of grog together; the captain got up from alongside him, and then a shot was fired from the deck which hit the captain on the chest; he put his hands to the wound and then fell down dead; a second shot was then fired, which hit the mate on the toe; the prisoner was standing on the opening to the hatch with a revolver in his hands; the mate told him he had shot the captain, and he said he supposed he would have to swing for it; the prisoner was taken on board the Dancing Wave, and given in charge to Captain Lemon. Captain John Lemon, master of the Dancing Wave, stated that the prisoner told him he had shot the son of a ——, and he supposed he would have to swing for it. John Bergan, seaman on the Annie C. Lynn, stated that on the 27th February he saw a fight between the captain and the prisoner on deck; the prisoner was lying drunk on the main hatch, when the captain came on board and told him to clear the cabin table; the prisoner jumped up and struck the captain and called him an offensive name; they closed, and the captain knocked the prisoner down on deck and kicked him; the captain then put him in irons and left him on top of the cabin; the captain then went into the cabin, and the witness went and signed his name to the log, and saw nothing more of the affair until he saw the captain dead. The prisoner, who reserved his defence, was committed to take his trial at the next gaol delivery, which will take place in February next.

NEWTOWN POLICE COURT.

At the Newtown Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Crane, S.M., John Thomas, aged 17, for having a quantity of lead in his possession reasonably supposed to be stolen, was sent to gaol for one month. Several cases of drunkenness and disorderly conduct were disposed of, and two cases under the Vagrant Act were postponed till Thursday.

THE CONSERVATION OF WATER.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—When I learned from the Herald that the Queensland Government hydraulic engineer had been in South Australia taking notes re the implements recently imported for the construction of works for the conservation of water, it struck me that it would be better for the Queensland Government to first ascertain by survey the extent of the subterranean water wealth they possess before attempting anything in the shape of costly dams, &c. And I need not say I am pleased to find that the writer of your sub-leader in to-day's issue is of opinion that "the days of tanks and reservoirs are going fast, if they have not already gone." When, and not till then, it has been found that "sunless seas" and "silver streaks" of vast extent do not exist in the prairies of the inland districts of this continent, then there would be an excuse for trying to use such redolent rivulets as the Macquarie, Lachlan, and others of the kind for domestic purposes. Without doubt "a reservoir is but a temporary measure, the discovery of a copious spring is a permanent blessing, and with a proper use of the diamond drill we may very soon have adequate supplies in localities where they are most required." There are districts in this colony where immense stores of pure water exist in the tertiary drifts alone. Dubbo is one that is well-known to me, where there are thousands of million gallons within about 40 feet of the surface, extending over an area of from 8 to 10 square miles, and yet it is contemplated to supply the town with water (!) from the main sewer called Macquarie River, where for one-half of the year the essence of dead sheep, cattle, as well as vegetable matter, &c., is met with, ad nauseam, at a cost of close on £20,000, while an abundant supply could be procured from the former for about £6000.

The fact observed by Mr. Russell, the Government Astronomer, that of the whole of the drainage of upwards of 110,000 square miles of the Darling basin not more than one-eightieth part of the rainfall on this large area passed down the river in 1880, ought to be sufficient to warrant the fullest inquiry by careful survey as to where the supposed vast natural reservoir, or reservoirs, protected from all evaporation exist.

Private enterprise has been and is doing a good deal, particularly between Dubbo and Bourke, in respect of well sinking, and with deserved success, but many such valuable surveys and reports as that of Mr. H. Y. L. Brown on the artesian water resources of the Albert Goldfield are greatly needed.

Greatly favoured as New South Wales is, if I judge rightly from the information I am possessed of, Queensland is in a much better position as to extent of subterranean stores of water, as well as mineral.

The employment of at least half-a-dozen more geological surveyors in each of the colonies of Queensland, New South Wales, South Australia, and even Western Australia, first to ascertain the extent of their respective aqua reservoirs, is essential to the speedy development of the latter.

I am, &c., JOHN USHER.

THE AUSTRAL DISASTER.

The preliminary work in connection with the raising of the Austral is being pushed forward with the utmost energy, but the arrangements are not yet in a sufficiently advanced state to allow of any opinion being expressed as to the time when the work of pumping will be commenced. It has been found necessary to make some alterations with respect to the operations of the divers, whose numbers have been reinforced. There are now 15 divers employed, and it has been found more convenient to have all working at the same time. And to expedite as much as possible the work of closing the ventilators and ports, it has been arranged that the divers shall work from eight to nine hours daily. This plan is more advantageous than that of employing the divers in two shifts. In addition to closing the portholes and other apertures in the vessel, the men have been employed at getting out the piano, which was seen floating near the skylight on Sunday. The piano was removed on Monday, and then hauled up. It is hardly necessary to say that the salt water had played such havoc with the internal mechanism of the piano as to render it utterly valueless. The divers have also brought up some of the drawing-room furniture, and that, too, has suffered to a very serious extent from submersion in saltwater. Considerable progress has been made with the erection of staging for the pumps. The erecting of staging on the forepart of the vessel is nearly completed. Additional pumping apparatus as well as three complete sets of diving appliances arrived yesterday.

Three more correspondents have sent in suggestions with regard to the raising of the Austral. One proposes that a series of piles be driven into the clay bottom on each side, these piles to be capped with staging on which crab winches might be worked; chains to be passed under the keel, and the raising power brought to bear in as many directions as possible. Another plan put forward is to construct bulwarks all round the vessel to a height of two feet above water level, have the lower deck made tight, and pump the lower hold dry. The third suggestion is that a watertight dock be constructed of piles and planking all round the vessel, and both dock and ship pumped dry, and that the water be then readmitted so as to float her.

The inquest in connection with the Austral disaster was concluded yesterday by the City Coroner at his office.

George Skelton Yuill, general manager for the Orient Company in Sydney, deposed, in answer to the jury: I am not a shareholder in the Orient Company; I have complete control over the ships and other property belonging to the company here; the captains of the different vessels must attend to any instructions given them by me; I was not informed of the fact that the Austral took a list at Circular Quay on the occasion of her first visit to this port; it was reported to me that the vessel listed at Circular Quay on this occasion; no damage was reported to me as having occurred then; I did not take any precautions after I heard that she had taken a list to prevent her repeating it; I took it for granted that the ship was perfectly stanch, and as she had plenty of skilled officers on board that she was safe enough to lie in the stream; all alterations proposed in connection with the vessels in this port would be submitted for my approval before being carried out; I considered it perfectly safe to coal through the Austral's ports, more especially as it had been done so frequently before.

This concluded the evidence.

The Coroner then summed up as follows:—Gentlemen of the jury,—Of course you are aware of the fact that this is an inquiry into the deaths of five men—viz., John James Perkins, Thomas Alexander, and three Arabs; and it is for you to consider how and by what means they came by their deaths. On these points you will have very little difficulty in coming to a decision. You have evidence that they were drowned on the morning of the 11th instant, through the sinking of the steamship Austral in Neutral Bay. The next question now arises: Was the accident attributable to neglect on the part of Captain Murdoch, the chief officer of the vessel, or any one else? Was there any criminality on the part of the officers? If the evidence points to carelessness or negligence, it will be your duty to return a verdict of manslaughter, either against the officers or against the person whom you think is to blame for the disaster. I may at once tell you that an error in judgment will not constitute manslaughter. Hence if you consider that wrong opinion has been formed with regard to the stability of the ship you cannot bring in a verdict of manslaughter against any one. But as I said before if negligence has to your mind been shown, then you will bring in such a verdict against the officers or the persons you deem responsible for the accident. There is no reason for doubting that the deaths of the men were caused by the going down of the ship. The question is what caused the vessel to sink? I don't suppose that the jury will think that the placing of 120 tons on board on the night previous to the accident would have affected her stability. You have the evidence of Mr. Carlson and two or three trimmers that that was the real quantity of coal placed in the vessel that night. Captain Murdoch and others have told you that the Austral was as nearly upright as possible, till 2 o'clock on the Saturday morning. There were 2700 tons of dead weight in the bottom of the ship, and she could have heeled over considerably, and probably not have sunk, had her coaling ports been closed, because she could not have then taken in water. Had the captain any reason to fear that the ship would take another list, and did he think he could notwithstanding leave the ports open with safety? When Captain Murdoch went on board the vessel shortly before midnight on the Friday, the ports were open. The weather was perfectly calm, and the sea smooth, and he had no reason according to his evidence to apprehend any danger. If you reject the hypothesis that a few tons of coal were sufficient to cause a heavy list, and to bring the vessel's ports which were previously 4 feet above the water down to the water level, then you have no evidence whatever to show what caused the accident. It is very strange that she should have listed on another occasion at Circular Quay. This rather suggests that something else was defective in regard to the stability of the ship. Would it be possible that the removal of her water ballast at the time that she had 2700 tons of dead weight on board, including machinery, &c., would have affected her stability? It may have caused her to list or have given her a tendency to oscillate from one side to the other, but nevertheless you have no direct evidence to show what was the cause of the ship going over. You have heard it stated by some witnesses that she was lying on an even keel with the dead weight above mentioned on board, and that she lurched and subsequently fell over. Could the accident by a display of ordinary care and attention have been prevented? If Captain Murdoch and the chief officer knew that it was hazardous to leave the ship lying with her ports open, and they did so notwithstanding, then they were guilty of negligence, and that negligence would amount to manslaughter. But they have both told you in evidence that they considered the vessel was perfectly safe and they could leave her with her ports open with perfect impunity. It was probably nothing more than an error in their judgment. I don't say that it really was, but subsequent evidence pointed to the conclusion that it was. A quantity of evidence has been taken and do you think yourselves that you have heard anything to lead you to believe what was the immediate cause of the disaster? It may have arisen from a defect in the construction of the ship of which you have no knowledge, and at a certain draught of water that defect might have given her a tendency to move from side to side. Dead weight amounting to 2700 tons is not a small quantity of ballast for a ship possessing the same tonnage as the Austral, and sufficient stability should have been given her by that weight. If the coals were trimmed properly it could not have affected her balance. It would tend no doubt to take her down bodily, but not to give her a list and cause her to fall over. Was it an accident, then, or were the officers responsible for it? I need not review the whole of the evidence. The first issue for your determination is, by what means the men came by their deaths? The second is whether death was caused through negligence or carelessness on the part of the officers?

The jury retired shortly before 11. At half-past 12 having been unable to agree, they were locked up till 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

At a quarter to 3 the jury sent for the Coroner, and the foreman stated that there was no possibility of their agreeing on a verdict. The Coroner said he did not feel justified in discharging them before they had taken more time for deliberation, and they were accordingly locked up till half-past 4. At that hour the matter appeared as far from settlement as ever, but a quarter of an hour later the jury sent word to the coroner that they had agreed, and returned a verdict that the captain and officers had been guilty of gross negligence. The Coroner pointed out that such a verdict was tantamount to one of manslaughter, and he could not accept it until the officers alluded to were specified. The jury thereupon withdrew the verdict, and took another half an hour to deliberate, but being still unable to agree, they were once more locked up till 9 o'clock. They then returned the following verdict:—"We find that John James Perkins, Thomas Alexander, Ali Hassan, Saleh Mahomet, and Salim Mahomet, on the morning of Saturday, the 11th day of November, 1882, on board of the Orient Company's steamship Austral, in the waters of Neutral Bay, Port Jackson, died from suffocation by drowning, the said ship, at the date mentioned, having sunk at her moorings in Neutral Bay, the said deceased persons being then and there on board of her; and we are of opinion that the captain, his chief officer, chief engineer, and carpenter committed grave errors of judgment in not taking better precautions for the safety of the said ship."

The jury was then dismissed, the Coroner intimating that he had made a recommendation to the Minister for Justice that they should be allowed a fee of one guinea per day for attendance.

MARINE DISASTERS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I have carefully read the reports given in your excellent paper of the inquiry held before the Marine Board of Sydney into the cause of the stranding of the ship Northampton; and now the decision is given I do not think it out of place to ask the question why the officers' certificates should not be dealt with in cases like these as well as the masters'. They (the officers) may apparently act as they like, both before and after a disaster; but the slightest error in judgment on the part of the master is visited with a heavy penalty. One of the most eminent shipbrokers in the city of London, and I believe now the managing owner of large steamers trading to this port, once said to the writer of this letter (on appointing him as chief officer to a splendid passenger ship), "Mr. ——, we put as much confidence in the chief officer of a ship as we do in the captain, in proportion to their respective stations."

Why do not courts of inquiry exact a like amount of responsibility in ratio from officers as well as masters, and "expect every man (at all events, holding a Board of Trade certificate) to do his duty"?

THE NEW LAND BILL.—I. MR. GARRETT'S AMENDMENTS.

Although the "New Land Bill" has met with the ignominious collapse which every student of the history of land legislation in this colony hoped it would meet with, it is perhaps desirable, in continuin my remarks on the subject, to adhere to the original title under which I commenced this series of papers—the more especially as Mr. Garrett's proposed amendments on it, and the new clauses which he proposed to add to it, fully enunciate the acknowledged policy of the Opposition in dealing with our Crown lands; and whatever may be the result of the present defeat of the Government—whether their retirement from office or their appeal to the country on the principles laid down by them—it is obvious that any fresh attempt at land legislation must of necessity differ very materially from that embodied in the bill which has so suddenly deprived Parliament of its confidence in the present Ministry; and it therefore naturally follows that the principle propounded by the leaders of those who voted against the second reading will come in for a very large share of public attention during the time that must elapse before the present political agitation subsides, and the duties of Parliament resume their wonted placidity.

The many friends, and the strong personal following which Sir John Robertson possesses, and always has possessed since the early days in which he first brought his young and vigorous intellect into the arena of party politi at the birth of responsible government in this country, will doubtless make the struggle even now a long and bitter one before he yields up that cherished principle—selection before survey—which, in his early manhood, won a great name for him, because it successfully attacked the monopoly which fixity of tenure had given to the squatters, and threw the Crown lands of the colony open to an indiscriminate scramble amongst the people.

The measure for which he fought so bravely was a powerful reaction on the leasehold monopoly which had previously existed: and however well it may have suited the circumstances of the country then, he either cannot or will not see that those circumstances are altogether changed, and that the measure which he carried with so much heroism in 1861 is reacting upon itself now with a power that must shake the future welfare and prosperity of our country to its very foundations.

Old as he is—grey as he has grown in his single-hearted devotion to the land of his adoption—he still retains that indomitable pluck, perseverance, and energy which lent so much zest and vigour to all the undertakings of his early career, and however much we may differ from him in the direction of his present efforts, there are few indeed who can withhold a tribute of homage and respect to the faithful earnestnestness with which he has stuck so steadfastly throughout to the principle he laid down at the commencement of his political life. But while that earnestness of purpose commands our admiration, it also awakens us to the necessity of closely scrutinising every proposed amendment, and becoming acquainted with its possible bearing on the settlement of the people, so that if possible we may prevent a recurrence of those evils which have followed us under the Act likely so soon to be replaced.

Whilst the 13th clause of the proposed bill provides for the selection of Crown lands in a manner very similar to that now prevailing under the well-known 13th clause of the Act of 1861—namely selection under uniform conditions over the whole colony—Mr. Garrett proposes to alter the effect of the clause in its essential particular in this way: that the lands shall be open to selection in blocks of, "in the first-class districts, not less than 40 nor more than 640 acres; and in the second-class districts not less than 40 nor more than 2560 acres, and in the third-class districts not less than 40 nor more than 5120 acres.

This at once affirms a system of classification against which Sir John Robertson has always set his face, and which is fully provided for in the first of the new clauses Mr. Garrett proposes to add to the bill, by which the first-class districts shall be comprised in "the counties embraced in the districts known as the settled districts and the pastoral districts of Macleay and Clarence, and the counties of Auckland and Dampier in the pastoral district of Monaro."

This practically embraces all the territory lying between the Great Dividing Range and the Pacific Ocean—generally known as the coal districts; and which while containing large tracts of probably the best agricultural land in the world, undoubtedly also contains a large proportion of the most barren, sterile, and inaccessible country to be found in the colony—as for example, much of the land in the county of Cumberland—the whole value of which is imparted to it by its proximity to the metropolis and other centres of population, which from physical causes can never be formed in most of the other portions of the proposed first-class district, owing to the great want of navigable rivers or safe harbours along our coast line. Yet, by Mr. Garrett's proposal, the whole of this heterogeneous mass of land is to be treated as though it were all of the same quality, and worked under the same conditions throughout—the fortunate selector of the rich and prolific brush land to have the same area and privileges as the unhappy wretch who through ignorance or force of circumstances gets jammed up in some of these mountain nooks, in which, unable to obtain a sufficiency of land on which to live honestly, he will be driven to those "harness cask and bullet mould" practices in the denunciation of which one of the brightest and most promising of our young legislators once inconsiderately slandered the whole free-selecting community, and thus blasted his own future political career.

"The second class districts shall be comprised within the following districts, viz.: The pastoral districts of New England, Gwydir, Liverpool Plains, Bligh, Wellington, the Lachlan, the Murrumbidgee, and the counties of Cowley, Beresford, Wallace, and Wellesley, in the pastoral district of Monaro."

These districts embrace areas that may truly be called the granary of the colony, much of it on the high plateaux, on which there is a large and comparatively uniform rainfall, rendering the seasons suitable for the profitable prosecution of agricultural pursuits. Yet here Mr. Garrett proposes to allow the indiscriminate selection of areas up to 2560 acres—an area altogether beyond agricultural requirements, and which, if allowed, will place it in the hands of one or two proprietors to make or mar the industrial progress of a whole district, which from the nature of the land would be profitably and well employed if placed in the hands of a large number of small proprietors, who, by congregating in one locality, with the same common pursuit, would combine in its intelligent development, while they would obtain in their midst machinery for reducing their produce to a marketable state, and schools for the education of their children, both of which must be denied them if they are scattered indiscriminately over large areas, which this provision would have the effect of doing.

In the great Western plains, embracing "The Warrego, the Albert, and the Darling pastoral districts," comprising the proposed third-class districts, and containing an area of more than 150,000 square miles, the same variety of soil, timber, and capabilities exists, with this one difference, however, that being devoid of any mountain elevations the rainfall is reduced to a minimum while it is at the same time uncertain, thus rendering the whole country liable to protracted droughts and making its seasons most precarious, Yet, according to Mr. Garrett's suggestions, comparatively small holders will be settled on this description of country, bound to remain there for seven years and be starved out in the alternating periods of fertility and sterility which accompany the fluctuating water supply.

In providing for non-residentiary selections under the 26th clause, Sir John Robertson made a very great concession — one that would have met with very general approval, if it had not been surrounded with so many severe restrictions as Sir John placed about it. But, instead of making this clause more practicable so that town residents would be enabled to obtain a share of the public estate, Mr. Garrett proposes to omit the clause altogether; and while he practically abolishes auction sales, he prevents such persons entirely from obtaining any land, except through the hands of a second party, who purchased in the first instance from the Crown.

The next important alteration proposed is the reduction of the deposit on conditional purchases from 5s. to 2s. per acre. Under the 30th clause of the bill, at the expiry of three years, the conditional purchaser was required to commence payment of annual instalments of 1s. per acre, which includes interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum; and by the 31st clause, at the expiry of five years from date of purchase the purchaser had to make a second declaration as to residence similar to that required at the expiry of the three years, and of course continue the payment of the annual instalments and interest.

Mr. Garrett's amendments on this require close consideration to enable a thorough understanding of what is meant by them. He deals only with the 31st clause, and provides alterations in that clause which have the effect of increasing the annual instalments to 1s. 3d., to be paid for 15 years, without interest, when the purchase will be complete.

As he does not touch upon the 30th clause of the bill, he probably intends to make two kinds of payment, or rather three kinds:—First, the payment of a deposit of 2s.; second, at the expiry of three years, two annual instalments of 1s.; and third, at the expiry of five years annual instalments of 1s. 3d. for 15 years. This would make the total payment amount to £1 2s. 9d. per acre, and complete the purchase in 20 years.

Although Mr. Stuart did not enter into details of the manner in which he proposed to pay the intermediate instalments, his suggestion is to make the final payment in 21 years.

There is, however, another most important construction which may be put upon Mr. Garrett's proposal in this matter, and which, I think, would be well to reason right out to the end before going further, as it occurs to me that his provision will lead to as much complication, uncertainty, and confusion as his famous 31st clause in the Act of 1875 did.

It is evidently intended throughout the whole bill that the upset price generally of conditional purchases shall be £1 per acre; but as in some cases it might be higher, there is a provision to meet it in making the annual instalments of one shilling, by the words, "or in the event of the price of the land being of any higher amount, then one-twentieth of such higher amount than twenty shillings per acre."

But those instalments include interest at the rate of 5 per cent., whereas Mr. Garrett's instalments are "without interest," and make the price of the land £1 2s. 9d. per acre.

Now comes the point—Mr. Garrett proposes to omit the words, "One-twentieth of such higher price," and insert the words, "Such sum annually as shall be proportionate to the sum of 1s. 3d. per acre to 20s."

But a sum proportionate to the sum of 1s. 3d. per per acre to 20s., when the price of the land is raised as Mr. Garrett has raised it to £1 2s. 9d., is 1s. 5¼d., and this will be actually the amount of instalments for which conditional purchasers will be liable notwithstanding the provision for the payment of only 15d., and as this sum does not include interest, the payment of it will increase the price of the land to £1 5s. 6¾d. per acre, and as the instalments must be proportionate to the sum of 1s. 3d. per acre to 20s., the instalments will necessarily rise to 1s. 10d. annually, which, in turn, will again increase the price of the land and also the amount of instalment, and so on, ad infinitum—the horseshoe repeated.

Of course we all know what Mr. Garrett means by his alterations in this matter—at least, we all think we know; but we all thought we knew what he meant when he framed the 31st clause of the Act of 1875, providing for the purchase of land in virtue of intended improvements, and we were all very much suprised when he afterwards so construed and applied that clause as to defeat the intention hon. members certainly had when they passed it.

By the proposed omission of clause 54, "after auction" purchase will be abolished. In previous articles I have explained the bearing and injurious effects of purchases of this description on settlement, and need only here express my surprise that, with the experience of the Lands Department, must have gained respecting their operations during the past 10 years, such a clause providing for their continuance, should have found a place in any bill submitted to Parliament or to the country for its approval.

The abolition of purchase in virtue of improvements by the omission of clauses 55 to 59, is a step in the right direction, which will tend materially to the removal of one of the trammels with which squatters were able to surround selectors, and which have in past times gone so far in improving the race of our sturdy yeomanry off the face of the soil.

When Sir John Robertson allowed the insertion of the clauses granting pre-leases into his bill of 1861, he allowed the first seeds of discontent among selectors to be sown, and these seeds fructified and flourished till they yielded a crop of strife and disappointment which has gone far towards swelling the immense number of transfers of conditional purchases which have taken place, and which amount to about 90 per cent. of all their total number. The effect of those pre-emptive leases has invariably been to encourage the holder of them to accumulate as much stock as the grass on them would support: and when a portion, or perhaps the whole, of the pre-lease came to be selected, he was left with a reduced area of run on which to depasture the same amount of stock, and consequently his land at once became over-stocked, and the selector was obliged either to reduce his numbers or sell out of his holding, and, by re-selecting somewhere else, become himself the aggressor on the new neighbours amongst whom he settled, and thus compel some of them to dispose of their holdings and make a fresh start in a less thickly populated locality.

But the very fact of allowing pre-leases at all in the original Act shows that, even when passed, the area allowed as a selection was not considered sufficient on which to enable a man to live comfortably, while at the same time it admits that among the selectors there would be two classes—those who only required land for agriculture, and those who would require to combine agricultural and pastoral pursuits. This shows an inclination even in the early days of 1861 to classify the land, and it would have been well for the country if the principle had been adopted then, instead of the compromise which pre-leases afforded.

In proposing to omit clauses 65 and 66, providing for pre-leases in the bill, Mr. Garrett meets a desire that has long been expressed and felt by selectors, especially if accompanied by an increased area for selection in the pastoral districts, so as to make up for the pre-lease; but I do not think the division of the districts proposed by Mr. Garrett and Mr. Stuart is one that will meet with general approval. It will certainly confine selectors on very indifferent land to an area altogether insufficient to support them in one district, while in another they may have of the very choicest agricultural land ten times as much as they can make use of for that purpose, and the balance must of necessity become a sheep or cattle walk.

While Mr. Garrett proposes to abolish pre-leases, he retains the present system of annual pastoral leases by auction, to be confined, however, to the second and third class districts in general cases, and provides for leasing by auction lands reserved for sites of town, &c., in the first and second class districts.

These leases will be held under terms very similar to those of present pre-leases, and be liable to be purchased by selection. They will be without any fixity of tenure, and therefore liable to become the vehicle for the continuance of the same ill-feeling between the holders of them and selectors which has existed for so long with pre-emptive rights. My own impression is that whatever leases or rights may be given under any new bill for dealing with the Crown lands, they should be definitely secured, and that no opportunity should be given for perpetuating the class antagonism which has marked the course of the Act of 1861.

The ordinary five years' pastoral leases—that is the leases for runs, are proposed to be altered to leases for seven and fourteen years—and are provided for in a number of additional clauses which will place pastoral leases on quite a different footing to that now in operation. The last of Mr. Garrett's amendments deals with some technical points of interest relating to such leases, which however cannot be well explained or understood without entering upon a consideration of the new clauses in conjunction with them, which I propose doing in my next.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

COOK WARD.

Mr. John Davies, C.M.G., one of the candidates for the representation of Cook ward in the Municipal Council, addressed a large meeting of the electors last night in front of Freeman's hotel, corner of Bourke and Fitzroy streets. The Hon. W. M. Alderson, M.L.C., occupied the chair.

Mr. Davies, who was well received, after a few preliminary observations, said that about three years ago, after the passing of the Municipal Act, they did him the honor to elect him as their representative in the Municipal Council for that important part of the city. Although he had been frequently elected, prior to the passing of the Sydney Corporation Act three years ago, by large majorities, he felt proud to night to be able to appear before them to give a strict and straightforward account of his doings in the Municipal Council during the past three years. They would have noticed that he had been absent from the council during the past two or three months, and he felt satisfied if any man among them had been similarly situated he would have acted in the same way. The members assembled there to quarrel and wrangle, making the council a sort of bear-garden, and degrading the municipal body and themselves, and he thought it advisable to present himself before them again for election and await the issue before he would consent to again mingle with those who had so degraded themselves. That was the reason why he had not attended the council meetings during the last two or three months, but he might tell them that, notwithstanding his absence during that period, his average attendance during the last three years stood at the top of the list. He had been more frequently in attendance than any other member of the municipal body, and consequently he had not neglected his duty as their representative. One of the first things he did on his election was to move a resolution which he regarded as of a most practical character, namely, that all the water and gas mains that had to be renewed or repaired should be made close to the side walks, and as near as possible to the kerbing, so as to get rid of the inconvenience and expense of ripping up the streets. He felt sure that such a resolution must strike their minds as being important, not only as affecting the wards of the city generally, but Cook Ward. One of his first acts in connection with his duty as their representative in the dual capacity of alderman and a member of the Legislative Assembly was to endeavour to have Oxford-street re-formed and widened. He strove very hard to get the Government to resume one side of Oxford-street, so that the street might be made 100 feet wide, but there were so many croakers about it, and property-holders feared that they would not get sufficient compensation, that he was not successful. He maintained, however, that if the improvement had been carried out, it would not have cost the country £1, because the amount realised by the land resumed would have recouped the whole expense of the resumption, and would have given a street to the citizens of Sydney which would have been a credit to the city. He failed in that, although he was supported by a large body of the electors of Cook Ward; but he succeeded in getting a resolution passed by the Municipal Council in favour of laying down wooden cubes in Oxford-street, in order that the nuisance created by the filth which was at present carried into the shops and dwellings there might be removed. Another reform he had endeavoured to effect was, the opening up of Goulburn-street from Crown-street, about which an agitation had been carried on by Mr. Kippax and others for some time past. He had obtained £2030 for the purpose of carrying out that scheme, and he believed it would be a great boon not only to that part of the city, but the city itself. It became more necessary to have these narrow streets widened because the main arteries had been monopolised by tramways; and it was necessary that facilities should be given for the great and increasing traffic of that part of the city. (Applause.) He had also agitated for widening Campbell-street, and he believed such improvements were important as affecting property-holders of Cook Ward and residents in the city. He should do his best to assist in carrying out these improvements, and he had succeeded in getting a sum of money voted for the purpose of opening up and extending Campbell-street, and the consequence was that accommodation was afforded to the residents of that street which they did not enjoy before. With reference to sewerage he did not think there was any man who had done more to bring about a general system of sewerage for the city of Sydney than he had, and there were large and important works now in progress for the purpose of properly draining the city. During the last 12 months he had succeeded in abolishing a most intolerable nuisance which existed in Dowling-street by having a sewer constructed there. (Cheers.) Unfortunately, however, one of the property holders had not given her consent to the extension of the sewer, but he hoped she would see the importance of carrying out the work, and thus abating the nuisance existing in that part of the city. (Cheers and interruption.) These were practical works which spoke for themselves. (Hear, hear, and groaning.) He also voted with his friend Mr. Fowler for the abolition of the street-watering rate, believing that it should be part of the general expenditure of the city, and seeing that they had abundance of salt water, and the necessary appliances, there could be no difficulty in watering our main thoroughfares, especially during the summer months, while it would be conducive to the general convenience and health of the citizens. (Applause.) He also thought it would be the means of effecting a very large saving to the city funds. Now he came to the matter of the city revenue. Under the old Act they had an income at 5 per cent. of £59,000, but under the present Act their income was £150,000 per annum. That was a princely income, but what had they derived from such an income in the shape of improvements? (Groans and applause.) Notwithstanding that the taxation was at the rate of 1s. 6d. in the £, what had they received in return? Had the roads been improved? (No.) Were they not a disgrace at the present time? It was a disgrace that they should have so large a sum of money in revenue, and so little improvement to show for it. (Interruption.) They were in debt in regard to the city, water, and sewerage fund to the extent of £471,371, and he asked them why it was, after the generosity of the Legislature in writing off £733,499 by the passing of the new Act, they still had so large an indebtedness on account of the city funds. It behoved the citizens to choose gentlemen who would properly represent them, and see that they got full value for their money, which was wrenched from them from time to time in the shape of taxation, for unless they had gentlemen who took sufficient interest in the affairs of the city, who would see that the money was well spent, and that the citizens received an equivalent for the money received, they would be asked soon to pay increased taxation. He also opposed the laying of asphalt blocks in George-street, between King and Market streets. That little bit of experimental road-making cost £1200, or at the rate of £40,000 per mile; and he might tell them that, although Mr. Mountain, the city surveyor, refused to certify for the work until it had received six months' trial, in order to see that the citizens got full value for the money, the council passed the money without a certificate. (Cheers, and groans.) He also succeeded in getting passed a resolution for the erection of kilns for burning the city refuse, which was now deposited in Moore Park, and became a nuisance to the public. The speaker also referred to his action in having the resolution permitting slaughtering in the city rescinded, and the action he had taken in protesting against the importation of bluestone from China and Victoria. Other men might be better candidates than he was, but it was for the ratepayers to judge, and he trusted that on the 1st December they would place him at the head of the poll. (Applause and hooting.)

Mr. S. Kippax moved,—"That Mr. John Davies, C.M.G., is a fit and proper person to represent Cook Ward in the Municipal Council."

Mr. Clayton seconded the resolution, and after a speech from Mr. Cameron in support of the candidate, the resolution was carried by a large majority, and the proceedings terminated. During the meeting, which was somewhat noisy, a couple of eggs were thrown at those standing upon the balcony, but beyond this there was no serious disorder.

OUR LAND LAWS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—With your kind permission I would point out an abuse in connection with the present land laws of the colony which, I believe, has not yet been brought under public notice.

Complaint is generally made that the squatter has been enabled, legally or illegally, to secure large tracts of country. These tracts, however, consist for the most part of such land as would not be suitable for agricultural purposes, whilst they are admirably adapted for their present uses, namely, sheep and cattle stations, and could not therefore be settled with a large population. The colony seems to me to be naturally divided into two parts—the agricultural, comprising for the most part the coastal slope, and that suitable for grazing purposes, embracing the most of our interior lands, with the exception of that for some distance extending from the banks of the rivers flowing through that portion of the colony; and I think it is palpable that the same laws are, or should not be, applicable to lands which may be utilised for such widely different purposes. Nearly the whole of the coastal slope with its numerous rivers, its unequalled climate, and splendid soil, appears to be intended by nature for the home of a large population who with proper legislation could be supported thereon in comfort and happiness. However, from what I gathered on a trip some time ago to the Northern district near the coast, I will endeavour to show how under our present laws, this desideratum is rapidly becoming a matter of impossibility.

A great deal of the southern portion of the colony is now the property of large companies, and large areas of the Northern district, now becoming justly celebrated for its splendid soil for the production of sugar, is also gradually being secured by a large company in the following apparently legal manner:—This company is willing to purchase any number of acres of this grand country, and their splendid terms have induced farmers and others to select large blocks of land, reside thereon for the period required by the Land Act, and make a few improvements, and what probably costs them under £1000, they can then sell for five times as much. Of course the same person can take up another block of land, and after spending a few more years of his life in ease thereon, parts with it in a similar manner; and if he lives long enough, he will thus become a millionaire by very little effort of his own, and there is nothing to prevent him legally doing so in the manner described.

I think the above will show that our present land laws are not suitable for the agricultural portion of New South Wales, however they may be for the large grazing tracts of the interior. I am, &c.,

THE PROCLAMATION ANTICIPATED.

We have been requested by the Colonial Secretary to publish the following correspondence:—

"Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney,
"November 21, 1882.

"My dear Mr. Walker,—Since you left the office I have read in the Evening News of this date what purports to be a proclamation signed by the Governor and countersigned by myself, and dated the 23rd instant, dissolving Parliament.

"Of course, I know that no proclamation of the kind has been signed by his Excellency the Governor, or by myself, but I wish to know whether any such form has been prepared for signature on Thursday, and, if so, whether it has been exhibited to any person connected with the Evening News. "Yours very truly,
"Henry Parkes."

"Sydney, November 21, 1882, 7 p.m.

"My dear Sir Henry,—I have only just received your note. The form of proclamation for the dissolution of Parliament was ordered by me, for convenience, to be confidentially put in type by the Government Printer, that being the usual course, in order that it might be ready for issue, but it has not been shown to any person belonging to the press by anyone in this department, and must have been improperly obtained.

"It is the mere printed form of words, without either the signature of his Excellency or of yourself, and without the seal of the colony attached to it. As you are aware, no such proclamation has as yet been submitted to the Governor-in-Council. "I remain, yours faithfully,
"Critchett Walker.

"The Hon. Sir Henry Parkes, K.C.M.G."

Prehistoric Footprints in Nevada.—The recent discovery of human footprints at Carson, Nevada, has created great interest in American scientific circles. At a meeting of the Californian Academy of Sciences Professor Joseph Leconté detailed the results of a careful examination which he has made of this locality. The Professor arrived at the conclusion that if the footprints were not in a quaternary formation they were not likely to be older than the upper pliocene passing into quaternary. He observed that no one who studied the tracks could fail to note their remarkable general resemblance to human footprints, both in their form and in the apparent singleness of each impression. Their size called for explanation; for, although well defined as rights and lefts, their straddle was unusually wide. They might have been made by a human foot enclosed in a raw hide sandal, much larger externally than the foot. The bear and mylodon, or gigantic ground-sloth, could alone make a track at all resembling the footprints in size and form, and they were not the tracks of either of these; they were those of a biped, more likely man or the anthropoid ape, familiarly known as the missing link in the chain of human evolution. The track was too much curved for any bear. Professor Leconté said he knew of no animal but a biped which could make such tracks, but this was possible for a man with sandals on to do. However, as a judicial mind, he desired to hold his final scientifically expressed opinion in reserve, awaiting further testimony.—Times.

DOCTORS AS DETECTIVES.

(From the World, October 4.)

The doctors, or at least some of the more excitable of them, have been greatly alarmed by something that occurred at the Social Science Congress the other day. They tell us that there is a dreadful conspiracy on foot to turn them all into detectives, and they even speak of the functions of those useful public servants in terms of bitterness that would have been considered eminently appropriate by the late Mr. Peace or the late Mr. Lefroy. In fact, the representatives of these irritable gentlemen at Nottingham were on the eve of engaging in a "free fight" with several rational Sanitarians, and it must have greatly added to the "fun of the fair" to find that they had for their allies the representatives of the "Shrieking Sisterhood," contact with whom they usually consider identical with moral contamination. These ladies and gentlemen are, as every one will admit, energetic, not to say stubborn, and when they tell us they are "going to fight like tigers" over any particular question, it is clear we have lively times in store for us. What, it will be asked, are they now going to fight about? Why, only about this: Should medical men be obliged to give warning to the sanitary authorities of the outbreak of pestilence among their patients? To an ordinary man of business it would seem as rational to discuss the question, Should you give warning to the police of the outbreak of a fire when you happen to see one? There is, however, a type of physician who can never look at matters like a man of the world, and to this kind of person we can understand the proposal is, as one of them calls it, "simply loathsome." He has evidently invented an extraordinary system of casuistry by way of justifying his stupidity. In virtue of this he deludes himself into the notion that he is endowed with semi-sacerdotal functions, as if in protest against the well-known scoff, ubi tres medici, ibi tres athei! He pictures himself as a sort of father-confessor to his patients. When asked to tell anybody that one of them has smallpox, or scarlet fever, or cholera, he is, he assures us, asked "to violate the sanctities of his profession."

There never, surely, was greater nonsense talked than this. We all know that many secrets are confided to the family doctor—secrets it would be doing a cruel wrong to reveal. But then they concern nobody but private individuals. It is not of the least consequence to the public to know that our next-door neighbour Jones is occasionally what the Americans call "a crank," that Smith's wife is a dipsomaniac, that Robinson has not been a model of conjugal fidelity, that rumour does not lie when it attributes to some other cause than a hitherto repressed passion for continental travel the sudden and mysterious disappearance of the third Miss Simpkins. Her devotion to Father Benedict—that most ascetic of Anglican confessors—had often been the talk of the neighbourhood; but nobody wants Dr. Pilby, who attends the family, to form part of the neighbourhood who talk about it. The doctor, as the recipient of family secrets—and very pretty secrets are sometimes confided to him—is not asked to be communicative; indeed, many people would sleep better of nights if they could only be certain that he was, as a rule, strictly uncommunicative. But to have an infectious disease in one's house is not a family secret, but a public peril; and it is therefore very certain that it is one which concerns everybody who may come near any member of the infected family. Let us also add that it is not merely the risk to life which renders people frightened for infection nowadays. The doctors themselves have adopted methods of treatment that adds a new terror to pestilence, considered from a family point of view. You must, for example "isolate" the sufferer. This of course means "isolating" the sufferer's mother, and converting the head of the house into a widower for the time being. Servants also are used up by "isolation" in the most wonderful manner; for whenever they do not want to wait on you they have only to contrive to get within the range of contagion, and then the "taboo" of science is on them and all they touch. Your family must further be "broken up" and dispersed, and you may have to humble yourself to relations you hate, and perhaps have quarrelled with, in order to procure shelter for your offspring. Then we need hardly speak of the domestic destruction that marks the track of an infectious disease. Bed and bedding are burnt. The women of the family who want new dresses can now extort them from you, by the simple plan of first infecting those they have, and then disinfecting them by cremation. Infectious disease is, in bitter truth, more than a mere danger. It is, perhaps, the most hideous form of social nuisance known to our time, and it is a little too bad that the doctors, who, by their new-fangled modes of treatment, have done so much to make it a nuisance, should turn round and decline to give us every possible form of protection against its outbreak. No doubt a doctor, if he be an ass, might do a great deal of mischief by "notifying" the presence of infectious disease wrongly. The other day the family of a distinguished man of letters in Kensington was "broken up," simply because they insist on employing a crotchety medical adviser who has a habit of identifying chicken-pox with smallpox. But we cannot organise society with exclusive regard to people who are silly enough to have fools for their physicians. Then, again, mistakes of this kind could be easily checked, for the medical adviser of the authorities need not be a fool also; and he ought surely to be fit to correct the blunders of the private practitioner.

The advantage of having a system whereby any and every case of infectious disease is "notified" to the local authorities is obvious enough. Time is everything in stamping out an epidemic. He who strikes at it quickly strikes twice. The Medical Officer of Health can, after "notification," satisfy himself that "isolation" is properly carried out; that children in an infected household are kept from going to school; that, perhaps, "isolation" cannot be properly carried out; and that removal to some place where it can is imperative. After the first case is notified, a sharp eye can be kept on the locality, and if it appears that more cases follow and group themselves in a particular spot, then the cause of the outbreak, whether that be due to bad drains or a supply of tainted milk from some far-distant dairy, can be promptly investigated. An epidemic under a system of notification of infectious disease ought to be cut short with with the first few cases; and as everybody hates to have infectious disease in his house, everybody ought to be grateful for any scheme that may limit its spread when it does appear in a particular locality. For doctors to pretend they are being turned into detectives by being compelled by law to inform the sanitary authorities of the occurrence of every case of infectious disease among their patients is simply nonsensical. The law that would force them to do this would sufficiently vindicate them from any charge of breach of confidence that might be brought against them. Indeed, if there ought to be any question raised about the matter, it should be this: When are our rulers in London going to apply for a Local Act to carry out a plan certain to give us the strongest possible control over the progress and continuance of pestilence?

MARRICKVILLE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

A meeting of the members of the Congregational Church, Marrickville, was held last night to welcome the Rev. Robert Dey, who has accepted the charge of the church on the resignation of the Rev. Mr. Spence, whose state of health compelled him to seek a change of climate. The meeting was held in the church building, the Rev. Mr. Sunderland occupying the chair, there being also present the Revs. R. G. Campbell, of Redfern; Palmer Laws, of Woollahra; G. Adams, of Waterloo; F. G. Fry, of Balmain; and the Rev. Mr. Atcheson from South Australia. The Rev. Robert Dey was educated in Edinburgh, where he passed his University course and studied theology in the Congregational Theological Hall. For seven years he laboured in the ministry at Nairn, in the North of Scotland, and then he took upon himself the heavy burden of a large church in Glasgow—the Bethany Church—where he remained for two years; but the work told so severely upon his constitution that he had, by medical advice, to seek a change. He determined to come to the colonies, and shortly after his arrival was invited to take the charge of the Victoria-parade Church, Melbourne, where he successfully laboured for two years, when, feeling the necessity of country air and quietude, if he desired to continue in the good health he has enjoyed since he came to Australia, he accepted the call of the Marrickville Church. The chairman, in opening the meeting, congratulated the deacons and congregation on the good choice they had made. In the past they had been successful in obtaining the services of earnest and able ministers, and he believed that Mr. Dey would more than fully sustain the high character of his predecessors. Mr. R. Phoeffer then, on behalf of the deacons and congregation of the church, read an address of welcome to the new minister, who responded in fitting terms. He gave a brief sketch of his life's labours, and spoke of his plans for the future in Marrickville, saying that he would give himself heartily and thoroughly to the work. The Rev. Mr. Campbell, who had been on terms of friendship with, and a fellow, though senior, student of Mr. Dey in Edinburgh, spoke of his knowledge of that gentleman's character as a Christian worker. He also referred to the necessity of gradually extending the area of work in connection with the church, now that Marrickville was becoming daily more important and populous. At the same time he warned them that they must take care not to let their new minister, who he knew had great ardour in his work, to strain his constitution and injure his health. The Rev. Mr. Fry stated that he knew the Victoria-parade Church in Melbourne, from which Mr. Dey had come to them, very well. It was a splendid church—one of the best in connection with the Congregational body in Melbourne and its suburbs. He urged the members of the church in Marrickville to progress in the future. The Rev. Mr. Laws pointed out the necessity of co-operation between the minister and members of the church, if the best results were to be looked for, and expressed his belief that, if the church as a whole used all the means at its command, every class of men in the community could be reached without the intervention of such a force as the Salvation Army.

The Rev. Mr. Adams also made a few remarks.

Between the addresses, hymns and the following anthems—"How dear are Thy counsels," "Oh, taste and see," "I know that the Lord is great"—were sung by choir, Miss Weedon being the accompanist on the harmonium.

MASONIC.

Last Monday evening the regular monthly meeting of the Leinster Marine Masonic Lodge, No. 1, hailing under the Grand Lodge of New South Wales, was held at the Masonic Temple, Clarence-street. The lodgeroom was literally crowded, so much so that a large number of the brethren had to stand. The meeting was honoured by a visit of the Grand Lodge officers, most of whom were present, besides a very large number of past masters and brethren of sister lodges and constitutions. At 9 o'clock the usual business of the lodge was completed, when the Worshipful Master of the lodge, Past Master Bro. M'Veaney, invited all the brethren and visitors present to a banquet in the large hall, where the W.M. presided. On his right were Past Deputy Grand Master Bro. Booth, Grand Secretary Bro. Weekes, and Past Deputy Grand Master Bro. Dr. A. Burne; on his left Grand Inspector of Workings Bro. J. Slade, and Senior Grand Deacon Bro. Howe, while P. D. G. M. Bro. J. Hunt, Grand Treas., Bro. J. Starkey, and Bro. P. M. Capn. J. Lee, G.P., acted as Vice Chairmen. Nearly two hundred brethren sat down and enjoyed the good things provided, after which the usual loyal and masonic toasts were drank and responded to, viz., the Queen, all Grand Lodges, Newly Initiated, and Visitors. P. D. G. M. Bro. Booth, in responding on behalf of the Grand Lodge of New South Wales, expressed in tokens of gratitude to the brethren for the energy they had put forward, and the strict attention they evinced by adhering to the tenets of masonry, and supporting the Grand Lodge of New South Wales, which he and his fellow Grand Lodge officers were pleased to observe. Such a state of affairs must soon dispel the unjust opposition, and cause all true masons to unite and carry on the true spirit of freemasonry in this favoured spot of earth. P. D. G. M. Bro. Dr. Burne took occasion to draw the attention of the brethren to the crowded state of so large a room, which proved that the large masonic hall now in course of erection was an absolute necessity, and urged the brethren to take up a few shares in the same. Two visiting brethren of the E. C. responded on behalf of other constitutions, and took the opportunity of explaining that many of their brethren in the English and Scotch Constitutions were prevented from visiting the lodges hailing under the Grand Lodge of New South Wales by mistaken and false notions. As visitors, they felt bound to confess that the business and true spirit of Freemasonry were as strictly adhered to, and the right hand of fellowship extended in as equal, if not more, a degree among the brethren hailing under the Grand Lodge of New South Wales as in any other part of the world; in fact, so attached were they that they had resolved to leave the English Constitution, and enrol themselves under the banner of the Grand Lodge of New South Wales. The main reason for so doing was that they found the true masonic spirit of Freemasonry among them, and, instead of sending their spare funds home to England, they were retained here by the Grand Lodge of New South Wales for the benefit of the widow and orphan, which fact ought to be sufficient to induce any freemason in this colony to support the Grand Lodge of New South Wales. The social hour was enlivened by several songs and recitations by Bros Grand Secretary N. Weekes, P.D.G.M. Dr. Burne, Bro. Drummond, P.M. Bro. Mason, and Bro. Fergusson, when one of the largest attended and pleasantest meetings ever held under the Grand Lodge of New South Wales was brought to a close by singing "Auld Lang Syne."

On Thursday a numerously-attended meeting of the Cosmopolitan Lodge, No. 16, hailing under the Grand Lodge of New South Wales, was held at the Masonic Temple. The usual formal business of the lodge was completed by 9.30 p.m., after which the brethren spent a very pleasant hour at the social board, presided over by Worshipful Master Bro. Max. Thompson. Latterly the Cosmopolitan Lodge has been increasing in number, and there being several applications for the next meeting of the lodge, instructions were given to the secretary by the W.M. to specially invite the members of any of the English and Scotch Constitutions, which will be duly notified in the Sydney Morning Herald on the day of the meeting.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES LEGISLATION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—For the information of "Experientia Docet," and that he and the public may not be led to put overmuch confidence in the success of the Contagious Diseases Act of Queensland, I beg to inform him that on October 23 last there was held in Brisbane a conference of the municipalities of Queensland, and that one of the subjects for consideration was the social evil. The Mayor of Brisbane was chairman and made the following remarks, which I must say are a flat contradiction to "Experientia Docet" as to the Acts deterring or diminishing the number of young women. The Mayor said, vide Courier, October 24,—"He had had many communications with the Commissioner of Police on the subject, and that gentleman had again and again declared that the police were powerless to suppress the evil, as it was impossible to prove cases brought against people for keeping houses of ill-fame. It was a very humiliating thing to have to acknowledge that this evil was so largely increasing, without their being able to check it. He could remember the time when he had no hesitation in bringing his wife and daughters into Queen-street at nights, but he could not do it now. If the evil continued to grow as it had done, he did not know what would become of the city; it would be worse than the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah. Members of the Brisbane Council had met night after night, and discussed the matter, but had never been able to devise a remedy."

This conference actually passed resolutions in favour of licensing brothels. The present condition of Queensland is so bad, notwithstanding the vaunted Contagious Diseases Act, that Mr. R. Crible suggested that the Government should build brothels. As to the rescue of unfortunate women, Mr. Woods, another speaker at the conference, said, "At present, having once fallen, there is nothing before them but the streets."

As to there being no cases of persecution, why Brisbane is ringing with an abominable case of the persecution of two girls at this present moment.

With reference to the arguments from Professor Stuart's analysis of the protest report, it is evident that "Experientia" is a novice on the subject. The advocates of the C. D. Acts have claimed that they are a great financial saving; it is in point for an opponent to show that, even allowing their own figures as to men, it is not a saving but a loss. But as a matter of fact, those figures are not allowed. The perfect consonance of the other quoted statements is plain to one fairly up in the question. 1. Before the Acts there was a decreasing process in the disease in all the army stations at home, those now subjected and those not now subjected. 2. The presence or absence of the Acts does not per se account for high or low ratios of disease, that is to say, other causes of the disease or its absence can be shown, and that so far as hygiene are concerned the Acts are nearly a nullity. 3. The introduction of the Contagious Diseases Acts did not accelerate the reduction of disease in the subjected districts. 4. That after the Acts the subjected districts continued to decrease, and did so steadily, whereas the unsubjected decreased, but not so steadily, nor to so great an amount. 5. But while the decrease in the number of cases was greater in the subjected than in the non-subjected districts, the disease took the severest form in the subjected districts.

There is no want of consistency in the above, and it must be remembered that Professor Stuart's utterance is only an analysis for a newspaper, and not the actual protest report.

Substantially there is little difference between the Continental Acts and the English. They were designed from Continental models. They differ for the worse in their more complete denial of legal rights to women than the laws of the Continent, as I am prepared to prove.

As for eradicating the disease without abolishing the vice, so far as I have been able to secure evidence, we might as well cry for the moon. They have failed in the attempt in France and Italy. The success in England is so shadowy that the most robust believers in the contagious diseases superstition have the greatest difficulty in raking together a little seeming evidence. The municipal conference of Queensland is not a striking proof of the success of the process in that colony.

But as my lectures show I do not ignore the hygienic aspect as relating to contracted disease. I say supply adequate and efficient hospitals and curative agencies at the cost of the State. And I say where there is legal evidence of disease, make man or woman liable to imprisonment in a prison hospital. We do not make sanitary laws which are only applicable to men, and let the women free. Nor should we make a sanitary law applicable to women and let the men free. If "Experientia" really wants to stamp out the disease, he would seek to destroy all the fountains of infection. I go for the same sauce for the gander as the goose.

But surely the more excellent way is to conserve the innocence of the young. Let that be done, and then let us discuss that doubtful and dangerous remedy—the C. D. Act. But I rejoice that the Herald has broken through the injurious reticence, and allowed this grave matter to be discussed before the public. Yours, &c.,

J. C. KIRBY.

A Desolate Island.—The crew of the American steam whaler Belvidere have lately visited Wrangel Land; and one of the crew, named Francis Smith, described the island on the return of the whaler to San Francisco. Smith reports that on nearing the shore they perceived the signal planted by Lieutenant Reynolds, of the Corwin, in 1881, which was a small American ensign fastened to a slender piece of driftwood. The island rises abruptly from the sea, though not precipitously. There is no beach to speak of, the land having an average elevation of 10 feet above the surface of the sea. It is surrounded by deep water; and from soundings that the party made, an average depth from 10 to 12 fathoms at a distance of 10 feet from the shore was discovered. The soil was scanty, and seemed formed almost entirely of large black pebbles of a sandy nature. Between these grew a green and thin-bladed grass, resembling very much the wood-lick grass of the Eastern States. The island is a flat tableland. As the sailors went towards the centre they came upon numerous ponds and marshes of brackish water. The only vegetation seen was a small, pinkish, odourless flower, with four petals, and rock moss. Piles of driftwood were discovered everywhere. It was apparent that at some seasons the island is entirely covered with ice. This, it is surmised, was the reason that De Long left no token of the Jeannette on the island. There is no probability of a human settlement being effected at any time on Wrangel Land.

The barque John Knox arrived yesterday morning from Newcastle, with a cargo of 250 tons of old railway iron for the Government. She went round to Darling Harbour, and was berthed alongside the iron wharf.

The American ship Samaria, with a full general cargo, arrived yesterday morning from New York, after a passage of 110 days. She left New York on August 9, with light winds and very moderate weather. The N.E. trades were very light and variable, as may be judged by the fact that 45 days were occupied in reaching the Equator, which was crossed on the 19th September, in long. 27.35 W. On September 16, a comet of remarkable brilliancy and beauty was seen in the S.E. The S.E. trades, which were strong, were got in about 3° S., and lasted until about 29° S. The meridian of Greenwich was passed on the 4th October, 16 days from the Equator. Strong westerly winds succeeded the trades, and continued until the coast of Tasmania was sighted on the 13th instant. From there had light north-east winds and calms to arrival off the Heads. The Samaria was anchored below Garden Island.

The Kameruka (s.) left Bateman Bay on 20th November, at 4.5 p.m., and called at Ulladulla; passed Cape St. George at 9.30 p.m., and entered Port Jackson at 6.15 a.m. on the 21st, arriving alongside the wharf at 6.50 a.m. Experienced strong northerly winds and hazy weather, with heavy head sea throughout the passage. Cargo: 17 bags oysters, 349 pieces timber, 250 felloes, 4 shafts, 1 buggy, 4 wheels, 170 kegs butter, 14 cases eggs, 2 boxes 2 bags bacon, 2 bales paper, 2 bales wool, 2 casks tallow, 60 hides, 13 calves, 7 baskets fish, and sundries.

The Lismore (s.) crossed the Richmond bar at 0.30 a.m. on the 19th instant, passed Smoky Cape at 3 a.m. on the 20th, and entered Sydney Heads at 6 a.m. on the 21st instant. Experienced N.E. winds and fine weather to arrival. Cargo: 1192 bags maize, 1039 mats sugar, 5 bags salt, 6 cases eggs, 3 coops poultry, 15 casks treacle, 9 hides, and sundries.

The Kiama (s.) left Moruya on November 20; at 3.30 p.m. crossed Moruya bar; at midnight passed Cape St. George; and November 20, at 6.30 p.m., entered Sydney Heads. Experienced strong N.E. wind and heavy head sea throughout. Cargo: 643 cheeses, 16 kegs butter, 14 cases eggs, 80 bags bacon, 24 hides, 1 bale sheepskins, 79 bags bark, and 24 bags oysters.

Mr. G. S. Yuill, manager of the Orient Company, has received a cablegram stating that the steamship John Elder sailed from Plymouth for Australia on the afternoon of the 18th instant, with a full cargo and passenger list.

At a special meeting of the Holt-Sutherland Estate Land Company (Limited), held this afternoon, the clause in the articles of association limiting the qualification of directors to not less than "ten" shares was amended by inserting the word "five" in lieu of the word "ten."

The prospectus of the Auckland Native Lands Colonisation Company (Limited) has been published. The capital is £500,000 in £1 shares, of which 200,000 are now offered to the public, 300,000 being reserved for natives and future issue. The objects of the company are the acquisition and settlement of native lands in the north island of New Zealand in the manner described. Negotiations are on foot for the purchase of two large blocks, which commence within 100 miles of Auckland, and are accessible by rail within three miles. The prime cost of the land is 8s. per acre, and the company hope to sell it when cut up at an average of £2 10s. Provisional directors are named, and a committee of reference appointed in this colony. Application for shares is to be made to Mr. J. Mullens, Sydney, broker to the company.

The report of the National Mutual Life Association of Australasia, adopted at the annual meeting at Melbourne yesterday, showed that the new assurances are for an amount exceeding £1,100,000; and that the funds had increased by nearly £52,000.

In the Import markets, business is not marked by anything of a very noteworthy character, although a good many trade orders are being effected for both town and country requirements. A somewhat better demand is reported for the leading brands of Adelaide and New South Wales flour, and for five-ton lots £15 is asked. For New Zealand flour the inquiry seems to slacken, the hot weather making it a less workable article in the hands of the bakers. For ordinary samples the value ranges from £9 to £11, and some qualities are almost unsalable. The Golden Age brand of Californian flour is still moving off at £11 in trade parcels. Wheat is selling at late quotations. Colonial sugars of the lower qualities are in ample supply, and prices rule in favour of buyers; low white counter sugars less plentiful, and command from £31 10s. to £32 10s. Dried fruits are in active request and currants command from 5¼d. to 5½d.; elemes, 7d. to 7¼d.; a line of sultanas placed for export at 7d.; apples, 7½d. Nutmegs were done at a shade under 3s. Candles have but little attention. D.R.J.'s in parcels are firmly held for 7¼d.; other brands of imported from 7¼d. In brewers' goods, a line of malt (a good average sample) was done at 7s. 3d., trade sales being made at 7s. 6d., 6d. more being asked for some of the primest lots. In liquors, several lots of Hennessy's single-star case brandy were sold at 34s. 6d.; a good line of Lowndes' rum was moved at 4s., a parcel of Preston's being placed at 3s. 9d.; trade lines of the latter quitted at 3s. 10d. Bottled ales continue to move freely, at full figures; nearly 1000 casks of Tennant's stout were placed, at prices not named. In bulk ales, stocks of old brew are becoming reduced. Metals are without change in value; galvanised iron commands £22 10s. to £25, according to brand, with a fair trade; hoop iron is selling low; a line was placed publicly to-day below cost. For cement, from 14s. to 16s is asked for the various brands, the trade being large, but stocks more than ample. In the produce market, the ruling quotations are:—Maize, 4s. 3d. to 4s. 4d. per bushel; oats, 3s. 3d. to 3s. 6d.; lucerne hay, £3 to £4 per ton; oaten chaff, £6 to £6 5s. Potatoes, old, from £6 10s. to £7; new, £7 to £8. Onions, Victorian, from £3 to £8; Hunter River, from £3 10s. to £6. Bacon, very scarce, 9½d. to 10½d. per lb.; hams, 13d. Cheese, 9d. to 10½d. Eggs, 1s. to 1s. 1d. per doz.; fowls, 4s. 9d. to 5s. 6d. per pair; ducks, 5s. to 5s. 6d.; geese, 8s. to 9s.; turkeys, 8s. to 24s. Messrs. Fraser and Co. will offer at auction to-morrow (Wednesday) morning, Mauritius and colonial sugar; and in the afternoon shipments of lumber.

Mr. John Bridge reports that at his wool sale to-day there was a crowded attendance of buyers, and high prices were paid. Among others the following well-known clips were sold:—WG over [illegible], in grease at 13d.; J reversed Dover, 9 at 10¾d.; T[illegible] over X, at 12½d.; IF over half circle, at 12d.; all from the Cootamundra and Yass districts; besides numerous other parcels at corresponding prices. A catalogue of sheepskins was cleared at up to 6⅞d.

At the leather sale to-day the attendance of buyers was small, and the competition slack. Messrs. Mort and Co. F. L. Barker, John Bridge, Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, and Hill, Clark, and Co., disposed of catalogues at the following figures:—Kip, 11d. to 15d.; sole, 8d. to 10d., damaged from 5d.; calf, 20d. to 30d.; yearling, 12½d. to 24d.; tweed, 10¾d. to 25d.; harness, 10½d. to 13d.; kangaroo—Australian, 16d. to 22d.; Hobart, 4s. to 4s. 8d.; bag, 6s. to 12s.; bridle, 9s. to 11s.; basils, 4s. to 12s. 6d.

The Samaria arrived to-day, from New York, with a general cargo.

The Customs duties received to-day were as follows:—Spirits, £2417 1s. 1d.; wine (still), £186 1s. 7d.; wine (sparkling), £10; ale, porter, and beer (in bottle), £11 14s.; tobacco and snuff, £21 6s.; cigars, £431 14s. 5d.; tea, £164 2s. 9d.; coffee and chicory, £84 2s. 9d; sugar (unrefined), £10; molasses, £20 7s.; rice, £89 16s; dried fruits, £670 6s. 2d.; malt, £22 10s.; specific duty, £795 7s. 8d.; fisheries royalty, £3 5s.; pilotage, £69 13s. 4d.; harbour and light dues, £28 0s. 8d.; total, £5035 8s. 5d.

Attention to the following rules will save the writers of correspondence a good deal of trouble. We cannot undertake to return rejected communications. No notice can be taken of anonymous communications. Whatever is intended for insertion in this journal must be authenticated by the name and address of the writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

It is requested that all business communications, including advertisements, orders for the HERALD, and remittances, be addressed to JOHN FAIRFAX AND SONS.

Letters and other communications intended for insertion in the news column should be addressed to THE EDITOR.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS.

We beg to inform our advertising friends that, to secure insertion and proper classification in Saturday's paper, it is necessary that their advertisements should reach this office not later than 9 o'clock on Friday night.

Advertisements for Monday's paper are received at this Office as late as 9 o'clock on Saturday night. With the exception of announcements of an important or urgent nature, advertisements brought to the Printing Department after that hour cannot be guaranteed insertion.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1882.

The method of dissolving the House by proclamation takes away the chance which might otherwise have existed of a Parliamentary debate on the propriety of a dissolution at the present moment. The Minister who gives the advice does not again face the Parliament which he is the means of destroying. Sometimes, where a Governor has been in doubt, and anxious that his decision should be based upon the fullest statement of reasons, he has asked for a memorandum of the Ministerial advice, and has replied to it in writing. When such documents are published, the people at large have every opportunity of considering the soundness of the reasoning put forward. On the present occasion, we are given to understand, the advice tendered to the GOVERNOR, and the reasons given in support of it, were verbal. In that case there will be no authentic record of them. It is quite optional with the PREMIER whether he will choose to take the public into his confidence and let them know by what course of reasoning his advice was backed up, nor have we any means of knowing whether his memory will serve him correctly if he should make a restatement of those reasons. The expiring Parliament cannot discuss them, the new Parliament will have other things to think of, and the people generally will just now be more busy about the Land Bill than about the constitutional propriety of dissolutions; and in this way a question which is really of very great importance is shunted, partly because Parliament has not the material, and partly because it has not the opportunity, for discussing it.

The spread of our railways, and the facilities afforded by the electric telegraph, admit of a general election being conducted now with much greater speed than was formerly the case. The constituencies will have to do their work very quickly. The country has been taken by surprise. Whether Ministers were surprised is at present a little uncertain. On their behalf, if not by themselves, two opposite accounts are given. After the debate had commenced they had good reason for doubting the success of the bill; before it was introduced they do not seem to have displayed the shadow of a doubt on the subject, and if Parliament was alienated from the land policy to an extent not anticipated by those whose special business it is to feel the pulse of Parliament, is it not possible that they may be equally unaware of the real feeling of the country? They have no right to stop the course of legislation, to shorten the period of Parliament, and to put the country prematurely to the trouble of a general election, unless they have good reason for thinking that the country is with them on the land question. There would be no justification whatever for such a course if they knew that they were in a minority. It is to satisfy their doubts on the subject that the country is called upon to speak out. Parliament has spoken; it is now for the people to speak.

They have not much time to make up their minds, but they ought not to want it. They have had 21 years' experience of the land policy, and if that has not enabled them to come to an opinion, 21 days' further reflection amid the bewildering excitement of contesting harangues will not much help them. Is the land law working well—so well that it would be foolish to alter it? The main industry of the country is at present pastoral, and that industry does not necessarily require a freehold tenure. It is the use of the grass that the grazier wants, and it is to the public interest that he should have that till the land is wanted for freehold occupation. Leaseholds should not be allowed to stand in the way of freehold purchase; but there should be no temptation offered to oust the leaseholder unnecessarily. Does our law mediate between these two conflicting interests in a way that is best for both, and best for the country? Let us take an illustration, not from fancy, but from fact. The squatter has his sheep in the home paddock ready for shearing. A shearer selects forty acres in the centre of that paddock, and immediately sends notice to the squatter to keep his sheep off that selection, or they will be impounded. It is physically impossible to do this, and the sheep must either be turned out of the paddock, or the squatter must come to terms with the shearer. Is this sort of thing necessary for legitimate settlement? Is it fair to the Crown lessee? Does it encourage improvement? Is it favourable to pastoral industry? Again; a selector takes forty acres, and his son another forty acres on the same run six miles off. They buy a lot of sheep, and travel them backwards and forwards each day camping on the selection, practically taking a broad strip a mile wide and six miles long out of the run, for which they pay no rent, while the other one does. The squatter, in desperation, buys up the road frontage to make a barrier of defence for himself. He does not want the land, he has to go into debt for it, it diminishes his profits, and increases his liabilities. Is such a process necessary for legitimate settlement? Is it fair to the lessee? Does it promote pastoral or agricultural industry? Does it produce a healthy state of public finance? Instances of this kind might be multiplied ad infinitum. Any blackmailing selector could give a great variety of illustrations of how money is to be made by persecuting squatters. If rumour does not lie, there have been even members of Parliament who have lent money to blackmailers, and shared the profits, who could explain what a capital thing may be made out of working the land law in this way. But is this an honest industry? Is it legitimate? Does it do the country any good? Does it promote concord? Is it training an industrious peasantry? Is it settling the country? Is it a system we ought to be proud of? Is it a system in acclamation of which electors should now make themselves hoarse?

The vote upon the Land Bill interrupted a discussion upon the report of committee on MRS. CLYNE's conditional purchase case. The case, however, is well worthy of notice as another illustration of the character and working of our land system. The report was described by SIR JOHN ROBERTSON as an "apparently wishy-washy report." That, we presume, was because the committee simply recommended that the claim should be considered by the Government, instead of recommending it for favourable consideration. This departure from the usual course was taken deliberately by the committee, and not without cause, in view of the action of the Government in the Milburn Creek case. It was then contended that a committee's recommendation to favourable consideration is, when the report is adopted by the House, a binding instruction to the Government to sanction the claim so recommended; and the issue in that case was well adapted to enforce upon future committees investigating claims against the State the need for caution in the use of such language where the circumstances are doubtful.

The circumstances are doubtful, and rather more, in this case. MRS. CLYNE, the claimant, is the widow of a free selector who had taken up 100 acres of land on MR. F. LORD's run, Burrawang, and begun to improve and cultivate it. MR. LORD, however, had brought an action of ejectment, and gained a verdict, which had been upheld by the Full Court. The claim against the Government was for compensation for losses caused to MRS. CLYNE by being deprived of the conditional purchase. DR. ROSS, the chairman of the committee, in moving the adoption of the report, said that there was nothing in law or equity to prevent CLYNE taking up the ground when he made his conditional purchase. The Judge at Nisi Prius, however, and the Full Court, when moved to enter a verdict for the defendant, held that the land was not open to free selection when the conditional purchase was made. The opinion of the Judges upon the point of law will probably be taken in preference to that of the chairman of the committee. The question therefore arises, what claim can the conditional purchaser possibly have against the Government because of the loss of the conditional purchase if that purchase was void from the beginning?

The peculiarities of the case come out when the history of the transactions is inquired into. CLYNE took up the land in the belief that it was not improved to the value of £40, and was therefore Crown land open to selection under the law. When he tendered his application and paid his deposit at the local Land Office, he learned nothing to destroy his belief that the land was open. There were improvements upon it, but he was confident that they were below the minimum value recognised by law, and so he boldly embarked in his venture. But the law was not so simple as he took it to be, and the absence of £40 worth of improvements ought not to have been regarded by him as of itself a sufficient guarantee for his safety. His application was made on the 17th July, 1879. On the 14th April, 1877, MR. LORD had applied to purchase, in virtue of improvements, 87 acres of land on Burrawang; in August, 1878, MR. W. B. SIMPSON, who had surveyed the land, reported under instructions that the improvements on it were of the value of £77; on the 13th June, 1879, the MINISTER notified in the Gazette that MR. LORD would be permitted to purchase on the usual conditions; and the deed of grant was obtained by MR. LORD in the following December. The land so purchased by MR. LORD was included within the 100 acres which CLYNE selected, but MR. LORD's transactions were with the Department in Sydney. At the hearing of the action for ejectment the CLYNES relied upon the insufficiency of the improvements to bar selection, and brought evidence to show that they were worth only £20. So convincing was this evidence that the jury, at the direction of the Judge, returned a special finding as to the value, and declared it to have been under the value of £40. But at the same time, and also under the direction of the JUDGE, a verdict was returned for the plaintiff, on the ground that before the conditional purchase the Government had contracted with the plaintiff for the sale of the land; and under the definition in the Alienation Act of 1861 lands which have been "lawfully contracted to be granted in fee simple" are outside the application of the term "Crown lands," and therefore are not open for selection. At the trial, objection was taken on behalf of the defendant to the admission of a copy of the Gazette as evidence of the contract; and before the Full Court it was contended that the Gazette did not show a contract binding the Government to grant the land. The Full Court, however, refused to disturb the result of the trial, holding that the application and the notice in the Gazette formed a contract within the meaning of the statute.

In arguing before the Full Court, the defendant's counsel said that as the improvements were under the value of £40, the plaintiff could not legally make an application for an improvement purchase, and the Government had no power to make a contract. This point, however, had not been taken at the trial, and the CHIEF JUSTICE, refusing to allow it to be taken before the Full Court, founded his judgment on the bare ground that a contract had been proved by the Gazette notice and the issue of the grant. SIR W. MANNING, however, went further, and held that when the Crown, having satisfied itself as to the improvements, had made a contract in terms of the Gazette notice, "it was not open to a conditional purchaser to select the land and then ask a jury to say that the Crown was wrong because the improvements were not, in their opinion, sufficient at the time of the contract."

It would, perhaps, have been better if the objection as to the invalidity of the application and the contract had been taken at the trial, and been considered by the three Judges. As the matter now stands, however, it appears that when once the notice of permission to make an improvement purchase has been gazetted, no selection of the land made afterwards can be supported by showing that the land sold in virtue of improvements was unimproved at the time of the contract. The application of the improvement purchaser may have been invalid. The Crown may have contracted to make a sale and grant which the law expressly disallowed. But when the Crown has made a contract by publishing the Gazette notice of permission to purchase, that contract is not to be disregarded or questioned by any free selector coming in afterwards. It follows, therefore, that any amount of land might be withdrawn from conditional purchase by means of deceptive applications for improvement purchases, false valuations by surveyors, and the publicly-notified consent of a misinformed Government.

It is easy to see why the committee declined to recommend MRS. CLYNE's claim to favourable consideration. In the first place, CLYNE had by law no right at all to be upon the land. In the next, although he was cautioned by MR. LORD's agent, about a month after entering, not to continue improvements because of MR. LORD's claim, he persisted in continuing them, and he still continued up to the time of his death, in May, 1880, notwithstanding notice from the Government, in October, 1879, that his application had been declared void. Under such circumstances a claim against the Government for compensation may be "considered," as the report suggests, but it can only be considered as inadmissible. The CLYNES have suffered, without doubt. Their expenditure upon improvements is valued at £151, their law expenses have amounted to about £800, but the outlay in both directions was dictated by a mistaken view of the law; and if everybody who suffers by misunderstanding the law and over-confidence is to be reimbursed by the Government, there will be some strange items in future Estimates. The chief value of the Parliamentary inquiry in this case is to show how bad is the law which, professedly intended to make settlement the simplest and easiest thing in the world to men of small means but of enterprise and industry, covers the face of the country with traps and pitfalls to their ruin.

The Government of Victoria has always done its best to advertise the capabilities of the Alfred Graving Dock at Williamstown, and now has been having H.M.S. Nelson photographed from various points of view while in dock with the intention of distributing the photographs in England. The Victorian Government is perfectly justified in this, but its action should move the Government of New South Wales to push on as fast as possible with the construction of the large dock for which Parliament voted some time ago the necessary cost. For a long time past it has been a matter for much regret that a port like Sydney should be without the means for docking vessels of the largest size; and that Sydney should be the headquarters of the British squadron in Australian waters, and yet be without the accommodation necessary for cleaning or repairing the COMMODORE's ship, is somewhat anomalous. The docks and slips that Sydney possesses number four, and of these the largest is the Fitzroy Dock at Cockatoo Island. That dock has served the purposes of several ships of war, including the Galatea, and it has accommodated merchant steamships like the Chimborazo and the Whampoa; but with the arrival of the Nelson as the principal ship of the Australian squadron, a class of vessels hitherto unknown in these waters is represented here, and, capable as the Fitzroy Dock may be of meeting the requirements of ordinary war vessels, it is inadequate for supplying the wants of an ironclad like Commodore ERSKINE's ship. The docking accommodation of the port certainly should be increased in accordance with the superior arrangements made for our naval defence. The longer we remain without a larger dock than we now possess the greater will be the reflection cast upon the port. The service which has been rendered the Nelson in the dock at Williamstown is not the first thing of the kind that has drawn attention prominently to the advantage which Melbourne possesses in this respect over Sydney, and each occasion has to an important extent increased the reputation of Melbourne as a shipping port. This fact should not give rise to any feeling of jealousy, but it should awaken a strong spirit of emulation, and lead to the speedy construction of the new dock so much required in the port of Sydney.

It is understood that the Australian Eleven, instead of disbanding immediately upon their return to the colonies, will play a series of matches as a united team, and that the members of the Eleven, while willing as a united body to meet the Hon. Ivo Bligh's team, will refuse to play against them on behalf of their respective colonies. In other words, New South Wales will have to play the English Eleven without the assistance of our players connected with the Australian Eleven. This match does not take place till the 1st December. The New South Wales contingent of the Australian team will be here, and yet they will not be allowed to play on behalf of the colony. The only explanation is "business arrangements." For the credit of Australian cricket we hope that this determination will not be acted upon. We would prefer to regard the members of that team as gentlemen players, but if it should turn out that, for the sake of a few pounds to be made out of an exhibition of themselves as a travelling company of cricketing showmen, they refuse to disband, they will have earned the character of professionals. Of course they have a perfect right to become professionals, to stipulate for a share of the gate-money at all their matches, and even to act as paid instructors in batting and bowling for junior clubs. In short, they have a perfect right to make the sport of cricket their means of livelihood; but by all means let that be distinctly understood, and let it be known that they have forfeited all claim to be considered gentlemen players. If cricket is to be bread and butter to them, they should not attempt to sail under false colours as players of the game for the love of the game itself: they should candidly admit that their chief incentive is not the honour of excelling in the cricket field, but the prospect of pocketing a few pounds of gate money. We would gladly believe that the reverse was the case, but we have in our midst the best English eleven that has ever visited these shores, and should the members of the Australian team refuse to play with their respective colonies against that eleven, we cannot resist the conviction that the prospect of gain has more influence than the boasted "cricketing honour of Australia."

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Great distress prevails in Ireland, but according to the Chief Secretary, who replied to a question in the House of Commons, the unions are able to cope with it, and need no special aid. The Pope has expressed horror at the outrages in Ireland, and has charged the Roman Catholic clergy to suppress lawlessness as much as possible.

The Archbishop of Canterbury has suffered a relapse, and the condition of his health is again causing uneasiness.

The condition of affairs in France is not improving. One of our cablegrams of this morning states that thirty more anarchists have been arrested at Lyons, and charged with fomenting disturbances. Another says that a rising of the Legitimists is expected, and that they will be supported by the Zouaves and a part of the cavalry regiments.

The Cuzco's shipment of frozen mutton has been examined at London, and the meat found to be in good condition, and to have been better frozen than the previous shipment.

A mistranslation of portion of one of our special messages, published on Tuesday, is likely to lead to a wrong interpretation unless it is explained. It is to the effect that "M. Giers, Ambassador for France at the Court of St. Petersburg, is about to pay a visit to Prince Bismarck and Count Kalnoky." M. Giers is Russian Minister for Foreign Affairs, and very much in favour with the Emperor, and his visit to Berlin and Vienna seems to look rather like an amicable understanding between Russia, Germany, and Austria. In fact, one of our cablegrams this morning explains that M. de Gier's visit to Berlin is for the purpose of cementing the existing relations between the Emperors of Russia and Germany.

One of the matters brought under the notice of the Executive Council yesterday was the case of a teacher in the Department of Public Instruction, who had been detected in falsifying his school register. Several similar cases have lately been reported from Victoria, but in only very few instances has the practice been discovered in this colony. The falsification consists in marking the roll-book so as to make it appear that a larger number of pupils were present than really were present, the object being to make the school appear to be of a higher class, and to secure a higher salary to the teacher. In the case in question suspicion had been aroused and inquiries were made which showed that a boy had been marked as a regular attendant at school, whereas he had been for some weeks in bed with a broken leg, and credit was given to other children for being present when, in point of fact, they had been kept at home for various reasons. It was very properly decided in this case to dismiss the teacher, whose detection and punishment may perhaps prove a deterrent to others.

In consequence of the injuries sustained by many of the passengers who were in the mail train which recently ran into a goods train at Bathurst, a number of claims for compensation were sent in to the Government, and we believe that most of them have been settled. The Montague-Turner Troupe have received £400. £150 of this sum is made up of various amounts representing the claims of members of the troupe generally, two of whom have been awarded £30 each, one £25, one £20, one £15, and others £10 or £5 each. The balance, £250, goes to the principals of the troupe, and covers the loss which they sustained by being delayed two nights in Bathurst, by having to go to the expense of reprinting and advertising, and by having to pay for the hiring of halls. This amount includes also the cost of conveying the troupe back to Sydney from Dubbo.

It has already been announced that the Government has had under consideration the subject of the wages paid to the men engaged in special trades in the railway service with the view of assimilating the amounts paid to them—in accordance with the principles laid down in the regulations for employment—to the wages paid in private establishments. We understand that the wages have now been adjusted, and the men will be informed of the alterations made as soon as possible. In regard to the resolutions of Parliament, passed some time back, that the minimum amount to be paid to railway workmen generally should be 7s. per day, we understand that in view of the increases that have been given in private establishments, and the high price of living, a closer observance will be paid to this resolution than has hitherto been the case, and all men now receiving 6s. and 6s. 6d. per day will have their wages increased to 7s. per day.

Another of our Transit of Venus parties left Sydney last evening per steamer Ne Oblie, for Port Macquarie. The observers are Mr. G. D. Hirst and Mr. W. J. MacDonnell, well known for their astronomical work and experience at the Transit of Venus in 1874 and since. The instruments are by the well-known makers Alvan Clark of America, and W. Wray of London. The top of a hill near Port Macquarie, commanding a magnificent view over the sea, has been chosen as a site for their operations, and they only need a fine morning to enable them to give a satisfactory account of the egress of Venus. This completes the coast stations—Dromedary, Sydney, Port Macquarie, and Clarence Peak. Lord Howe Island party should be at their destination this afternoon or to-morrow, and in a few days Mr. Morris will leave for Katoomba, on the Western Railway.

Among the shipments by the late mail steamships from San Francisco were considerable quantities of prime apples. For the most part they have come to hand in excellent condition. Each apple was enclosed in a separate paper, and care taken in the packing. The fruit has found a ready market in the colony, at from 3s. to 4s. per dozen.

The inquest touching the Austral disaster was concluded yesterday. The only witness examined was Mr. G. S. Yuill, the local manager for the Orient Company. He was called upon to appear at the request of the jury. At about half-past 10 o'clock a.m. the jury retired to consider their verdict, and at noon the Coroner inquired as to whether they had agreed, and he was met with a reply in the negative. He ordered them to be locked up again, and at a quarter to 3 o'clock the Coroner was sent for. The foreman then stated that there was no possibility of a verdict being arrived at. The Coroner remarked that he did not feel justified in discharging them until they had deliberated at greater length. They were then locked up until nearly 5 o'clock, when they brought in a verdict to the effect that the captain and officers of the vessel had been guilty of gross negligence. The Coroner pointed out that such a verdict amounted to one of manslaughter, and he therefore could not accept it unless the officers were specified. The verdict was withdrawn, and subsequently the jury were locked up until 9 p.m., when they returned into court with a verdict to the effect that the deceased men met their deaths through drowning caused by the sinking of the Austral, they being on the vessel at the time, and that the jury were of opinion that the captain, his chief officer, chief engineer, and carpenter committed grave errors of judgment in not taking better precautions to secure the safety of the ship.

The strike of the wharf labourers still remains in the condition it has been in since the commencement of the dispute. An effort was made by Alderman Playfair to get the employers' committee and the committee representing the men together, in order to talk over matters and see if some understanding could be arrived at; but the employers refused to depart from the course they had determined upon, and therefore considered a meeting such as that suggested unnecessary. This refusal on the part of the employers to recognise any attempt at compromise appears to have made the men more determined, at any rate for the present, to adhere to their demand for increased wages, and yesterday the tone adopted by some of the committee when speaking of the circumstances of the strike was more defiant than was apparent on previous occasions. Nevertheless, there are those who say that the strike cannot last much longer. The men held a large meeting on Flagstaff-hill yesterday morning, and have formed themselves into a Labourers' Union, which is said to number nearly 2000 members. Some of the employers complain that intimidation is being used to prevent men from working, though perfectly willing to work and under engagement to do so. Some ten men were engaged by Talbot and Co., who obtained them by advertisement, and they went to work putting wool into the store, but a number of wharf labourers out on strike came round and induced them one by one to leave off work and to go away. Messrs. Lamb and Co. were treated in a similar manner. In some cases, it is said, men on strike have threatened to do all sorts of things if men engaged by the employers to work during the strike do not cease working. In the meantime, matters connected with the discharging and loading of vessels in port are not improved. By a great effort the P. and O. Company's steamship Peshawur was got away. Messrs. Lamb and Co. and Messrs. Flood and Co. joined in the endeavour to do what was necessary to prepare the vessel for her outward voyage, and they, with the help of the crew, discharged 500 tons of bar and other iron, including some very heavy lifts, and about 700 tons of measurement goods, and put on board 300 tons of tin. The steamer cleared the Heads early on Monday morning with only 100 tons of bar iron—part of her inward cargo—remaining on board, and that will be discharged at Melbourne, and sent back to Sydney by the next steamer. The Garonne is still doing what can be done by means of her own crew. The ship John Duthie is being loaded with wool by her crew, assisted by a few permanently employed labourers, and the Loch Etive, the Duchess of Edinburgh, and the Grasmere are going on in the same way. The Phasis is being discharged by her own crew exclusively.

The Australian Eleven were banquetted last night at the Exchange Hotel, when they received a very enthusiastic reception. The team leave for Melbourne by the 8.30 train to-night. They will have a complimentary reception at Melbourne, after which they proceed to Adelaide, where they are to play a match against 15 of South Australia on the 8th, 9th, 11th, and 12th of December. The team will afterwards be temporarily disbanded for the purpose of enabling the players to take part in the Intercolonial Match, New South Wales v. Victoria, commencing on the 26th December. In that match the members of the Australian Eleven will play on behalf of their respective colonies. On the 1st January and following days the Australian Eleven, as a united team, will play against the Hon. Ivo Bligh's team at Melbourne, and on the 26th January the Australian Eleven (still playing as a united team) will meet the English Eleven at Sydney. It is also probable that a match will be arranged to take place at Adelaide between the same two teams between the 1st and 26th January. The Melbourne Argus, referring to the fixtures for the English Eleven, says:—"On Friday, the 1st December, the match against New South Wales commences, and it is expected that the New South Wales contingent of the Australian Eleven will enter the field for the sister colony. Judging from the scores which have been made in the Victorian match, New South Wales cannot have much chance of victory without the assistance of Murdoch, Massie, Garrett, Bannerman, Jones, and Spofforth." We understand that the business engagements of the Australian Eleven will not permit of their playing on behalf of their respective colonies against the English Eleven until after the disbandment of the Australians, which will not be before the end of January.

The letter of our Mauritius correspondent (which appears in another column) contains a brief account of the wreck of the new Clyde-built steamer, the Clan Campbell, 3000 tons, on some reefs on the south-east side of the island of Mauritius. The vessel has been abandoned, and owing to there being a case of smallpox on board, the captain, officers, crew, and all those who went to their assistance, have been placed in quarantine.

In the Supreme Court yesterday the hearing of Harvey v. Prince was resumed and concluded. This was an action for breach of a contract to pay for 81 tons of oaten hay, and had been previously tried, when the jury disagreed and were discharged. The jury now, by a majority, found for the plaintiff, damages £74 13s. 1d. The hearing of M'Donald v. Warren, for trespass on plaintiff's run, was begun and part heard. In the Jury Court the hearing of Stephen v. Doyle had not concluded when the Court rose.

Throughout yesterday the weather was hot and oppressive, and dense clouds of dust were carried through the streets. After sundown the atmosphere was somewhat cooler and pleasanter by reason of the absence of dust. A north to north-easterly breeze prevailed throughout the day, and there were strong indications of a change. All the vessels that arrived in port from along the coast reported having experienced a heavy head sea, with strong N. to N.E. winds. Telegrams received from various parts of the country state that the weather in the country districts was most oppressive, and that there were indications of rain.

A meeting of the Public School Board for district No. 1 was held yesterday afternoon, at the Bent-street Library. Present: The Hon. John Stewart, in the chair; the Hon. Messrs. Alderson, Wilson, and the secretary, Mr. G. Lewis. The decease of Mr. James Greenwood, a member of the board, was reported. It was intimated that with a view to provide for the educational requirements of the south-west end of the district (Parramatta-street), the Government had resumed a portion of the Blackfriars estate, upon which to erect commodious Public school buildings; that Public school buildings were now in course of erection at Liverpool-street, Darlinghurst; and that Public school buildings were in course of erection in Bourke-street. A communication was received from the Department of Public Instruction, stating that a Public school will be opened at the beginning of next year in the premises now occupied by the St. James' certified Denominational school.

A brief telegraphic record of the destruction of the Garden Palace by fire, on September 22 last, appeared in the London Mail (the evening issue of the Times), through Reuter's Agency, the same evening.

Art and Letters for October is well up to the usual standard, and maintains its reputation for being a high-class journal of fine art and fiction. The first paper is a biography of Franz Hals, one of the best painters of the ultra-natural Dutch school, about the early portion of the 17th century, and as usual the article is brightened and illustrated by several engravings of Hals' works. In an essay on Pompeii and the museum of Naples, much old ground is re traversed, but a great deal of interesting information is compressed into a short space. Then follow the first instalment of a capital history of the fan and its uses, and the fifth paper of the series on modern landscape, the number closing with a few more chapters of Mrs. Comyns Carr's new novel, "La Fortunina." Of the full-page engravings the first and best is "A Declaration of War," engraved by Meaulle, from the picture by Karl Bodmer, which represents a noble stag belling his challenge to another lord of the forest, who seems likely to prove a formidable foe.

If all the loss of time and delay that daily occurs in the world were measured by the standard set up by the Licensing Bench at the Central Police Court yesterday, young ladies whose "just a minute" means under ordinary circumstances half an hour, would be rendered bankrupt in the course of six months. It was decided that to keep a police officer waiting admission at the door of an hotel for about two minutes—the testimony differed as to whether the time that elapsed was a minute and a-half or a few seconds over two minutes—was an "unreasonable delay." To notice a policeman doing his beat, at the rate of about a mile and a-half in the hour, it would not be thought that time was counted so precious among the members of the force. The "unreasonable delay" caused the publican the loss of £2, with costs—that is to say, without qualification, that a policeman's time is estimated at a pecuniary value of about £1 per minute.

The constant disagreement and contradiction between witnesses in cases brought before the Licensing Court has frequently called forth remarks from the presiding magistrates, and yesterday, at the Central Police Court, in a case in which apparently gross perjury had been committed on either the one or the other side, the chairman, Mr. Dillon, said that an action for perjury should certainly be taken by either one of two parties against the other. Perjury in these cases had become scandalously common. Sub-inspector Mackay, who conducted the case on behalf of the police, said that if he found the points on which there was so great a contradiction of evidence material to the issue, he would take steps to open a prosecution.

Thomas Smith was charged at the Water Police Court yesterday afternoon, before Mr. Marsh, S.M., with having, on the 27th February, at Blanche Bay, New Britain, wilfully murdered Philip Rolls, master of the British schooner Annie C. Lynn. The prisoner, who has been remanded for the last 24 weeks, and who reserved his defence, was committed for trial at the next gaol delivery. A report of the case is given in another column.

A serious disturbance occurred at Mr. Manning's public-house, Smithfield, near Parramatta, yesterday. A number of labourers after getting much the worse for liquor attempted to steal more, and upon the interference of the proprietor attempted to take his life. Information was at once laid at the police station at Parramatta. Sergeant Bremner despatched some of his men to see into it: but when they arrived at Smithfield one of them was fired at by the rioters. The shot luckily missed its mark. Seven of the offenders were apprehended and brought to the Parramatta lockup. They will be prosecuted at the Parramatta Police Court to-day.

A man named Michael Dooley, 29 years of age, was drowned on Monday night in a well at the rear of his mother's residence, Fraser's-road, Petersham. He had gone out to get a bucket of water, and on his not returning search was made by his brother and others, who found his body in the well. Deceased had been subject to fits.

Our Kempsey correspondent telegraphs that a public presentation was made yesterday at noon, at the School of Arts, Kempsey, by Mr. George Forsyth, J.P., on behalf of about 80 subscribers, to Mr. Alfred Humphrey, manager of the Commercial Bank, Kempsey, whose directors have granted him twelve months' leave of absence. Mr. Humphrey leaves for Europe on Friday. The presentation consisted of a purse of 80 sovereigns, and a magnificently engrossed address. Mr. Humphrey responded in suitable terms, and cheers for him, the chairman, and the Queen were vociferously given.

A correspondent at Girilambone says:—"The Girilambone people are protesting against the Government boring for water for the use of the township, as it is impossible to get good water by boring. What the inhabitants want is a dam or tank, there being a most suitable place for either on the Government reserve, half-a-mile south of the town. The dam could be erected at very little cost. The matter, it is considered, should be referred to Mr. Gilliat, the Inspector of Public Tanks, who has been here, and the opinion of the Government geologist should also be obtained. It is felt it will only be a waste of money to bore for good water at Girilambone, as experience has shown that such cannot be obtained. It is a known fact that it would be a saving of many miles if a line of railway were to start from Girilambone to Cobar. There would be no engineering difficulties to contend with by this route, whilst in starting from Nyngan to Cobar there is a deal of flooded country and other obstacles to contend against. A petition is being prepared to protest against the line going from Nyngan to Cobar, not on selfish grounds, but because the other is the shortest and a long way the best route."

A correspondent writes in very forcible terms respecting an act of cruelty perpetrated by some larrikins on a goat near the Central Wharf. After dragging the poor creature about with a rope, and thrashing it with sticks till it was too exhausted to resist any longer, they threw it into the water, and continued to torment it until it was drowned. Our correspondent, who witnessed the scene from the deck of the Peshawur, declares that if he had had firearms at hand he would have fired upon the ruffians without compunction, but beyond sending for a policeman he does not seem to have made any personal effort to put an end to the outrage that so roused his indignation.

The Governor of the Fiji Islands, Mr. Des Voeux, in replying to a communication from the Planters' Association, urging the necessity of representing to her Majesty's Government the desirability of reconsidering the decision formerly arrived with respect to loans in aid of Indian and Polynesian immigration to Fiji, says that he has given his best consideration to the letter dated September 1st, 1882, addressed to the Colonial Secretary on behalf of the Planters' Association of Fiji with reference to a proposed loan in aid of Indian and Polynesian immigration; but while sincerely desirous of assisting employers in obtaining the required labour, he feels that Government aid can only be justly given in respect of such immigrants as may be confidently expected to repay, by their services, the cost incurred for bringing them to the colony. This cost in the case of Polynesians is now such, that it is extremely doubtful whether any other than the most profitable industries, conducted on a larger scale of operations, can be expected to make it remunerative. The Governor believes that to aid the smaller plantations in obtaining Polynesians would only, in very exceptional cases, advance their prosperity, and would almost certainly involve the colony in serious loss.

Regarding England's interest in Madagascar, the Morning Advertiser observes:—"It might not at first sight be apparent why people in England should concern themselves with what the French may or may not be doing in an island in the Indian Ocean; but there is a very practical reason all the same which cannot be too generally understood. Closely contiguous to Madagascar is situated the island of Mauritius, an English colony, the importance of which lies in the fact that it contains the only harbour and only repairing docks between the Cape and India. Mauritius without Madagascar would starve. Mauritius produces nothing but the sugar cane. With the exception of water, everything the inhabitants eat, drink, or wear has to be imported. The fresh meat and vegetables are brought almost daily from Madagascar; there is, in fact, no other place from which they can be procured, and therefore it follows that, with Madagascar under other than native control, our fellow-countrymen in Mauritius might be placed in a very awkward position, and our repairing docks rendered useless. It may be added that the Malagasy, as the inhabitants of Madagascar are called, are an industrious and peaceable race. They ask no more than to be let alone, and to be protected from the aggression of the French."

In commenting on the debate and its result on the Land Bill, the Argus remarks:—"The matter and the manner of the defeat of the Parkes-Robertson Government in New South Wales must occasion equal surprise. The division itself was unexpected, and there was no general supposition that the Ministry would sustain a reverse on a bill which is little more than a measure to consolidate existing Land Acts. The character of the bill makes the division doubly important. The fate of the Ministry seems the larger interest now, but hereafter the incident may be most remembered, because it is the first occasion on which a popular assembly in Australia has declared that the much-vaunted principle of free selection before survey is a failure. Sir John Robertson is the apostle of that principle, so far as the Southern Hemisphere is concerned. Mr. Wilson Gray, Mr. J. M. Grant, and the other Convention leaders, merely followed in his footsteps. In 1861 Sir John, then plain Mr. Robertson carried his first free selection before survey bill, amid popular applause, and now, 21 years afterwards, an Assembly, comparatively fresh from the country, says that the work has been bad, and that it is desirable to retrace the national footsteps."

A discussion (observes London Truth) is going on about waiters' fees. First, the proprietor of a restaurant charges for waiting, then the head waiter who farms the post expects a fee for handing the bill, and lastly, the actual man who waits hangs greedily around the table when the bill is being paid, in the hope of getting something. All this is extortion. A tip to the man who serves is reasonable enough when he is civil and obliging; but why should the twin harpies, the proprietor and the proprietor's farmer, be paid? In France the same system of farming exists; but then the proprietor does not charge for attendance, nor does the individual waiter expect anything. In that country, the habit is to give 10 per cent. on the bill; if it is five francs, the waiter receives five pence, and so on. It would be well if the London frequenters of restaurants were to adopt the same system, first deducting as part of the tip any amount charged in the bill.

An English paper says:—"The American courts have recently had to deal with the difficult question of courtship as at present practised in the States, and, needless to say, they have brought great learning to play on the subject. 'In order to establish a promise of marriage (said the court below), it is not necessary to show the making of presents, the writing of love-letters, and all of such things that pass between young people. We have long since passed that day.' The court above was of a different opinion, and viewed with surprise and indignation the sentiment of the court below, and 'that a jury had inferred a promise when it appeared the wooer had only been in the house of the wooed four times, but had met her out in the evenings, sometimes at church, walked home with her and left her at the gate.' With these remarks they overruled the court below. The old order will therefore at present not give way to the new; and it may still be necessary to go through the preliminary steps of 'presents, love-letters,' and 'social attentions;' for, 'talk six times to the same maiden lady and you may get the wedding dresses ready,' is a sentiment the American Judges will never admit."

Prof. Bischof's system of water filtration has (says a London paper) been for some time before the public. The use of spongy iron has now been applied on a large scale to the water obtained from the river Nette for the supply of the city of Antwerp. Dr. Frankland has visited the Antwerp waterworks at Waelheim, about 15 miles above that city, and reported on the results of his inquiry. He attaches especial value to the fact that spongy iron filtration "is absolutely fatal to Bacteria and their germs."

A special meeting of the Australian Mutual Provident Society is advertised for to-day, and those who are interested will do well to note that it is to be held, not at the Society's Offices, but at the Masonic Hall.

For some months past a Baptist Church has been in course of erection at Petersham, and, as will be seen by advertisement, a public meeting is convened at the Town Hall to-morrow evening, to further a project for the erection of a church.

The band of the N.S.W. Artillery, under the direction of Bandmaster E. R. Pennell, will perform in the Botanic Gardens this afternoon (weather permitting), from 3.15 to 4.45.

THE POLITICAL CRISIS.

All speculation as to the result of the present political crisis was set at rest yesterday, a little after 12 o'clock, by the publication of a Government Gazette extraordinary proroguing Parliament until the 12th December. As we announced in yesterday's issue, his Excellency Lord Augustus Loftus had previously promised the Government that he would grant them a dissolution, and the matter was only delayed until the necessary arrangements could be made. A meeting of the Executive Council was held at noon yesterday, at which the proclamation proroguing Parliament was adopted. In consequence of this there was no House at the Legislative Assembly yesterday. The members generally were pretty well aware of what had been done, and were not taken by surprise, as many of them were some nine or ten years ago when a dissolution took place rather suddenly. The outside public, however, as represented by the seedy politicians who throng the Strangers' Gallery whenever there is any prospect of an exciting debate, appeared to be very much disappointed, and would hardly believe the announcement made to them by the officials that Parliament was prorogued. The prorogation is, of course, only the preliminary step towards a dissolution. The Crown has the power of sending the Parliament about its business at any moment, but practically it is the custom to proclaim a prorogation a few days prior to the dissolution. The summary method of dissolving Parliament adopted by Oliver Cromwell, it need scarcely be said, has entirely gone out of fashion. However, the tenth Parliament of New South Wales is now, de facto a thing of the past, for the formal dissolution will not be delayed any longer than is required for making proper provision for carrying out the new elections. It is expected that another meeting of the Executive Council will be held to-morrow (Thursday), when the proclamation of dissolution will be issued. In the meantime, many of the old members are preparing the addresses with which they contemplate wooing the sweet voices of the electors, and the several organisations that usually seek to sway the votes are arranging their plans for the coming campaign. New candidates are mentioned, and there is every probability that the coming contest—certainly as regards Sydney and the suburbs—will be both animated and exciting.

MINING INTELLIGENCE.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Correspondents.)

ADELONG, Tuesday.

The Challenger G. M. Company have deposited with the warden's clerk two pyrite specimens of over a hundredweight each. They are very rich, and are destined for exhibition at Amsterdam.

More rain is wanted for mining.

NYMAGEE, Tuesday.

The output of the mine for the week ending the 18th November is as follows:—200 tons of ore smelted, producing 75 tons of regulus, equal to 34 tons of fine copper.

The manager of the Great Cobar Copper-mining Company, Limited, reports:—Underground: Barton's shaft has been sunk 7 feet 6 inches, and is now down 134½ feet below the 54 fathom level. This shaft is still going down on the lode, and no sign of either wall at this depth. The lode has improved in quality during the last four feet sunk, and in the bottom is composed of yellow ore spar and elvan; the ore is of rich quality. At the 54 fathom level the north end has been extended 9 feet 6 inches, and is now 224 feet 8 inches from the shaft. The lode in this end continues about the same as previously reported. In the south end I have cut across the lode 24 feet, including the widths of the end; and judging from present appearances, I am of opinion the lode has either heaved to the east or pinched out at this place. A few more weeks' work will, however, decide this point, as I have men still employed cutting across the lode on what appears to be the face of a break; the lode is exceedingly hard at this place, and therefore slow progress is being made with this work. At the 39 fathom level, the lode in the stopes north and south of Barton's shaft has somewhat improved in quality. About 1000 tons 14 per cent. ore have been broken from the different stopes during the past month. All appliances are in good working order. At Grass.—The jigger was kept steadily at work for three weeks, and the ore put through successfully treated. At the Smelting Works.—870 tons ore were smelted, producing equal to 119 tons fine copper, and 103½ tons fine copper have been despatched. Work was somewhat retarded during the early part of the month, owing to the wet experienced here. I have now six furnaces at work, and more than sufficient firewood is at present being delivered to keep this number going. Firewood Tramway.—Good progress is being made both in erecting viaduct at smelting works, and in clearing and making the way ready to lay down the rails. The late rains here have caused a nice spring in the grass in the district, and I hope now to be able to despatch more copper.

Mr. J. Morcombe reports the following telegram from Gympie:—Payable gold struck in Deep Lead (alluvial), prospectors' claim.

The manager of the Wesley Tin Mining Company, Limited, reports the yield for week ending 18th instant to be 18 tons of ore; also, that Flannery and party have cut five feet of wash in their prospecting area, of the usual quality.

OVERLAND PASSENGER TRAFFIC.

[By Telegraph.]

ALBURY, Tuesday.

The following passed through to-day:—

For Sydney: Mrs. Shilton, Miss Crossley, Mrs. Hurwood and child, Mrs. Rumpf and 2 children, Mrs. Scott, servant and 2 children, Misses Brown (3), Messrs. G. Brown, J. Cameron, A. Aarons, W. Muno, W. Watkins, P. Sheridan, J. M. Brydon, O. Goodwin, H. Mahon, C. E. E. Sabine, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. M'Culloch.

For Melbourne: Messrs. A. W. Brown, H. Y. L. Brown, J. Aikman, J. H. Whelock, M. Josephson, R. Pennefether, C. Anderson, W. Fraser, W. Coote, J. C. A. Kruger, H. C. Bate, J. A. Wartin, J. H. Tompson, C. Miller, J. Glass, W. Ferguson, E. Swallow, J. Grimaldi, D. A. Gowing, J. Williams, W. H. Woodland, F. H. Green, P. E. Dalzott, G. T. Royzeu, J. C. Higginbotham, D. Mundover, A. Halloran, Miss Halloran, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Chesner, nurse and child, Mrs. T. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Thomas and Miss Martin.

Annam and Tonquin.—The China Mail says:—"We hear from Saigon, by the Anadyr, that as soon as the French Government is more assured about affairs in Europe, all Annam, and Tonquin to boot, will be effectually annexed. It occurs to us that China, which is not in the clear right, had better take means in time for the prevention of any explosions that would complicate matters. In Cochin-China the French Governor has an ample number of French soldiers to guard from capture Haf-phong and Ha-noi. He has also a considerable force of trained Annamese troops, who, to the number of 10,000 or 12,000, are armed with Chassepot rifles and directed by French regimental officers. If requisite, the China troops could be at once expelled from Tonquin. The condition of Yunnan and the western parts of Kuang-si is bad; and the Governor-General will do well to suppress brigandage and tranquillise his subjects by good government before the French Government take Tonquin affairs in hand."

INTERCOLONIAL NEWS.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Correspondents.)

VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

At the City Police Court this morning, a man named James O'Shannassy was sentenced to three years' imprisonment on a series of charges of false pretences and forgery. The prisoner for a long time has succeeded in evading arrest. It was stated in court to-day that, in addition to a large quantity of goods he had obtained by means of valueless cheques, O'Shannassy had obtained about £260 in cash as change. In one instance he passed a cheque for £60, purporting to be signed by Mr. Chirnside, on a leading firm of drapers. It was afterwards found that the signature was totally unlike, and further that Mr. Chirnside had no account in the bank on which the cheque was drawn.

PARLIAMENT OF VICTORIA.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Correspondent.)

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

In the Legislative Council the new members, who have been returned unopposed for various provinces, made the usual declarations and took their seats. A large number of petitions were presented in favour of various lines of railway. The President announced that the Governor had given the Royal assent to the Railway Loan Application Bill. Mr. Balfour moved the second reading of the Statute Trust Amendment Bill, and a debate followed. The bill was read a second time, and formally committed. The Consolidated Revenue Bill was passed through all its stages, and the House adjourned.

In the Assembly, on the motion that the House go into Committee of Supply, Mr. Hall moved the contingent motion standing in his name, to the effect that, in the opinion of this House, the duty on tea should be abolished. Sir Bryan O'Loghlen stated that the Ministry thoroughly agreed with the motion, and were in fact pledged to remit the tea duty. They would have done so during the present session if time would have allowed them, but to carry the motion now would only result in a postponement of Supply that evening. The motion was negatived on division by 37 to 21. The House then went into Committee of Supply, when Sir Bryan O'Loghlen moved that the sum of £653,000 be voted for Supply for the next two months. Mr. Berry objected to the item of £232,000 contained in the bill for the Railway Department, contending that the House ought to be placed in possession of information as to how the money was to be expended. He referred at some length to the purchase of filling up stuff from Kensington Hill, in regard to which Mr. Bent subsequently entered into a full explanation. Subsequently Supply was passed through all its stages. Sir Bryan O'Loghlen during the evening remarked that Ministers had abandoned all hope of closing the session at Christmas. Bills to redeem the loan due in October next, also to provide for creating inscribed stock and redemption, were agreed to without opposition.

False Eyelashes.—Labouchere says in Truth:—"The Parisians have found out how to make false eyelashes. I do not speak of the vulgar and well-known trick of darkening the rim round the eye with all kinds of dirty compositions, or the more artistic plan of doing so on the inside of the lid. No; they actually draw a fine needle, threaded with dark hair, through the skin of the eyelid, forming long loops, and, after the process is over—I am told it is a painless one—a splendid dark fringe veils the coquette's eyes."

The Orient steamer Potosi, which arrived to-day, left Plymouth on 9th ultimo, but she brings files of English papers, which she picked up at Suez, to 13th ultimo. On arrival she was taken to quarantine in consequence of a case of scarlatina having occurred, but after an inspection the health officer allowed her to come up the bay.

COUNTRY NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

NEWCASTLE, TUESDAY.

It is reported that at half-past 5 this afternoon a magnificent seam of coal was struck at Stockton, at a depth of 328 feet, by the duplex barrel of the Coghland diamond drill. Boring will be resumed to-morrow.

A miserly fellow, who has been sleeping on the wharf and in out-of-the-way places for the last eighteen months, instead of paying for his lodgings, was hunted off to-day by the authorities. He had nearly £100 worth of cash concealed about his person.

GRAFTON, TUESDAY.

Mr. John See has announced himself as a candidate for re-election for Grafton.

KEMPSEY, TUESDAY.

The dissolution of Parliament has taken parties by surprise. A meeting has been called for this afternoon of the friends of Mr. R. B. Smith, who will be solicited to stand. It is reported that Mr. Smith, with Mr. C. J. Roberts, C.M.G., will stand for the Manning and Hastings.

Maize is scarce, and considerable difficulty is experienced in securing cargoes.

BOURKE, TUESDAY.

Rain is now reported as general throughout this district. Yesterday it was showery, and to-day it is raining steadily with every appearance of its continuing. The river is rising, and at Bogan it is reported to be coming down heavily. At Cobar, Nymagee, Wilcannia, and Brewarrina it is raining heavily. The Sydney coach arrived this morning 16 hours late, the roads being very heavy from here to Bogan. No Sydney mails came through.

WILCANNIA, TUESDAY.

It commenced to rain this morning and continued till 4 in the afternoon. 110 points have fallen. It has been raining all day at Menindie, and it is supposed to be general over the district. The height of the river is six feet here. There is no change higher up worth noting.

ORANGE, TUESDAY.

The forthcoming election is already forming the principal topic of discussion, and there is much speculation as to the probabilities of the result. With respect to the Orange electorate, Mr. Clarke has announced his intention to offer himself for re-election, whilst Mr. Kerr has intimated that he will not seek to return to Parliament. The names of several probable candidates are already mentioned, and their merits are being canvassed. It is expected that there will be a keen contest here.

Newman, who caused the death of Thackeray in a scuffle between them some weeks ago, has been committed for trial at the next Bathurst Assizes on the charge of manslaughter. The business of the Court of Quarter Sessions, held under the presidency of Mr. Justice Candell yesterday, was of an unimportant character.

The weather is unsettled, and very like rain.

GOULBURN, TUESDAY.

The weather for the last few days has been intensely hot, with signs of storms, but no rain has followed.

YOUNG, TUESDAY.

The Hon. the Colonial Treasurer addresses the electors here on Monday evening next. There are several gentlemen named as candidates. News of the dissolution excited great interest, and the course taken was generally approved.

MORUYA, TUESDAY.

Great surprise and indignation are expressed at the sudden withdrawal of the dredge from this river. The work is not half complete. No good has resulted from the operations up to date. In fact, the river will soon be worse than before.

General satisfaction is expressed at the vote our members gave on the Land Bill.

The weather has been very gloomy lately, but no rain fell until to-day, when slight thundershowers occurred. The country is looking well.

BUNGENDORE, TUESDAY.

The weather for the past few days has been intensely hot and sultry. We were visited by a terrific thunderstorm on Sunday afternoon. The thunder and lightning were fearful, with heavy hail, and the storm lasted for about three hours. The weather remained unsettled all night. On Monday morning it was threatening, but very heavy rain fell from about 10 o'clock, lasting almost the whole day, coming down a perfect deluge. All the waterholes were filled in a very short time. It was the heaviest rain that has fallen here for some time. Fully 3½ inches must have fallen—probably more, as there is no meteorological station here, though the want has long been felt. The weather to-day was gloomy and threatening, and blowing a strong N.W. gale.

ADELONG, TUESDAY.

Robert Gipps, a bushman, was found dead in his hut on Sunday morning, at Nacka Nacka, Mr. Cowan's selection. He must have been dead two days, the body being much decomposed. At a magisterial inquiry a verdict was returned of death from natural causes and congestion of the lungs.

The weather is hot, the thermometer ranging to 106°. A thunderstorm occurred on Monday, and the weather looks threatening.

ALBURY, TUESDAY.

Fine light showers fell last night, the total fall to 9 o'clock this morning aggregating nine points. This afternoon heavier rain began, lasting, with brief intermission, all day.

Requisitions to Mr. W. J. Lyne are being signed in both Albury and Hume electorates. Mr. James Hayes, it is understood, intends contesting the seat for Albury. Several probable candidates are mentioned for Hume.

One man sustained a fracture of the leg, and three others were slightly injured, by an accident during blasting operations on the Albury railway extension to-day.

EXECUTION IN LIMERICK.—Hynes, the murderer of Doloughty, was executed on September 11 within the precincts of the county gaol at Limerick. At 6 o'clock two companies of military marched into the prison. Sentries were posted inside and outside, and the most elaborate precautions were taken to ensure the preservation of peace. The culprit walked with a firm step and ascended the scaffold without faltering, and died apparently without a struggle. The prisoner for some time past was most attentive to his religious duties, and was constantly attended by the Roman Catholic chaplain and two Sisters of Mercy. It is not known whether he made any confession. A large crowd assembled, but order was maintained. After the body had been suspended for an hour it was cut down, and an inquest was held by the county Clare coroner, when the jury returned a verdict to the effect that death was caused by strangulation; and the body was buried within the prison walls. In order to prevent the possibility of disturbance 700 extra constables from the northern counties had been ordered to Limerick, in addition to the military posted in the barracks. At Athlone prayers were offered up at the different places of worship for the convict. Several priests in their service on Sunday alluded to the untimely fate of one so young and promising, and requested prayers on his behalf. At Kilrush many houses were entirely closed throughout the day, and not one was without some sign of mourning. Similar tokens of mourning were observed at Ennistymon, Miltown, Milbay, and Kilkee.—English Paper.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

VICTORIAN RIFLE ASSOCIATION.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, TUESDAY.

The twenty-second annual matches of the Victorian Rifle Association commenced to-day at the Williamstown butts. Every possible provision was made to render the meeting a thorough success; but, so far as concerned the opening day, all interested were doomed to disappointment, for rain fell incessantly during the whole day, converting the ground into a quagmire, and the targets were in many instances at times obscured by the hazy rain. Trenches were dug for the shelter of the markers at judging distance, and the trenches were filled with water. The programme to-day contained three matches—namely, the Intercolonial Match, Teams Match, and Judging Distances Match. The Intercolonial Match was contested by New South Wales, Tasmania, and Victoria. The South Australian team, which was expected, was unable to come, a fact which occasioned much regret. Owing to the inclemency of the weather, the shooting took place under exceptional difficulties. The marksmen were drenched to the skin; but nevertheless the scoring was remarkably good. The conditions of the Intercolonial match were 300, 500, and 600 yards, with 15 rounds each, breech-loading rifles not less that Martini-Henri bore with Government sights, any position. Open to the teams, 10 men aside from the local forces of all the Australian colonies:—

The following are the scores in the Intercolonial Match:—

VICTORIA.	Yds. 300	Yds. 500	Yds. 600	Total.

Majority for Victoria over Tasmania 26 points, and majority over New South Wales 61 points.

Captain Christopherson, in announcing the result, said the scoring of the teams was highly creditable, especially when it was remembered visitors only had a few days' practice at the butts, which were the most difficult in the Australian colonies, if not in the world. Captain Strong of New South Wales, said he had hoped to have better success, but it was impossible to do anything against such weather. However, a match had been fairly won by Victoria, and he hoped next year all would meet again on the best range in the colonies, which of course was Sydney. Captain Davies, of Tasmania, also made a few remarks. Captain Walker, of Sydney, calling for three cheers for the Association, expressed a hope that the councils of the various associations would take steps at an early date to organise an Australian team to compete at Wimbledon. The Judging Distances match was then fired, but was competed so late that the scores were not obtainable to-night.

THE TURF.

There is every promise of the Wagga Meeting, which is to commence to-day, being a great success, for although the fields will not be numerous, the different events are exceedingly open, and the winners will puzzle the cognoscenti to find. Fourteen still remain in for the Wagga Cup, and Rainbow and Gipsy Cooper are most fancied at 6 to 1, while Eva, who ran second to Vaucluse for the Oaks at the late V. R. C. meeting, has been well supported up to 7 to 1. Guinea and Willeroo may be quoted at 8 to 1, and from 10 to 25 to 1 can be obtained about any of the others. PARRAMATTA JOCKEY CLUB.

A committee meeting of the above club was held on Saturday evening last, the president (Mr. Hugh Taylor, J.P.), in the chair, when a programme for Saturday, the 30th December next, was adopted. The accounts in connection with the late meeting were passed, showing a most satisfactory balance. The sum of £10 10s. was voted as a Christmas donation to the local hospital and Benevolent Asylum, £10 10s., as a gratuity to the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals; and the law costs, £15 15s., in the case of the late Mr. Fish, were also defrayed by the club, the wager in dispute being handed over to Mrs. Fish.

COURSING.

NEW SOUTH WALES COURSING CLUB.—A meeting of the committee of the above club was held yesterday at Tattersall's rooms; Mr. W. R. Hall in the chair. There were also present—Messrs. W. Cooper, G. L. Lord, A. L. Park, W. T. Badgery, H. E. Langley, J. Weir, and Dr. Belisario. The meeting first proceeded to the election of president for the ensuing year. On the motion of Mr. W. R. Hall, Mr. E. Lee was unanimously chosen. Regarding the election of the vice-presidents, a discussion arose as to the inordinate number of those office-bearers. Mr. A. L. Park thought it would be wise to have a limit to the number, as he was of opinion that the majority of them took no interest in coursing, and never attended the meetings of committee. On the motion of that gentleman, it was resolved that the number be limited to ten, and that the following gentlemen be appointed for the ensuing season:—Messrs. W. Lamb, George Lee, R. L. Tooth, A. Town, W. M'Quade, John Lee, G. F. Want, G. Lee Lord, W. Kite, and T. Lee. A letter was read from Mr. R. L. Tooth, of Erridge, Bowral, placing the use of his coursing enclosure at Bowral at the club's disposal, the offer to remain open till the 24th of December, on or before which date he wished an answer. Mr. W. Cooper thought Mr. Tooth's generous offer should be accepted. The club might run their Produce Stakes there, as the ground in April and early May would be more suitable for coursing at Bowral than it would be at Woodstock. Mr. Cooper said he intended paying a visit to Mr. Tooth's place in a few days, and on his return he would report to the committee as to the suitableness of the enclosed ground. A communication was read from Mr. Murday regarding the remuneration required by Mr. Gatenby, of Tasmania, to act in the capacity of judge for the Victoria and New South Wales clubs. The secretary was directed to make a proposal to bear their fair quota of expense, but the meeting were averse to giving half the total sum required by Mr. Gatenby, particularly as that official would judge more days for the Victorian than for the New South Wales club. Mr. T. R. Smith, M.P., was elected a member of committee in place of Mr. J. C. Low, resigned. Mr. Lee Lord detailed some of the improvements going on, and stated a few requirements of the club's ground at New Plumpton.

CRICKET.

BOROUGH CHALLENGE CUP.—BALMAIN V. GLEBE.—Season 1882 and 1883.—A public meeting was held in the Town Hall, Balmain, on Thursday evening last, to make arrangements for the forthcoming contest, and was marked by a large and attentive audience. The Mayor (W. A. Hutcheson) occupied the chair, and, after opening the meeting and explaining the object they were assembled together for, called upon the secretary (Mr. A. Perry) to read the report for the last match. The Mayor then retired, and Mr. J. Reede occupied the chair for the remainder of the evening. The report was then read and adopted, after which the election of committee and secretary for this season was proceeded with. Twelve gentlemen were nominated to act on the committee, one was withdrawn, and the following were elected:—Messrs. Wm. M'Kinnon, J. Julian, V. Falconer, G. Coy, A. Kinninmont. Mr. W. M'Kinnon was then proposed and unanimously elected secretary, and Mr. S. Boyd was duly elected to fill the vacancy on the committee. A cordial vote of thanks was then given to the retiring committee, special reference being made to the retiring secretary (Mr. A. Perry) for his untiring efforts to bring the last contest to a successful issue, and suitably responded to by Mr. Reede and Mr. Perry, and one of the most successful meetings held in connection with this annual contest terminated.

ROYAL SYDNEY YACHT SQUADRON.

The fourth-class yacht race between the Doris and the Mabel took place on Saturday afternoon, and resulted in favour of the former. The flag for the start fell at 2 p.m., and both yachts crossed the line soon after, the Mabel a few seconds ahead. She went off quickly, and put about near Pinchgut, crossing the Doris. The Mabel, however, appeared to lose wind when standing to North Shore, and Doris here crossed her, and being favoured by puffs from North Shore, went steadily away, and finding in the E.N.E. wind exactly what she wanted to show her best points, she increased her lead both in the wind and running, and won easily without time allowance. The various points were rounded as follows:—Manly: Doris, 3h. 12m. 30s.; Mabel, 3h. 19m. 10s.; Shark Island: Doris, 3h. 4m. 15s.; Mabel, 3h. 57m. 30s. Fort Denison: Doris, 4h. 4m. 40s.; Mabel, 4h. 15m. 20s.; Bow and Pige: Doris, 4h. 50m. 30s.; Mabel, 5h. 2m.; Fort Macquarie: Doris, 5h. 28m. 30s.; Mabel, 5h. 46m. The Doris was well handled throughout the race, but the Mabel's crew did not appear to advantage, especially in setting the squaresail after rounding Shark Island, this being slowly and awkwardly done, while in the second round she could very well have carried a topsail. The wind was light and full of flaws, and generally from the E.N.E. There should be some interesting racing between the Doris, Mabel, and Ione, when the latter boat, after her refit, is put into commission.

GREAT RACE FOR AMATEUR SCULLERS.

On account of there being such a large number of competitors in the Krug Race, it will be necessary to have two days' racing; the committee of the Rowing Association have thereupon appointed Thursday next for the preliminary heats. Five scullers will take part in the first heat, to start from Gladesville to Ryde, at 4 p.m. In the second heat there will be four boats to start from Ryde to Gladesville. Mr. J. W. M'Cutcheon has accepted the post of umpire, Mr. W. G. Anslow starter, and Mr. H. A. Fitzpatrick judge. There will be ample accommodation for visitors on the Prince of Wales steamer on Thursday, leaving Circular Quay at 3.15 p.m., and on Saturday the steamer Glenelg will be put on for the public, while the members will have the steam launch Princess. A very exciting contest is expected. It is considered that Messrs. Arthur, Sharland, and Brett will secure the first three places. Arthur is the favourite, having beaten Brett at the Association Regatta last month. Mr. Sharland sustains the honor of Tasmania, having come from that colony specially to pull in this race.

Our Moruya correspondent telegraphs that the programme for the annual races promises well for sport on the 27th and 29th January. Many good horses are expected to run.

LECTURES.

A lecture was delivered by Dr. Dixson in the Technical College of the School of Arts last night on the subject of "Sight." There was a very large attendance. The lecturer commenced by giving an explanation of the nature of light, and then proceeded to describe the structure and characteristics of the eye. That very common occurrence, the lodgment of a foreign body under the eyelids was referred to, and Dr. Dixson pointed out to his audience simple and effective means of removing the object. The blight, he remarked, was an affliction with which a great many people were visited, and the lecturer showed how it could be avoided by the observance of certain rules in regard to the management of the eyes. A large number of diagrams, illustrating the organs of the eye, were shown by means of a photographic camera, and the lecture proved very entertaining. At the conclusion a vote of thanks was passed to Dr. Dixson.

A very interesting lecture was delivered on Monday evening, in St. Joseph's schoolroom, Newtown, in connection with the literary and debating society, by the vice-president, Rev. A. T. O'Dwyer; the subject was "Lord Macaulay." There was a numerous audience, and on the platform were Revs. M. Walsh and J. Dunn, Messrs. J. J. Curran, J. P. Rubie, Dolman, M'Cauly, Courtney, and other prominent members of the society. The chair was taken by the rev. president, J. P. Fitzpatrick. The rev. lecturer graphically described the career of Macaulay, narrating the events of his schoolboy days, and of the years he spent at Cambridge University, his early literary efforts and contributions to the Edinburgh Review, his entrance into public life—retirement therefrom—and residence in India as member of the board of the Supreme Council. The lecturer then gave an account of Macaulay's return to England, his trip on the Continent, his visit to St. Peter's, and read for the audience his encomium on the Catholic Church. Having described his political career, the publication of his history and of his ballads (one of which the lecturer recited), and having referred to his affectionate attachment to his family, and especially his sisters, the reverend gentleman, after reading Mr. Justin M'Carthy's favourable opinion of Macaulay as given in his work, "History of Our Own Times," brought his lecture to a close amidst much applause. Votes of thanks being accorded to the reverend lecturer and chairman, the audience dispersed.

At the Pound Stud, near Cobham, Blair Athol, the celebrated racer and stallion, expired, the cause of death being inflammation of the lungs and kidneys. Blair Athol was by Stockwell out of Blink Bonny, and was bred by the late Mr. William I'Anson, being foaled in 1861, and was consequently 21 years old. He had but a short career on the turf as a racer, as he did not run until he was three years old, and was never seen in public after that age.—Home News.

BANQUET to the AUSTRALIAN ELEVEN.

A complimentary banquet to the Australian Eleven, to congratulate them on their return from their successful tour in England, took place at Aarons' Exchange Hotel last evening. Mr. M. H. Stephen, Q.C. (senior vice-president of the New South Wales Cricket Association), presided; Sir George Innes and Mr. Richard Jones occupied the vice-chairs; and among the company, which numbered about 200, there were Sir John Hay, Mr. C. J. Roberts, C.M.G.; Messrs. E. Barton, G. H. Reid, H. C. Dangar, W. R. Campbell, T. Garrett, J. Garvan, C. E. Pilcher, and J. M. Purves, Ms.L.A.; and Messrs. H. M'Quade, G. A. Mansfield, J. Jones, J. M. Gibson, R. Teece, W. C. Goddard, P. Sheridan, M. Faithfull, A. R. Docker, J. Fletcher, T. Nunn, W. Clark, S. Lindemann, L. Bennett, T. Iceton, J. Clarke, L. Lord, E. S. Cape, Q. L. Deloitte, P. J. Clarke, M. A. H. Fitzhardinge, and other gentlemen interested in the New South Wales Cricket Association. The members of the Australian Eleven present were:—Messrs. Murdoch, Bonnor, Jones, Blackham, Garrett, Horan, Massie, Palmer, Boyle, Giffen, Bannerman, Macdonnell, and Beale (manager).

The toasts of "The Queen," and "The Prince of Wales and the Royal Family," having been loyally honoured,

The CHAIRMAN proposed "The Health of the Australian Eleven." (Prolonged cheering.) After regretting that the toast had not been placed in the hands of an abler speaker, the chairman said he would not undertake the task of recounting the deeds and exploits of the Australian Eleven, for they had been the subject of private conversation and the fruitful theme of public comment for a long time past. (Applause.) He, however, took this opportunity of informing the team how attentively the public had watched their career, how closely the public had watched their individual efforts, with what pride they had been welcomed, and how the people of these colonies had rejoiced in their victories. (Cheers.) He was free to confess that he—and perhaps he might speak for the company—had with equal avidity longed for and scanned the telegrams that day after day announced the movements of our heroes in Egypt, and those which narrated the campaign of our knights of the willow in England. (Cheers.) In reading the former our feelings were not harrowed with tales of disaster and decimated ranks, so that we returned with light hearts to the rivalry in the battle field of cricket. In the one case we felt it was a foregone conclusion that the forces of Egypt would melt before British might, but we could not forecast the fate of the Australian band who had gone at our bidding to contend for the palm with the flower of English cricketing chivalry. But it was not long before we knew that the sunny skies and warm climate of Australia did not enfeeble their strength, but that they went to their work with spirits as fresh and keen as though they had been born in the bracing climate of the north. County after county had surrendered their colours, but we were scarcely prepared for the grand achievement which consummated their victories—(cheers)—and associated for ever the Oval with the Australian team. (Cheers.) In the presence of thousands, whose hearts beat high with expectation, when triumph seemed to be within the grasp of the Englishmen, our men rose with the occasion—(cheers)—with hope never abandoned till success seemed possible, then ripened into certainty, and at last, amid breathless silence and intense excitement, the last wicket was shattered, and terminated an event which would shed lustre upon the Australian team as long as English cricket would exist. (Loud cheers.) It was not skill and strength alone that conduced to that result. When the excited plaudits of the multitude filled the air, and when the more sober comments of the press were published, it was in recognition of higher qualities that shone conspicuous in our champions. (Cheers.) They exhibited in a high degree Australian pluck—(cheers)—endurance, patience, dogged determination, good temper, discipline, and united conduct. (Cheers.) It was said of the team that they were men well qualified to play an honourable part in the service of their country and in the more serious contests of life in following out their respective vocations. The possession and exercise of those qualities showed that they were not mere cricketers, but true men. (Cheers.) It certainly was a gratification to see and hear that the quick eye and nimble hand of Blackham had no rival—(cheers); it was pleasing to know that Boyle, justly termed the famous Victorian—(cheers)—could take 144 wickets for less than 12 runs each; it was a gratification to know that they could not exercise our Spofforth—(cheers)—that they could not expel the demon, to which they attributed his supernatural performances—(cheers)—and we were proud to have it confessed that Murdoch—(loud applause)—that Murdoch was a batsman second to none in the world—(loud cheers)—and a captain unsurpassed in tact and judgment. (Cheers.) In fact, it was admitted that the whole team were the exponents of perfection in cricket, or as near an approach to it as was attainable with the bat, the ball, and the field. To use an expression now well known in England, not a breath was heard against any one of them. (Cheers.) It would have been idle to have expected uninterrupted success, but they knew how to take defeat. (Applause.) They knew when they were beaten, except while the game lasted, and they were in the field, and they could accept the most rigid interpretation of the laws of cricket. (Cheers and laughter.) These successes were due to the union of those colonies, whose representatives were in the team. No bickerings or petty jealousies impeded their successful career, and why? Because they did not exist among them. (Cheers.) They all worked with one end in view, with one accord, and the result he had stated to-night. He hoped that the union to be established hereafter would be on a broader and more lasting basis, and that this would be the harbinger of the success we would attain then. (Loud applause.)

Mr. MURDOCH, who was received with prolonged cheering, said that the duty imposed upon him to-night was the hardest he ever had in his life. The honour rendered to the team on this occasion was one that would never be forgotten by any member of the Australian team of 1882. It was an honour that any man in the whole of Australia might very well be proud of. They were sent forth by the whole of Australia to do a certain thing—to uphold the honour of Australian cricket in England—the mother of our national game. (Cheers.) Ever since cricket had been played here,—ever since the mother country sent out teams to teach us to play, we had only been too willing to learn. We had taken advantage of the lessons shown us, and we had only to thank those exponents for the proficiency we had attained. (Cheers.) A very few years ago the most sanguine one in our midst would not have anticipated that at so early a period as 1882 there would be assembled such a gathering as this to welcome back the cricketers who had ventured to beard the lion in his den. (Cheers.) Ever since he had been able to play cricket his highest ambition had been to play in a match against all England, and not only play, but beat England. Not only has that wish been gratified, but he had the honour—which he would rather have than any other which he might obtain—of being the captain of the first Australian team that ever beat an English team. (Cheers.) When he said an English team, he meant one that was considered all through England as fully representative of English cricket. (Cheers.) In the Australian team there was the greatest harmony, and they had but one wish—to win, and to uphold the honour of Australian cricket. That famous game, that would never, he was sure, be forgotten, that was fought at Kennington Oval, was a source of great gratification to them. They did not think of themselves. The one thought, when the last wicket fell, was what would they think in Australia. (Loud applause.) They knew very well with what anxiety their movements had been watched and that, as far as this particular match was concerned, it was regarded as a trial test. It had been regretted that there had not been more than one match against England, but he could assure them that it was not the fault of the Australian team. He desired to express his obligations to those friends in England who had been so kind to the team, and he was sure that those friends would not take it amiss if he mentioned one or two names, notably Mr. Dangar, the president of the New South Wales Association—(Loud cheers)—and another gentleman not so well known here, but who took the greatest interest in the colony, Mr. Enoch Taylor. (Cheers.) Throughout their tour they had not only conducted themselves in the cricket field as became cricketers, but in all other positions they had always endeavoured to conduct themselves in a way that should always be exhibited by anybody hailing from the Australian colonies. (Cheers.) They had always tried, to the best of their ability, to advance the interests of the colonies that gave them birth, and they hoped that the trip would render the colonies some benefit. He returned his sincere thanks for the very great kindness they had received since their return, and he hoped that upon any occasion that they might be called upon to fight for their respective colonies, they might be as successful as in the old country. (Cheers.)

The toast was also acknowledged (in response to calls from the company) by Messrs. Boyle, Massie, Horan, Bonnor, and Beale.

Mr. RICHARD JONES, in proposing the health of the chairman, said that whatever differences of opinion there might be in regard to the qualities of the members of the respective teams in the match at the Oval, there could be no doubt that the English team comprised the picked men of Lancashire, Yorkshire, Nottingham, Gloucester, Surrey, and Cambridge University. Our team had beaten every English county, and then the picked men of all the counties. (Cheers.)

The CHAIRMAN returned thanks, and the proceedings terminated.

THE CREVAUX EXPEDITION.—It seems that at the massacre of the Crevaux expedition on the Pilcomayo (says the Anglo-Brazilian Times of September 7) the life of a young Argentine named Zeballos was spared, and on his captors learning that a force was marching against them they delivered him up, very sick, to the priest of a neighbouring mission. He says that an Argentine and a Bolivian succeeded in getting away, although closely pursued. The Bolivian expedition sent to rescue Crevaux and his followers, if prisoners, or to punish the murderers, if dead, has failed, the men, having been pressed, deserting at every chance, and at Trijuro half the battalion disappearing. Zeballos says that Crevaux had six days before the massacre taken the arms and ammunition from his men, saying arms were unnecessary, the Indians of the river being evidently all friendly. On the fatal day all had landed to cook, take views and observations, when they were suddenly attacked. The boy jumped overboard and swam to the shore, but was shot, and would have been killed by an Indian but for the interference of another. He says two of the party escaped, he thinks, but of what became of the rest he saw nothing.

H. C. RUSSELL
GOVERNMENT ASTRONOMER

AMUSEMENTS.

THEATRE ROYAL.

The performances of "La Mascotte" at the Theatre Royal, last night, was very largely attended, and the Governor's box was occupied by Lady Augustus Loftus, Lieut. A. D. Loftus, A.D.C., Lieut. Robert Nathan, A.D.C., and Mr. Reginald Bloxsome, private secretary. Miss Maggie Moore as Bettina acted with even more than her usual piquante grace, and all her solos were heartily applauded; Miss Nellie Stewart was successful as usual, and during the evening was the recipient of a very beautiful basket of flowers; Signor Verdi as Pippo did well, and Mr. Harwood and Mr. Kelly were amusing as ever.

OPERA HOUSE.

"Giroflé-Girofla," as played at the Opera House by the Emelie Melville Opera Company, is so popular that there is little likelihood of its being withdrawn just yet. Miss Melville herself is, of course, the central figure of the representation, and the verve and life of her performance are such that it can be witnessed with interest over and over again; while in Mr. Farley, Mr. Casselli, and Miss Marie St. Clair, she has three supporters whom she would find it impossible to replace. Mr. Beaumont has been suffering from cold for a night or two, and—perhaps, by the law of compensation—Miss Madeline St. Clair has recovered the vocal power which adds the final touch to the charm of her picturesque appearance and pleasant acting. Miss Bessie Royal's Pedro is good as ever, and each night her song in the second act is redemanded.

GAIETY THEATRE.

"False Shame" will be repeated at the Gaiety Theatre to-night for the last time, and the piece itself is so good, and the performance so creditable, that it is a matter for regret that the brevity of Mr. Titheradge's farewell season necessitates a change of programme. To-morrow evening Mr. Titheradge will take his farewell benefit prior to his departure for America, the programme being composed of "Pygmalion and Galatea" and "David Garrick." On Saturday night next Mr. W. E. Sheridan will make his reappearance here.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

The minstrel performance at the Academy of Music last night was well attended, and seemed to please the audience. Messrs. Clark and Ryman, Miss Lillie Linden, and the Sisters Horan, were all warmly applauded, and the entertainment generally was a thoroughly enjoyable one.

MASONIC HALL.

Mr. E. J. Kennedy, who was first known here in association with Mr. Cheevers, and who subsequently has been assisted by Mr. Charles M'Carthy in making people laugh, will on Saturday next, at the Masonic Hall, take his farewell benefit, prior to leaving for England. Mr. Kennedy will appear in some of his most amusing acts, and Mr. W. Horace Bent and several members of Clark and Ryman's minstrels will assist in the performance.

CONVERSAZIONE AT ST. LEONARDS.

A conversazione was opened in connection with the literary and debating class of the St. Leonards School of Arts on Monday evening, and continued yesterday afternoon and evening. On the opening night there was a very large attendance, and last night also. The hall in which the conversazione was held was well filled, but in the afternoon the attendance was not so large, probably owing to the fact that it was opened alone for the convenience of ladies and children. The conversazione partook more of the character of an exhibition than an entertainment bearing that name, and its principal object was to bring the St. Leonards School of Arts more prominently before the public, with a view thereby of soliciting more pecuniary assistance, and otherwise securing aid to forward the interests of the institution. There was a very attractive display of exhibits of various kinds. Many of the residents of St. Leonards showed their sympathy with the movement by lending really first-class articles, which could not fail to secure attention, and also act as a source of pleasure. Several exhibits of no little value were sent from Sydney. Amongst the articles on view were collections of oil paintings and pictures, microscopical and magnetic instruments, collections of coral, stuffed animals and birds, plants from the Sydney Botanical Gardens, two working models of an electric railway, models of mechanical illustrations, specimens of needlework, an exhibit of gas motors and apparatus pertaining thereto, and a collection of minerals of all kinds. During each evening a programme, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, was rendered, and it added considerable pleasure to the proceedings.

CONCERT AT PETERSHAM.

The Stanmore bellringers gave an entertainment in the Petersham Town Hall last night, and at the same time made their first appearance in public. Their object was to acquire funds generally, but specially to liquidate the cost of their bells, and some music for those which they have recently acquired from England. The hall, which is one of the most commodious and most complete in regard to acoustics in the city, was agreeably decorated for the occasion, and as the price of admission was made reasonable, and there seemed a prospect of a good entertainment being provided, it was occupied to the doors. In fact, the programme was judiciously arranged, and was carried into effect in a style which it is a pleasure to praise, there being a good proportion of accomplished lady singers, who, however, did not predominate over the male singers and instrumentalists, the result being that the individual items sung or played were well varied. The first item was the overture to "Zampa," after which was the song, "Fairy Jane," allotted to Mr. A. Usher, the well-known baritone. The bellringers next rendered in a very fair manner "The Ivy Polka" and shortly afterwards "The Laurel Waltz," for which they were freely applauded, and favoured with recalls. Mr. C. Richards recited Macaulay's "Horatius," and was followed by Miss L. Owen, who sang in an agreeable manner a song the name of which was not announced. Mr. H. M'Mahon played "The Silver Stream Polka" excellently on the cornet, displaying great facility in mastering the triple tongueing with which the composition is marked, and earning for himself an encore, to which he responded with "Yankee Doodle," with variations. The Misses J. and L. Owen gave the duet "I heard a voice in the tranquil night," which elicited applause, after which Miss Tunks, in a sweet voice, sang "Eternal Spring." Mr. Wells sang in good style a descriptive song entitled "Wrecked and Saved," and Mr. C. Smith displayed considerable ability in rendering "The Blue Bells of Scotland," which was arranged with variations for the violin. Miss Coombs, who also appeared in the comic duet "May and December" with Mr. C. Harris, brought the first part of the programme to a termination with Gulielmo's ravishing melody, "The Lover and the Bird." Mr. D. Clyne commenced the second part of the programme by reciting "The Dream of Eugene Aram." The remaining portions were similar to the first part, and the performers were the same. The conductors were announced as Messrs. Barker, Abrahams, and Needs. A dramatic recital, named "Taming a Tiger," in which the characters were allotted to Mr. J. G. Hunt, Mr. A. H. Lamartiniere, and Mr. J. R. Allen, brought the programme to a termination.

A grand Scotch concert was held at Parramatta last night, in the Masonic Hall. The attendance on the occasion was very large, and the concert itself was in every way a success. The programme was carried out under the direction of Mr. A. Massey, whose ability as a conductor was manifested in the success which attended the entertainment. Mr. A. Williamson delivered the "Banks of Allan Water" very effectively, and received an encore; and "Scots wha hae," by Mr. A. Edwards, also was sung very prettily. A comic lecture, by Mr. H. Hamilton, entitled "What is Art?" was very well delivered, and created great mirth throughout. Miss Foxall received an encore for singing "Ye Banks and Braes." The dancing of the four brothers M'Rae in a Scotch reel, to the piping of Mr. M'Rae, was greatly admired.

REGARDING China and the Corea, the Japan Gazette says:—"Complications may sooner or later arise from the claim of China to exercise suzerain powers over Corea. The treaty concluded between Japan and Corea was certainly made by the former on the distinct understanding that Corea was an independent power. If that assumption was without foundation, the power of Corea to conclude a treaty may be doubted; and indeed some writers have gone to the extent of pronouncing the existing treaty to be mere waste paper."

SYDNEY AND MELBOURNE WOOL SALES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—These sales would be very much improved if they were so arranged that all the buyers could attend at both places, which they could easily be by holding them one week at Melbourne, and the next at Sydney, alternately. Supposing that the wool-growers and salesmen in the two colonies were willing to make such an arrangement, the buyers could leave the city in which the sales were held in the end of the week—say late on Friday night from Sydney, and early on Saturday morning from Melbourne, rest on Sunday at each end, examine the wool on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Wednesdays, attend the sales on Thursdays and Fridays, and leave for the other market on Friday night or Saturday morning. Not only would this enable the buyers now attending these two markets to be at both, which, of course, would ensure steadier and better prices; but it is believed that such an arrangement would induce a greater number of buyers from Europe and America to come out and purchase in this market.

The only drawback I can see to this proposal is that it might entail somewhat longer storage, but that would be of very little moment compared with the advantages which would accrue. If, again, our woolgrowers in the two colonies think good of this suggestion, they will require to take it up and see that it is carried out; for it is a matter in which they are of course more interested than the salesmen, and it might perhaps not receive that support from some of the salesmen which it deserves.

BOROUGH COUNCILS.

REDFERN.—Meeting held on the 4th instant. Present—The Mayor (Alderman Wright, M.L.A.), with Aldermen Berry, Williamson, Andrews, Crowe, M'Lachlan, O'Connell, Young, and Graham. Minutes of previous meeting read and confirmed. The chairman of finance committee brought up a report recommending payment of accounts amounting to £139 2s. 8d., which was adopted, and payment authorised. Correspondence: From Messrs. J. and W. Lloyd, applying for a rebatement of rates on houses in Cleveland-street, which were not ready for occupation until July last. Received and referred to the finance committee for consideration and report. From Messrs. Daly Brothers, quoting prices for fireplug plates, at 3s. 9d., and street name-plates at 8½d each. Received. From R. Fletcher, calling attention to application made in June last for a rebatement of rates on three houses in Shepherd-street, and also offering to contribute £2 2s. towards kerbing and guttering, and forming, and tar-paving the footpath in front of the same houses. The first matter was referred to the finance committee for consideration and report. From the Under Secretary Department of Public Instruction, intimating that tenders are being invited for asphalting in front of the Public school grounds, Redfern. Received. Alderman Andrew moved,—"That the gutters on the north side of Redfern-street West, and west side of Regent-street for 30 feet north of Redfern-street, be taken up and relaid with new stones where required, at a probable cost of 3s. 6d. per yard." Seconded by Alderman Williamson, and carried. Alderman Andrew moved,—"That the gutter on the south side of Wells-street West, from Regent to Roschill streets, be lifted, worked, and relaid with new stones where required, at a probable cost of 4s per yard." Seconded by Alderman Williamson, and carried. Alderman Andrew further moved,—"That 130 tons of blue metal be laid on Wells-street West, from Regent to Roschill streets, at a probable cost of 12s. per ton." Seconded by Alderman Williamson, and carried. Alderman Berry moved,—"That Short-street, north side, from William to George street, be kerbed and guttered at a probable cost of 10s. 6d. per yard." Seconded by Alderman M'Lachlan, and carried. The usual monthly reports from the inspector and contractor for cleaning street channels were taken as read. On the motion of Aldermen M'Lachlan and Crowe, the overseer of works was granted one month's leave of absence on full pay. In reply to questions by Alderman M'Lachlan, the Mayor promised to instruct the inspector re nuisance from M'Mahon's stables; that he would endeavour and see the men worked in decent costume. In reply to Alderman Williamson, the Mayor promised to call a public meeting at an early date to consider the question of a recreation reserve. A return of the expenditure of the Golden Grove Ward for the current municipal year, showing the revenue to amount to £1476 and the expenditure to date to be £1400 8s. 3d., submitted and received.—W. N. PARKER, Council Clerk.

RANDWICK.—Meeting held on the 14th instant. Present—The Mayor and Aldermen See, Wall, Bradley, Wilson, Yeomans, Denning, and Napper. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. Correspondence: To Mr. J. Parkinson, referring him to the Bylaws for the Regulation of the Randwick Recreation Reserve, for information respecting the letting of the portion set apart for cricket. To Mr. J. P. M'Guanne, informing him that the Government had declined to form King-street. From Mr. Herrod and Mr. Heady, asking permission to lay a drain-pipe under the footpath in Gordon-street. Granted, under the overseer's direction. From Mrs. Steel, applying for 40 feet kerbing in Gordon-street. Granted, providing the adjoining allotment be also kerbed. From Mr. G. Guyatt, complaining that his land in Botany-street had been flooded by overflow of water from the street. Referred to the works committee. From J. Bobo, offering to supply an iron roller for the sum of £45. Accepted, provided the specifications be complied with in every particular. From Mr. P. Hogan, requesting that the drainage in Alison-street, be diverted from his land. Agreed to. From Town Clerk, Sydney, stating that the City Council had agreed to to convey water to the corner of Prince-street and Sydney-road, opposite Mr. Alderman Bradley's residence, and to erect a stand pipe there. Accounts were passed amounting to £175. The Council then resolved into committee of works. Alderman Wilson moved, and Alderman Wall seconded pro forma,—"That a 2 feet pipe be laid across Beach." The overseer reported that the work would cost about £29. This was a proposal to substitute a larger pipe for the one already laid in Beach, near the entrance to Alderman Wilson's property. It transpired that the present pipes had been laid there years ago by Mr. J. Thompson, the late proprietor of the property adjoining. During the heavy rains in the earlier part of the year Mr. Wilson, the present proprietor, sustained damages set down to the extent of £850. The inadequacy of the culvert to convey the water away was said to be the cause of the damage. A report from a committee of the whole council was read, which suggested a raising of the gateway and footpath leading in to the property as the best means of averting a recurrence of the damage. A lengthy discussion ensued, which hinged upon, first, the liability of the council for any damages which have arisen or may arise from the flooding of the pipes, and, secondly, upon the utility of the proposed alteration. The resolution was negatived by six to one. A report was read from the overseer on the cost of kerbing and guttering the frontage to St. Matthias' Church property; the total cost was set down at £60. The council agreed to kerb and gutter the parsonage frontage, the latter not being ratable property.—W. EVERNES, Council clerk.

BRITISH LOSS AT TEL-EL-KEBIR.—The Vienna Allgemeine Zeitung points out that the loss of the English at Tel-el-Kebir was much more serious than at first supposed. Not 200, but 400, men were lost, making more than 3 per cent. on the 13,000 present. All this loss was compressed into an hour. Some data of comparison are afforded by the following figures (of course in round numbers):—The Germans lost at Gravelotte, in a battle lasting seven hours, without counting the preliminary cannonade, about 16,000 out of 225,000, or roughly about 8 per cent. Spread over seven hours this gives just over 1 per cent. per hour. Except Le Bourget, probably no battle of the Franco-German War, even Vionville itself, was proportionately so bloody as Tel-el-Kebir.

A. A. DEBNEY and CO.'S "UNIQUE" SHIRTS.
Gentlemen who desire "Unique" Shirts, made specially to measure, would confer a favour on us by ordering as early as possible. Our object is to gain sufficient time for each order to pass through the hands of our Head Seamstress. Our experience is that this system ensures a very much higher standard of excellence than where a short time only is allowed, and each shirt has in consequence to be made without the supervision necessary to secure perfection. No apology need be made by us in proffering this request, as it is obviously as much in the interests of gentlemen as in our own that the superiority of the "Unique" Shirt should be maintained intact.
Stock "Unique" Shirts.—We guarantee every shirt to fit properly, and we keep every size, dressed, and ready for use. Price, from 6s each.

Medical, Chemicals, &c.

CUT THIS OUT—IT MAY SAVE YOUR LIFE.—There is no person living but what suffers more or less with Lung Disease, Coughs, Colds, or Consumption, yet some would die rather than pay 3s 6d for a bottle of medicine that would cure them. Dr. A. BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderous cures astonish every one that tries it. If you doubt what we say in print, cut this out and take it to your druggist, and get a sample bottle for 6d, and try it, or a regular size for 3s 6d. All chemists. Wholesale by ELLIOTT BROTHERS, Sydney and Brisbane.

ABRAHAM'S PILLS (DANDELION) are unequalled as a general family medicine, to be taken at any time, and in all conditions, to remove any obstructions to good health; to be used in all cases where action on the liver, bowels, or stomach would prove beneficial. 434, George-street, Sydney. Be careful not to get imitations.

LONG'S Compound Concentrated CASTOR OIL or PALMA CHRISTI PILL, the Great Liver Purge.
LONG'S FRUIT LINCTUS.—A few doses loosen the Phlegm, allay Tickling in the Throat, producing easy expectoration. In bottles, 1s and 2s 6d each. 1s 6d saved by taking the large size. Sold by all Chemists and Patent Medicine Vendors.

KEATING'S INSECT POWDER.—Bugs, Fleas, Moths, Beetles, and all other Insects are destroyed by KEATING'S INSECT POWDER, which is quite harmless to domestic animals. It is perfectly clean in application. Ask for "KEATING'S POWDER." Sold by all chemists.

ACCOUCHEMENT Belts, Waterproof Sheetings, Nursing Stays, Nursing Aprons, &c. E. Way, Pitt-street.

SUFFERERS.—Bad Leg, Skin or other Diseases, no matter what cause or how long standing, or what remedies have failed. New discovery. Advice gratis. Most inveterate cases invited. 340, Crown-street, opposite Reservoir.

M. PAUL DU CHAILLU, in his interesting book, "The Land of the Midnight Sun," says:—"My object in coming to Stamsund was to visit Herr M—— (Peter Möller), a celebrated manufacturer of Cod-liver Oil, which enjoys such great and well-deserved reputation in the United States. . . . . Several men were engaged in separating the good livers from the bad. All were fresh from fish caught that day. The fat and healthy livers were whitish, while the diseased ones were greenish, and the lean ones read. I was surprised to see the number of diseased and lean livers. The season for the best ones would soon be over, and it happens that the cod arrive at Lofoten when their livers are in the finest condition. The men are very particular in selecting the choicest kinds. After they had been assorted, they were put into a large tank, washed thoroughly in warm water, and then placed over an open wire net to let the water drip away. I noticed that extreme care was taken in all stages of the preparation of the Oil. . . . . The process has nothing of the repulsiveness of the method by which brown oil is usually made—namely, by letting the livers rot, skimming the oil, and afterwards boiling it."—Vol. II., p. 130.
PETER MOLLER'S COD-LIVER OIL is sold by all Chemists and Storekeepers throughout the colonies, in capsuled bottles only.

Mitchell-street, 66 feet wide
French-street, 66 feet wide
Green-street, 66 feet wide
Cross-street, 66 feet wide
Moore-street, 66 feet wide.

The frontages are none of them less than 64 feet, ranging up to 132 feet.
The depths are none of them less than 176 feet, ranging up to 594 feet.
Every allotment, with the exception of three lots, viz., 130, 131, and 132, HAS A 20 FEET WIDE LANE AT IT'S REAR.
The soil is excellent for gardens or orchards; the numerous well-kept flourishing gardens and orchards in the immediate neighbourhood bear out this statement.
This estate has been in the possession of the parties from whom the present vendors purchased nearly half a century, and was never before offered for sale as a subdivision.
THE TITLE IS TORRENS'.
THE TERMS:
The liberal ones first introduced by the vendors, and now so flatteringly imitated—6¼ per cent. deposit, balance by fortnightly payments of 2s 3d per £20—thus placing within the reach of all the securing of a freehold under seven miles by the Illawarra railway from Eveleigh Junction, in a very progressive neighbourhood, and for sale at moderate, say low, figures. This is an opportunity for WORKING-MEN.
to get out of the crowded city, which they should avail themselves of.
ASSISTANCE TO ERECT BUILDINGS
Will be granted by the vendors on their usual easy mode of repayments.

LYONSVILLE.

FIVE DOCK.

NEXT SATURDAY WEEK.

WATKIN and WATKIN are instructed by the Board of the New South Wales Property Investment Company to sell by auction, on SATURDAY WEEK, 2nd December, LYONSVILLE, another symmetrical subdivision, having frontages to Lyons-road (which the vendors, with a liberality worthy of imitation, have widened to 66 feet) to
Moore-street, 66 feet
Denning-street, 66 feet
Short-street, 66 feet
Water Frontages to Five Dock Bay.

is a beautiful park-like estate, extending from Lyons-road to the waters of Five Dock, the most prominent object in the landscape being the bridge connecting Five Dock and Gladesville.
The land has all been cleared, fit for immediate occupation, and is only a very short walk from Drummoyne Park or Birkenhead. This district from its nearness to the city, now that the Bridge is open, must rapidly progress, and land double, treble, and quadruple in value, especially as facilities for transit, either by a light railway or tramway, must be afforded by the Government.
The Title of LYONSVILLE, FIVE DOCK, is under TORRENS' ACT.
Easier Terms could not be well wished for by the most exacting purchaser.
5 per cent. deposit, 5 per cent. in one month; balance by fortnightly instalments of 5s 6d per £100 per fortnight.
NO PROMISSORY NOTES.
ASSISTANCE to BUILD.
Purchasers can have 90 per cent. of the value advanced them to build on building society's terms of repayments extending over 10 years.
These are advantages which should not be lightly esteemed.
No mortgages required.
Plans early.

CITY OF SYDNEY.

Messrs.
HOFFNUNG AND CO.'S WAREHOUSE,
No. 117, PITT-STREET.

FOR ABSOLUTE SALE.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT and VALUABLE
FREEHOLD PROPERTY
IN THE VERY HEART OF THE CITY, adjoining
Messrs. DALTON BROTHERS' MAGNIFICENT PILE OF BUILDINGS, and immediately opposite to
VICKERY'S BUILDINGS.

The most unique and architecturally perfect stone buildings in Sydney.

The PROPERTY possesses a frontage of 61 feet 8 inches to PITT-STREET, by depths of 141 feet 3 inches and 138 feet 2 inches on the north and south sides respectively, and certainly occupies one of the BEST CENTRAL BUSINESS POSITIONS in the CITY.

The PREMISES were erected in 1870, in a MOST SUBSTANTIAL and EXPENSIVE MANNER throughout, with MASSIVE STONE FRONT and exceptionally handsome elevation, and consist of FIVE FLOORS including BASEMENT, divided into WAREROOMS and SUITES of CAPITAL OFFICES, with fire and thief-proof STRONG ROOMS necessary for the proper conduct of a LARGE MERCANTILE BUSINESS.

LITHOGRAPHIC PLANS, showing the FRONT ELEVATION, and also the RELATIVE POSITION of the BUILDING to other Properties in PITT-STREET, GEORGE-STREET, KING-STREET, and HUNTER-STREET, can be obtained at the Rooms.
On inspection of these plans it will be at once conceded that Messrs. HOFFNUNG'S WAREHOUSE occupies a TRUE MERCANTILE CENTRE, obtainable in no part of Sydney, except between HUNTER and KING STREETS.

The most prominent Business Premises close by are those of the UNION BANK, ORIENTAL BANK, CITY BANK, E., S., and A. C. BANK, BANK of N. S. WALES, COMMERCIAL BANKING CO. of SYDNEY, MERCANTILE BANK, the GENERAL POST OFFICE, PUNCH'S HOTEL, VICKERY'S BUILDING, SYDNEY MORNING HERALD, COMMERCIAL UNION INSURANCE CO., UNITED INSURANCE CO., AUSTRALIAN MUTUAL PROVIDENT SOCIETY, MUTUAL LIFE ASSOCIATION, Messrs. DAVID JONES, and CO., THOMPSON and GILES, PRINCE, OGG, and CO., and others. These and others too numerous to mention, show a great concentration of business in this particular spot.

CAPITALISTS, MERCANTILE FIRMS, INVESTORS, DIRECTORS of PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS, and others are invited to inspect the PLANS, and also the PREMISES.

The AUCTIONEERS are instructed to intimate that Messrs. S. HOFFNUNG and CO. are determined that the premises SHALL BE SOLD on 29th NOVEMBER, the FIRM NOT REQUIRING THEM after completion of their NEW WAREHOUSE, which will be in about 12 MONTHS' TIME—they will keep possession until then, and pay a rental equivalent to £3000 per annum.

The TITLE is under TORRENS' ACT, and the PROPERTY is UNENCUMBERED.

HARDIE and GORMAN have received instructions from Messrs. S. HOFFNUNG and CO. to sell by PUBLIC AUCTION, at their PROPERTY SALE ROOMS, Pitt-street, SYDNEY, at 11.30 o'clock,
WEDNESDAY, 29th NOVEMBER,
Their MAGNIFICENT RANGE OF WAREHOUSE PREMISES, consisting of TWO BUILDINGS—the one fronting PITT-STREET, and the other the STORE at rear, well known as one of the FINEST and most IMPOSING BUILDINGS in all the COLONIES, possessing the advantages of HANDSOME STONE FRONT, a NOBLE ENTRANCE, LOFTY, and WELL-LIGHTED FLOORS, IMMENSE STRENGTH in CONSTRUCTION, and at the same time being almost NEW, the same having been constructed SPECIALLY for the FIRM in 1870.

Messrs. S. HOFFNUNG and CO. are disposing of their present premises SOLELY IN CONSEQUENCE of their BUSINESS HAVING INCREASED so ENORMOUSLY during the PAST DECADE, that the space, although very large, and the accommodation immense, is ALTOGETHER INADEQUATE for the MAGNITUDE of their BUSINESS, and it is well known that they are NOW ERECTING next the GENERAL POST OFFICE, in PITT-STREET, a MAMMOTH PILE of BUILDINGS, of PRINCELY GRANDEUR, which will be far and away the LARGEST MERCANTILE PREMISES south of the line, and which will have a FLOOR SPACE of 3¾ ACRES, and be higher than the GENERAL POST OFFICE.

Being so ADMIRABLY ARRANGED and STRONGLY CONSTRUCTED, the BUILDING can easily be adapted for use as
BANKING or INSURANCE PREMISES
OFFICES and SOLICITORS' CHAMBERS
WOOL STORES and SALE ROOM, or it can be utilized as at present for a LARGE MERCANTILE WAREHOUSE.

PLANS showing the above suggested alterations, and also the FRONT ELEVATION as at present, and with TWO ADDITIONAL STORES (making the building higher than Dalton's), can be seen at the AUCTION ROOMS.

DAY OF SALE,
WEDNESDAY, 29th NOVEMBER.
LITHOGRAPHIC PLANS ready.

DAY OF SALE, WEDNESDAY, 29th NOVEMBER.

(the prime business corner in town), known throughout the world as
PUNCH'S HOTEL
PUNCH'S HOTEL.
Substantially built of brick on stone foundations and basements, with a pleasing front, and capable of adaptation to mercantile purposes.

Close to the ARCADE, the GENERAL POST OFFICE, Hoffnung's new premises, the Evening News Office, the LAW COURTS, and other notable centres of business, it enjoys an unrivalled position, as the foot traffic of the centre of the city converges at this corner.

It commands the traffic of Pitt-street, King-street, portion of George and other streets at right angles to King-street.

The OPPOSITE CORNER has been purchased by the AUSTRALIAN MUTUAL FIRE SOCIETY, who have already plans prepared for a
SINGULARLY NOBLE EDIFICE
tenders for the erection of which are now advertised for.
Improvements are going on all around. New shops, warehouse, office premises, and mercantile warerooms—the demand for such in the city centre being far in excess of the supply.

BURWOOD NORTH.

MAGNIFICENT ORANGERY
with RESIDENCE, known as
BEACONSFIELD.
And also,
VALUABLE BLOCKS FREEHOLD LAND,
more particularly described hereunder, and which are in the market in consequence of the decision of the resident proprietor to retire to England.

LOT 1.
BEACONSFIELD ORANGERY with RESIDENCE,
Comprising an area of 5¼ ACRES, opposite the recreation reserve, at the junction of BROUGHTON-STREET and CRANE-STREET, distant about 20 minutes' walk from Burwood Railway Station, and not half that distance from the Parramatta-road.
The ORANGERY, which includes some 800 trees, in FULL BEARING, is a PERFECT GEM, is highly remunerative, and will challenge comparison with any other in the colony. The ground is all thoroughly trenched and drained, carefully laid out, and planted and surrounded by a grand hedge of English hawthorn.
No expense has been spared by the proprietor in his determination to make BEACONSFIELD, small though it be, the PREMIER ORANGERY of New South Wales.
The residence is tastily arranged, complete in all its details, and in first-class order throughout.
Inspection is invited.

LOT 2.
5-ACRE ORANGERY BLOCK, close to Lot 1, and fronting BROUGHTON-STREET. There is a 4-roomed cottage on the Block, also a 2-roomed Cottage; and about 3 ACRES are already planted out and need with paling fence.
A SPLENDID BLOCK for a RESIDENCE or for a profitable ORANGERY, or the land will sell well in subdivision.
Inspection is invited.

LOT 3.
5-ACRE BLOCK, fenced in and cleared, adjoining Lot 2. This is a really capital site, very clear, and gently sloping to the creek at back of the land; well suited for ORANGERY, RESIDENTIAL, or SALE purposes.

LOT 4.
5½-ACRE BLOCK, opposite to Lot 2, and fronting BROUGHTON-STREET, GLADSTONE-STREET, and another street.
This is a capital Block for subdivision.
Inspection is invited.

HARDIE and GORMAN have received instructions from CHARLES ELOUIS, Esq. (on account of his early departure for England) to sell by PUBLIC AUCTION, at their SALE ROOMS, in PITT-STREET, at 11.30 o'clock,
WEDNESDAY, 6th DECEMBER,
BEACONSFIELD ORCHARD and RESIDENCE, and also THREE well-positioned BLOCKS of LAND, close by, as described above.

The AUCTIONEERS invite inspection of all THREE PROPERTIES as an INVESTMENT or for a RESIDENCE. The ORCHARD is a STERLING PROPERTY, and the other THREE BLOCKS are admirably positioned for dealing with either in BLOCKS or in subdivision.
The SOIL is RICH and DEEP, and its productive capabilities are evidenced in the luxuriant growth and healthy conditions of the TREES.

The sale is absolute and determined, in consequence of Mr. Elouis' return to England, so buyers had better inspect without delay, as there is money in every lot.

\. Beaconsfield is within 20 minutes' walk of Burwood station, the other side of Parramatta-road. Cabs or waggonettes can always be hired on the stand at Burwood station.

Plan of the whole of these properties has been prepared by Messrs. REUSS and HALLORAN, and can be seen at the ROOMS.

FARMS. FARMS.

NORTH CAWDOR FARMS.

TOWN PORTIONS.

COTTAGE SITES. HOMESTEAD SITES.

The positions of the portions to be sold are singularly attractive, with frontages to the main and other roads, and also to the ever-flowing river. In response to many enquiries, a portion, about 250 acres, immediately surrounding the township, is being subdivided into smaller areas, say of 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 acres each, so as to enable residents and would-be residents the chance, which is not at present offered, of purchasing convenient sites for cottages, gardens, and cultivation plots.
THE FARMS are all IN CULTIVATION, or laid down as MEADOWS and PASTURE LANDS, and will be sold with all improvements.
THE TERMS of PAYMENT are regulated so as to meet every class of buyer, viz.: SMALL DEPOSIT, balance in payments extending over 10 years.

HARDIE and GORMAN will sell by public auction, at the Rooms, PITT-STREET, SYDNEY, at 11.30 o'clock

TOWAMBA FARM.

TO CLOSE JOINT PROPRIETORSHIP ACCOUNTS.

25 SPLENDID 25
DAIRY FARMS,
subdivision
of TOWAMBA FATTENING FARM.

NEAR THE PORT OF EDEN.

For Sale by Auction,
TUESDAY, 28th November, 1882.

AT BEGA.

RIXON and MACLEOD are instructed by Sir William Manning and C. T. Stiles, Esq., to sell by public auction, at BEGA, on the above date,
25 DAIRY FARMS 25
OF VERY SUPERIOR QUALITY,
Magnificently watered and grassed.

Fronting and intersected throughout by never-failing streams of running water.

The LAND is admirably adapted for GRAZING and AGRICULTURAL PURPOSES, being for the most part undulating slopes of trap and granite, with good clay bottom. Nearly all the lower land is suitable for growing cereals, and is interspersed with rich ALLUVIAL FLATS.
There is a large quantity of substantial split fencing on the property, and some of the farms have large areas annexed, held under grazing leases, newly fenced.

THE PROPERTY HAS BEEN SUBDIVIDED
as follows:—

LOT 1—220 ACRES LAND		LOT 15—320 ACRES LAND
2—428	ditto ditto	16—320	ditto ditto
3—460	ditto ditto	17—228	ditto ditto
4—320	ditto ditto	18—320	ditto ditto
5—391½	ditto ditto	19—588½	ditto ditto
6—646	ditto ditto	20—476½	ditto ditto
7—320	ditto ditto	21—455	ditto ditto
8—241	ditto ditto	22—484	ditto ditto
10—201	ditto ditto	24—640	ditto ditto
11—330	ditto ditto	25—140	ditto ditto
12—360	ditto ditto	26—365	ditto ditto
13—640	ditto ditto	27—241	ditto ditto.
14—480	ditto ditto

The OPENING UP of this MAGNIFICENT PROPERTY for sale in moderate-sized areas must be of immense importance to DAIRYMEN, GRAZIERS, INVESTORS, SPECULATORS, and others,
as it is the ONLY REMAINING SECTION of ANY CONSIDERABLE DIMENSIONS, specially adapted for DAIRY FARMING,
which is likely to be placed before the public in the SOUTH COAST DISTRICT of the colony.

The proximity of these FARMS to the FIRST-CLASS PORT OF EDEN
renders them of SPECIAL VALUE to PRODUCERS, inasmuch as every market will be accessible for their produce WITHOUT EXPENSIVE LAND CARRIAGE.

THE SOIL, CLIMATE, IRRIGATION, AND POSITION combine to make this
THE MOST ATTRACTIVE
SUBDIVISION
for Purchasers of Land which has ever been submitted to Public Competition.

Plan on view at auctioneers' rooms. Lithographed plans on application.

SPECIAL PROVISION FOR INSPECTION!
Parties wishing to INSPECT will find saddle horses provided for their use on application at Mr. HOPKINS' HOTEL, EDEN.

ON THE FARM conspicuous posts will be found on the CORNERS of EACH BLOCK, so numbered that every lot can be easily identified by reference to the lithographed plans, which can be had on application to the auctioneers; and any other information or assistance visitors may require will be rendered by Mr. JAMES PIKE, at the Farm Homestead, on application.

The I. S. N. Co. and T. S. N. Co. both despatch steamers weekly from Sydney for the PORT OF EDEN.

THE TERMS OF PAYMENT
will be
For Lots 7, 9, 10, 11, and 13 .. ... 10s per acre deposit
For other Lots ... ... 20s "
The BALANCE in each case being payable in equal parts, at 2, 4, and 6 years,
WITH 6 PER CENT. INTEREST.

THE AUCTIONEERS are authorised to state that it is the intention of both the proprietors to dispose absolutely of every acre on the day of sale.

TO RAILWAY CONTRACTORS, BUILDERS, SQUATTERS, AND OTHERS.

WEDNESDAY, 20th December.

F. BACON and CO. have received instructions from James M'Guigan and Co. to offer for sale by auction, at GUNNEDAH, on DECEMBER 20.
The whole of their railway plant, lately in use in constructing the extension, Gunnedah to Narrabri. The plant, which may be inspected at the camp, near Gunnedah, consists of:—

S. FOREST, Esq., about 8 minutes' walk from Burwood Railway Station.
It is enclosed with a paling fence.
It has the following extensive frontages:—
264 FEET to BURWOOD-ROAD
893 FEET to MINNA-STREET
583 FEET to ANGELO-STREET
266 FEET to BOLD-STREET.
An eligibly situated block of Land commanding an extensive picturesque view of the surrounding pretty country.
Particular attention is directed to this sale as affording an opportunity, now so seldom to be met with, for securing a LARGE, CHOICE, and VALUABLE block within a reasonable distance of Burwood Railway Station, and which will yearly increase in value, and one that, if judiciously subdivided, must give the investor a very handsome return on his purchase.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 24th November, at 11 o'clock,
The above-mentioned lands at Stanmore, Marrickville, and Burwood.

All that VALUABLE allotment of CITY LAND, having 20 FEET 10 inches frontage to the west side of Kent-street, with the great depth of 127 feet, and a width at the rear of 19 feet, on which is erected No. 375, Kent-street, a shop and dwelling of 5 apartments, kitchen, bathroom with bath, shed, large yard, &c.
A centrally situated property, in one of the most improving thoroughfares of the city, handy to the wharfs and warehouses.
A splendid site for a store.

By order of the Trustees of the Estate of the late William Jolly, Esq.

CAMDEN-TERRACE, NEWTOWN.
No. 395. COTTAGE RESIDENCE, occupied by F. Macqueen, Esq., containing 5 rooms, bathroom, and kitchen, erected on an allotment of land having 30 feet frontage to the NEWTOWN-ROAD, adjoining CAMDEN COLLEGE GROUNDS, with a depth of 242 feet, extending to STATION-STREET, to which it also has a frontage.
No. 392. COTTAGE RESIDENCE, formerly occupied by the late William Jolly, Esq., containing 7 rooms, kitchen, washhouse, bathroom, &c., erected on an allotment of land having a FRONTAGE of 30 feet to the NEWTOWN-ROAD, with a depth of 240 feet, extending to Station-street, to which it also has a frontage. WATER AND GAS LAID ON.
Attention is directed to the position of the above in this populous favourite suburb, and to the yearly increasing value of the land for business purposes. Its great depth and double frontage adapts it for the erection of extensive premises, with which the present buildings could be incorporated.

MARYVILLE, ST. PETERS,
COOK'S RIVER-ROAD,
3. Allotment No. 21, section 3, 50 feet to Mary-street, 100 feet depth.

The above-mentioned gold shares.
Hereunder we publish an extract from the Sydney Morning Herald of the 20th instant:—
"The manager of the New Reform Gold-mining Company, Limited, under date Lucknow, 15th November, reports:—'I have this day obtained from the Industry vein, at the 225 feet level, another bonanza, estimated at £150. I have also obtained 26oz. 6dwt. 12gr. of free gold. I am pleased to say this vein looks very well. The Perseverance vein, at the 200-feet level, has vastly improved since last reporting. Some most excellent ore has been obtained these last few days, all the material coming from it being payable for concentration. The Uncle Tom vein still continues an immense size at the 340 feet level. All the proceeds must be passed through the battery, as it contains a fair percentage of ore, but until it contracts very materially no bonanza can be expected. I have now a considerable quantity of pulverised ore awaiting concentration. The machinery for concentration is now being manufactured in Melbourne, and is expected will be delivered upon the mine within eight weeks. As I mentioned in my last, Mr. T. J. Robinson, of Orange, is the successful tenderer for the additional stamping appliances. Tenders are now out for its erection.'"

GREAT LAND SALE AT MOSS VALE.

UNDERWOOD'S FLATS, SUTTON FOREST.

UNDERWOOD'S 1000 ACRES, adjoining the VILLAGE of SUTTON FOREST, overlooking the GOVERNOR'S COUNTRY SEAT, HILLVIEW, and the well-known properties of Messrs. Nicholson, Badgery, Tange, and others, and opposite the country residence of the Hon. W. B. DALLEY.

This valuable estate is subdivided into LARGE FARM HOMESTEADS, VILLA BLOCKS, fronting the old Argyle and other roads.
It consists of RICH WHINSTONE HILLS, ALLUVIAL FLATS, most favourably situated in this popular ELEVATED HEALTHY DISTRICT.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at Hanrahan's Hotel, Moss Vale, on SATURDAY, 9th DECEMBER, at 3 o'clock,
That celebrated estate known as UNDERWOOD'S 1000 ACRES, SUTTON FOREST, about 1½ mile from MERYLA Village and Railway PLATFORM, and about 3 miles from the MOSS VALE RAILWAY STATION, SOUTHERN LINE, fronting the old ARGYLE-ROAD, and extending thence to the village of Sutton Forest, and to the properties of Messrs. Elsmore, Frank, Charles, and Andrew Badgery, Sewell, and others.
A judicious subdivision has been made into country villa blocks, and farms of larger areas. The lots will be so offered that buyers may obtain what acreage they may desire. Wide roads intersecting the Estate give good access to every lot.
Underwood's Flats is well known and acknowledged to be one of the richest and most valuable Estates in the county of Camden, in a district noted for good land, and a climate adapted for the growth of cereals and fattening grasses. Perhaps no 1000 acres in the colony has a larger proportion for its area of deep, fertile, arable soil, watered by numerous never-failing springs. Like most of the surrounding district, the formation is volcanic, and the natural features are low basaltic hills, gently undulating, and alluvial flats, all of the richest and most productive character, equal if not superior to the very best lands in the Illawarra coast district for dairy or agricultural purposes.
The elevation above sea level exceeds 2000 feet, and the locality is remarkably healthy, having already become popular as a summer resort from the enervating heats of Sydney and low coast districts. The Estate is surrounded by Villa Residences and Homesteads, and as sites for similar retreats this subdivision is unsurpassed, extensive beautiful views being obtained from its numerous hills and green slopes; while the position and proximity to the Railway Station, together with the numerous special trains provided at low tourist rates, give very favourable access to the metropolis.
Every lot is pegged and numbered on the land, and Lithographic Plans can be obtained at the Rooms, or inspected at the several hotels in Moss Vale and Sutton Forest.
Terms exceedingly liberal—20 per cent. cash deposit, residue at 6 per cent. per annum.

DEEP WATER FRONTAGES.

SALE ON THE GROUND,

SATURDAY, 9th DECEMBER next, at 3 o'clock.

TRANMERE ESTATE,

LONG COVE.

PARRAMATTA RIVER.

67 ACRES, extending from Lyons-road to the WATERS of LONG COVE, and including the whole of the DEEP WATER FRONTAGE of SISTERS' BAY, a few yards from the western end of the NEW BRIDGE, connecting BALMAIN WITH FIVE DOCK, which places this valuable and beautifully situated Estate within EASY DISTANCE OF THE CENTRE OF SYDNEY.
TRANMERE has been subdivided, not into building allotments, but into LARGE VILLA SITES, each nearly HALF-AN-ACRE in area, and a few ACRE SITES, extending from SISTER'S CRESCENT to the deep water frontage of SISTER'S BAY.
TERMS OF SALE:—15 PER CENT. CASH Deposit, RESIDUE in 7 YEARS, at 5 PER CENT. per annum interest.
LITHOGRAPHIC PLANS at the Rooms.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction,
ON THE GROUND,
on SATURDAY, 9th DECEMBER NEXT,
at 3 o'clock,
TRANMERE ESTATE,
FIVE DOCK,
PARRAMATTA RIVER,
most LIBERALLY SUBDIVIDED into VILLA SITES, fronting WIDE ROADS, a few have also extensive frontages to SISTER'S BAY, LONG COVE.
The marvellous beauty of the position of these sites is beyond description. They are on a GENTLE MEADOW SLOPE from LYONS-ROAD to LONG COVE BRIDGE, overlooking with an EASTERN ASPECT, the WIDE PLACID WATERS OF THE BAY, and commanding views which, for extent and loveliness, are not surpassed by any on the FEW CHARMING PICTURESQUE INLETS of the PARRAMATTA RIVER.
The difficulty of access, which has rendered this beautiful locality to a great extent unknown, has now been removed by the completion of the LONG COVE BRIDGE,
which brings it within easy access by a good carriage drive from the foot of Market-street.
SPECIAL ATTENTION is directed to the SALIENT advantages this subdivision enjoys.
SPACIOUSNESS in AREA, each site 65 feet to 238 frontage, with depths varying from 223 to 494 feet.
PROXIMITY to SYDNEY—20 minutes' drive, which will be considerably shortened by a contemplated STEAM TRAMWAY.
DEEP WATER to the frontage of the bay sites.
BEAUTY of POSITION—magnificent scenery, with all its sweetening influences.
UNEQUALLED LIBERALITY in TERMS of PAYMENT—15 PER CENT. CASH, RESIDUE in 7 YEARS at 5 PER CENT. per annum.
TITLE, TORRENS' ACT.
Apply for LITHOGRAPHIC PLANS, and inspect prior to sale. Each site is pegged and numbered.
PURCHASERS will be taken to the Ground FREE OF COST on day of sale.

GREAT SALE OF THE SEASON,

ON THE GROUND.

SATURDAY, 16th DECEMBER.

MERYLA PLATFORM,
near
MOSS VALE.

THE SANATORIUM OF THE SOUTH,
2200 feet above Sea Level.

NEW VILLAGE OF MERYLA,
situate on the
SOUTHERN RAILWAY LINE,
south of MOSS VALE, and about
one mile from SUTTON FOREST.

BLOCKS of ALL AREAS, consisting of
BUSINESS SITES
VILLA PLOTS
HOMESTEAD BLOCKS
SMALL FARMS,
carefully laid out and subdivided by Mr. Licensed Surveyor BINSTED.

MERYLA is but 1½ mile from the HILL VIEW ESTATE, lately purchased as a PERMANENT COUNTRY VICE-REGAL RESIDENCE.
The SOIL is magnificent, being of whinstone or trap formation and is equal to any in the DISTRICT, and the land is of that pleasing undulatory character for which this healthy and popular locality is noted.
SPECULATORS would do well in obtaining some of the VILLAGE SITES for future BUSINESS PURPOSES, as from its position, its accessibility by rail, its proximity to the VICE-REGAL RESIDENCE, MERYLA will ere long be a place of no small importance.
The Railway Department have decided to put up a WAITING-ROOM and PLATFORM ON THE GROUND. The work being now in progress this will cause a constant stream of traffic from SUTTON FOREST and DISTRICT, and it is not unlikely that MERYLA will be made the VICE-REGAL STATION.
BUSINESS MEN whose avocations are of that exhaustive nature as to necessitate frequent changes to a LIGHTER, FRESH ATMOSPHERE away from the EFFECTS of the SEA AIR, will find MERYLA the best position in which to secure VILLA [illegible]. It has all the advantages of ACCESS and PURE AIR of BOWRAL, BURRADOO, and MOSS VALE, yet from its present obscurity it is obtainable at a much lower figure.
To those whose [illegible] has been shattered by various causes, or who suffer from pulmonary complaints, MERYLA is an asylum where they are bound to improve. The LIGHT DRY AIR of this locality cannot fail to be beneficial. Let them secure a HOMESTEAD BLOCK and reside at MERYLA. The gain in health and strength will more than compensate for the outlay.
TO THRIFTY MEN of small means, or EMIGRANTS who are on the look out for a PLACE OF SETTLEMENT, MERYLA offers great advantages. Secure a small farm. The SOIL is of such a character that it will produce AN ABUNDANT HARVEST with the smallest possible amount of labour.
FIVE ACRES of LAND at MERYLA, judiciously planted with FRUIT TREES, will give a sufficiency for the COMFORTABLE SUPPORT of a MAN and his FAMILY.
THE LAND will be sold on the Ground, SATURDAY, the 16th DECEMBER, at NOON.
FREE SPECIAL TRAINS will leave SYDNEY on the morning of the sale at 7.50, will call at several places on the route, and RETURN TO SYDNEY in the evening of the same day.
THE TITLE OF MERYLA IS THE SIMPLEST and BEST TORRENS' ACT.
THE TERMS under which the ESTATE will be sold will be suitable to the position of all classes.
RICHARDSON and WRENCH.
